

Expect 61,670 to Cast Ballots on Tuesday

By HUGH REYNOLDS

A possible 61,670 Ulster County voters will go to the polls tomorrow to determine the future of a multitude of candidates, a state constitution and multi-billion dollar transportation bond issue.

Registration under Permanent Personal Registration, showed 48,925 eligible voters in the county and another 12,745 in Kingston.

Garraghan-Bechtold

The big race in the city is between incumbent Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan (Democrat-Conservative) and C. John Bechtold (Republican-Liberal).

Bechtold has attacked his opponent on many fronts, from urban renewal to assessments in the city, particularly Kingston Plaza which Bechtold claimed was "ridiculously low" in assessments.

Garraghan, in some cases, did not respond to Bechtold's charges, stating that his opponent "didn't know what he was talking about." The charges over the assessment of Kingston Plaza, however, brought a mayoral press conference in which Garraghan called on Walter C. Donaruma, an appraiser, to defend the city against Bechtold's allegations.

This race is expected to be much closer than many forecasters originally predicted.

The alderman-at-large race between Louis J. Smith (Republican-Conservative) and T. Robert Gallo (Democrat-Liberal) is also expected to be a tight one.

Cites Experience

Gallo, Garraghan's running mate, has been campaigning on a slogan of "There's no Substitute for Experience." The 30-year-old two-term Ninth Ward alderman has also emphasized the fact that he served as alderman-at-large in 1965. At the time Gallo was elected unanimously by a Republican dominated Common Council to fill a vacancy.

Smith has charged the Garraghan-Gallo combine is a "marriage of convenience" using as proof Gallo's opposition to Garraghan's budget this year.

Smith has promised to be a fulltime alderman-at-large and to cooperate fully with Bechtold if the latter is elected.

Today, Smith was endorsed by former Mayor John J. Schwenk who termed the candidate "a dedicated man" who would be a fulltime ward ambassador.

Gallo was endorsed by Francis R. Koenig, present alderman-at-large, who is not seeking reelection. Koenig said Gallo was "highly qualified" and gave his unequivocal support.

The county judge race pits incumbent Raymond J. Mino (Republican-Liberal) against former assistant district attorney John J. Schick (Democrat-Conservative).

Schick has been hammering at the fact that Ulster County has the lowest indictment conviction rate in the state. He blames Mino, as the top judicial officer on the county level.

Mino has gained support from a multitude of county lawyers who say his experience in office makes him the more qualified candidate.

Schick is a former special city judge while Mino is a former county district attorney and special city judge.

For district attorney the voters must choose between incumbent Joseph P. Torraca (Republican-Conservative) and David M. Barnovitz (Democrat-Liberal). Torraca is running on his record which has been strongly attacked by Barnovitz for much the same reasons as Schick is attacking Mino.

Under Attack

The proposed state constitution has come under heavy attack. Neither of Ulster's two delegates, S. James Matthews and H. Clark Bell, has endorsed the constitution. Bell has been strongly against it while Matthews has taken no public stand. He has defended certain portions of the constitution.

Many opponents charged the constitution should not have been presented as a package plan as there are several controversial items in it that they feel the voters should have the right to decide on separately.

Voters will be asked to pass a $2.5 billion transportation bond issue tomorrow. Gov. Rockefeller has been touring the state urging support for the bond issue, money which will be spent for roads, buses and public transportation for the state in the immediate future.

Voter turnout is expected to be heavy tomorrow. Polls open at 6 a. m. and close at 9 p. m.

Po'keepsie Man Faces Charge in Brutal Murder

Accused of one of the most gruesome murders committed in Dutchess County in years, a 26-year-old paroled rapist was in custody at Poughkeepsie today, awaiting trial on a charge of first degree murder. Gary Sickler, of Balding Avenue, Poughkeepsie, is charged by authorities with the murder of a 20-year-old woman whose horribly mutilated body was found early Sunday in her parked car off Beechwood Avenue on Poughkeepsie's south side.

Stabbed 20 Times

Victim of the slaying was Kathleen Taylor, of Wappingers Falls, who police said had been stabbed at least 20 times and her throat was slashed. Police found the partially nude body of the young woman after Sickler reportedly led them to the spot where her late-model Thunderbird was found.

The Dutchess County district attorney's staff, County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester H. Golding of Wappingers Falls joined Police Chief John L. Martin and detectives in the investigation which began Saturday night and continued through yesterday when Sickler was taken into custody and booked on the murder charge.

Authorities declined to disclose the results of an autopsy at Vassar Hospital to determine if Miss Taylor had been sexually assaulted. Police would not say whether the accused slayer and the victim knew each other.

Chief Martin said the woman was attacked and killed "with a sharp instrument." He would not further identify the lethal weapon.

Was on Parole

Sickler was on parole for the 1958 forced rape of a Beacon girl. He is employed as a painter at a nearby industrial plant, it was said.

Investigators gave this account of the slaying:

At about 6 p. m. Saturday, Sickler walked into a Poughkeepsie liquor store in the business section of the city. He was bleeding profusely from several deep lacerations of a hand.

Sickler informed the proprietor and others in the store that he had been attacked and beaten by two men and a woman. He asked the storekeeper to call police.

Detectives and uniformed policemen arrived in minutes. They briefly questioned the injured man and then rushed him to the nearby hospital. Twenty-six stitches were taken to close the wounds and emergency treatment was administered.

Sickler was later taken to police headquarters where he was questioned by detectives until an early hour Sunday. He stuck to his story that he had been beaten and assaulted by a trio—two men and a woman whom he said he did not know.

Listed Missing

The accused slayer of the woman, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Taylor Sr., of Wappingers Falls had reported her missing hours before her body was found, gave police the approximate location where the assault had taken place.

Under close police guard, Sickler was taken in a police car to the spot where, he said, he was confronted by his assailants.

List $100,000 Loss In Rosendale Blaze

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Flames roared out of control within seconds after fire of undetermined origin erupted in an area of the Rosendale Lanes on Route 32, Rosendale, Saturday afternoon, causing a loss estimated by the owner at more than $100,000.

Two firemen were treated at Kingston Hospital. Robert Ghear suffered smoke poisoning and Robert Sherritt sustained an eye injury when a fragment of steel hit him, according to Fire Chief Albert Morrelli of Rosendale, who was in command of more than 100 volunteer firemen from six companies who battled the spectacular blaze for hours.

Building Destroyed

The one-story building was occupied by Rosendale Lanes, formerly The Chalet, a restaurant, dining room and bar. The establishment was destroyed.

The owner, Sam Greenstein, who also is manager of Bagley's Market at Tillsen, said new automatic pinsetters and six new lanes had been installed in the building about a month ago.

The fire was discovered shortly after 3 p. m. Saturday by a woman patron, who notified Firemen Ghear and George Fisher who the chief said were in the building. Ghear and Fisher hurriedly investigated and saw flames sweeping in the area of the dining room adjoining the ladies' rest room.

Saturday's fire was one of the worst in the Rosendale area in many years, according to officials. The flames could be seen a mile away and the black smoke that billowed high and mushroomed through the area hampered firefighters as they battled the raging flames.

Chief Morrelli said he was told there were five or six people in the establishment at the time the fire was discovered. "It was a fortunate thing that the woman patron, not identified, smelled the smoke and immediately reported to the two firemen present," Chief Morrelli said.

Dense black smoke mushroomed from the burning establishment. Flames shot high in the air and a wind carried burning embers through the immediate area. Traffic on the main highway was halted as firefighters laid hoses and located the apparatus.

During the height of the blaze the large, sprawling roof collapsed sending showers of sparks and burning debris on firemen who were forced back by the heat and dense smoke. "I tried to crawl in through the back door but the heat was so intense I had to retreat," Chief Morrelli said.

"In less than four minutes," the chief said, "we had flames sweeping from the four sides of the building. The men, who all did a courageous job took a beating as they braved the heat and smoke in an effort to check the spread of the flames."

"We couldn't understand how the fire gained such headway," Chief Morrelli said. Several firefighters suffered from smoke inhalation but did not need medical treatment, a fire official said.

Firemen were at the scene for about seven hours. The units left shortly before 10 p. m.

The owner of the establishment, Sam Greenstein, estimated the loss "at more than $100,000." He said he plans to rebuild as soon as possible on the same site, possibly adding more lanes to the bowling area.

Chief Morrelli said Saturday's blaze was the second major fire to hit the Rosendale district. About five years ago Sportsmen's Park was the scene of a costly blaze, he recalled.

Suspended Bridge Employee

Resnick Rushes to Defense

"Callous and shocking" was the label Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick attached to the job suspension of Hudson bridge toll collector who refused to distribute pro-transportation bond pamphlets Friday.

Resnick said that while he personally supports the $2.5 billion bond issue proposal, he questions the state's "legal and ethical right to use bridge employees to pass out leaflets in support of the state's position."

Kingdon Proctor, of Germantown, toll taker on the Rip Van Winkle Bridge, Hudson, told a reporter the pamphlets were waiting for him Friday afternoon when he reported for work, along with instructions to distribute them to motorists crossing the bridge. "Politics is not my job," he said, explaining why he refused to distribute the literature.

Within 10 minutes of his refusal, Proctor said he received a call from Edward J. Burns, administrative officer of the New York State Bridge Authority.

"He told me to either give them out or go home," Proctor said. "I asked if that was an order, he said 'yes' so I picked up my lunchbox and left."

Burns says Proctor faces a departmental hearing on charges of failing to follow orders and is suspended without pay.

Protesting, Rep. Resnick said, "It is a callous and shocking disregard for an employee's basic rights to fire him over such a petty and trivial thing without a hearing and without recourse."

The Congressman sent a telegram to the governor, Civil Service Employees Association and Dr. John L. Edwards, chairman of the Bridge Authority demanding Proctor be reinstated immediately and Burns be severely reprimanded "for his arbitrary and dictatorial action."

Resnick said that if Rockefeller does not take immediate action, "it will prove that the governor is completely indifferent to the legitimate rights of men and women who are dedicated to serve their community."

Proctor, who has been a toll collector for 10 years, says he is going to wait and see what happens.

Will he vote Tuesday to approve the bond issue? "I wasn't against it before," he said, "but now I have second thoughts."

Resnick registered his complaint this weekend following a visit from Proctor during the Congressman's "office hours for constituents" Friday in Hudson.

According to Resnick's Kingston office, Proctor has since Saturday received a letter from Burns, changing his status from being "fired" to suspended for 30 days.

Resnick's office disclosed further that the suspension could be appealed within eight days, according to the letter and that Proctor is invited to discuss the matter with Burns. "There is nothing to discuss," reports Proctor.

No replies to Resnick's telegrams had been received today.

$4,000 Loot Taken At Woolworth's

Burglars forced their way through a skylight and made their way inside the F. W. Woolworth store in the Ulster Shopping Plaza sometime during the night, and made off with merchandise estimated by investigators to be valued between $3,000 and $4,000.

County Investigator Harold T. Bowers said the break-in was discovered at 3:05 a. m. by Deputy Sheriffs James Mileski and Ronald Williams, who were on patrol.

Arrest Two

Bowers also reported the arrest of two youths and a 15-year-old boy in connection with an October burglary at the Hidden Harbor Yacht Club.

According to Bowers, the intruders at Woolworth's apparently reached the roof of the store by standing on a truck or car, which was used to carry away the loot. He said some merchandise left stacked inside the store door, indicated the burglars probably were frightened and fled the scene.

An inventory is being taken to determine the exact amount of loot. Taken by the thieves were identification bracelets, watches, rings, radios, luggage, coats, belts and other articles. The burglars left the store through a rear overhead metal door which had been forced, it was said.

Bowers said the youths arrested on third degree burglary charges for the Hidden Harbor Yacht Club break-in a few weeks ago were: George Longendyke, 16, of RD 5, Box 380, Sleightsburg, and Charles Phillip Bodie, 17, of Connelly.

$2,500 Bail Set

They were held in $2,500 bail each for hearing before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

Included in loot taken from the yacht club, according to Bowers, were two boats, a quantity of whiskey, beer, food and an undetermined amount of cash taken from vending machines. Bowers said five bottles of whiskey had been recovered.

2 MIGs Down By One U.S. Jet

SAIGON (AP)—A U. S. Air Force jet downed two MIGs in air combat over North Vietnam today while other planes attacked a sprawling military storage area in the outskirts of Hanoi for the first time. It had been on the Pentagon's out-of-bounds list.

The initial U.S. Command report of the downing of two Korean War-vintage MIG17s by an F4 Phantom jet did not say where the dogfight occurred. They were the 97th and 98th confirmed MIG kills for American pilots in North Vietnamese air battles.

The announcement came after the command reported that U.S. Air Force jets had raided the Gia Thuong storage area less than a mile north of the Gia Lam air base which is across the Red River from the heart of Hanoi and is North Vietnam's main civilian air field.

Credited with bringing down the two MIGs were Capt. Darrell D. Simmonds, 33, of Vernon, Tex., the aircraft commander, and 1st Lt. George H. McKinney Jr., 24, of Bessemer, Ala., the pilot. Both are assigned to the tactical fighter wing at Ubon, Thailand.

Restricted List

Gia Lam is also the only MIG airfield U.S. warplanes have not yet attacked and one of about five major targets still on the Pentagon's restricted list. Among the others are the Hai-phong docks and railroad terminal and the power plant in Lao Cai, on the border of Communist China.

The Gia Thuong storage area is on the main northeast railroad and highway from Communist China to Hanoi over which military supplies come for North Vietnamese troops fighting in South Vietnam. The area is between two key bridges, the Canal des Rapides and the Paul Doumer, both of which have been repeatedly attacked by American bombers.

The American F105 Thunderchief pilots reported MIG 17 and MIG21 interceptors in the area, and one F105 had a brief clash with one of the Red jets, but the U.S. Command said neither plane was hit.

A U.S. spokesman said Gia Thuong is considered one of the largest military storage areas in North Vietnam, with 72 storage buildings, 11 support buildings and eight administration buildings in the compound. He said the American bombs impacted on the buildings and on anti-aircraft sites protecting the area.

The spokesman said both the Canal des Rapides and Doumer bridges had been knocked out in previous raids and there appar-

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. Nov. 4—A surprisingly large cross-section of citizens today are living—and even planning futures that will be—permanently in debt. Credit men who study this phenomenon claim that many of these families are only two to four weekly pay envelopes ahead of total insolvency. Consider the state of our consumer economy if a recession should suddenly plunge these people into a swamp of unemployment!

Like the federal government, numbers of men and women have adopted the concept of perpetual personal indebtedness with their creditors holding end-lease on their future income. Millions of our people replace their cars every year or two, trading in the old for the new while still paying for the old. They count their auto bills as just as regular and basic as a monthly responsibility as their rent or grocery bills. Owning a car and putting money away every payday toward another has become old-hat to more and more buyers.

Another such development is the tendency of a great many families never actually to own their homes. When they have built up some equity, they remortgage and use the money for new cars, boats, luxury vacations, or even to pay off outstanding debts so they can take on more. In this latter regard, loan companies declare that by far the greatest number of applications coming to their desks today are from those who want to consolidate their debts. Some offices report that 75 per cent of their loans are for renewal or enlargement of existing accounts.

Time was when a luxury was what you couldn't afford unless you saved up for it by consistently putting something aside until you had enough to splurge. Today, however, the standard of living has climbed to such a high level that "luxuries" are now "necessities" which borrowers refuse to give up in order to settle their bills. There are lots of smart cookies who see to it that they pay their installments on larger items such as cars, TV sets, pianos, refrigerators, and anything else that might be repossessed if they fell behind.

But they will hold out—forever if possible—on bills they owe the doctor, the grocer, the dentist, the department store, or the druggist. Such unsecured creditors suffer especially heavily if the matter comes to personal bankruptcy proceedings. Somewhat of a paradox is the ease with which most purveyors of goods and services grant credit. Many of them virtually beg potential customers to become their creditors... far too often requiring no security and conducting only nominal credit investigations.

Fifty years ago bankruptcy was "the last resort" for business concerns unable to make the grade financially. But today it is almost a way of life for a good many individual consumers. Out of a record-breaking 208,329 bankruptcies filed in fiscal 1967 (ended June 30), close to 175,000 were petitions from wage and salary workers seeking to get rid of their debts by way of the courts.

Case analyses reveal that almost half of such employee bankrupts could—if they had the courage and integrity to try—pay off their debts in two or three years, and without plunging their families or themselves into undue hardship. Perhaps even more revealing are the statistics which show that four out of five delinquent debtors will be right back in the same financial scrape within three years.

One thing is certain: With this tendency gaining strength among the country's consumers, credit security must be tightened and requirements must be

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass. Nov. 4—A surprisingly large cross-section of citizens today are living—and even planning futures that will be—permanently in debt. Credit men who study this phenomenon claim that many of these families are only two to four weekly pay envelopes ahead of total insolvency. Consider the state of our consumer economy if a recession should suddenly plunge these people into a swamp of unemployment!

Like the federal government, numbers of men and women have adopted the concept of perpetual personal indebtedness with their creditors holding endless lien on their future income. Millions of our people replace their cars every year or two, trading in the old for the new while still paying for the old. They count their auto bills as just as regular and basic as a monthly responsibility as their rent or grocery bills. Owning a car and putting money away every payday toward another has become old-hat to more and more buyers.

Another such development is the tendency of a great many families never actually to own their homes. When they have built up some equity, they remortgage and use the money for new cars, boats, luxury vacations, or even to pay off outstanding debts so they can take on more. In this latter regard, loan companies declare that by far the greatest number of applications coming to their desks today are from those who want to consolidate their debts. Some offices report that 75 per cent of their loans are for renewal or enlargement of existing accounts.

Time was when a luxury was what you couldn't afford unless you saved up for it by consistently putting something aside until you had enough to splurge. Today, however, the standard of living has climbed to such a high level that "luxuries" are now "necessities" which borrowers refuse to give up in order to settle their bills. There are lots of smart cookies who see to it that they pay their installments on larger items such as cars, TV sets, pianos, refrigerators, and anything else that might be repossessed if they fell behind.

But they will hold out—forever if possible—on bills they owe the doctor, the grocer, the dentist, the department store, or the drugist. Such unsecured creditors suffer especially heavily if the matter comes to personal bankruptcy proceedings. Somewhat of a paradox is the ease with which most purveyors of goods and services grant credit. Many of them virtually beg potential customers to become their creditors... far too often requiring no security and conducting only nominal credit investigations.

Fifty years ago bankruptcy was "the last resort" for business concerns unable to make the grade financially. But today it is almost a way of life for a good many individual consumers. Out of a record-breaking 208,329 bankruptcies filed in fiscal 1967 (ended June 30), close to 175,000 were petitions from wage and salary workers seeking to get rid of their debts by way of the courts.

Case analyses reveal that almost half of such employee bankrupts could—if they had the courage and integrity to try—pay off their debts in two or three years, and without plunging their families or themselves into undue hardship. Perhaps even more revealing are the statistics which show that four out of five delinquent debtors will be right back in the same financial scrape within three years.

One thing is certain: With this tendency gaining strength among the country's consumers, credit security must be tightened and requirements must be increased rather than eased; and consumers must practice at least reasonable regulation of their urge to overextend. Race Issue Spotlights

Politics in Homestretch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scores of American cities will elect mayors Tuesday, with balloting in at least three of them closely tied to the race issue.

A federal court may decide today whether voters in Gary, Ind., even will go to the polls as scheduled. If the steel town does vote, state police and National Guardsmen are ready to move in because of apprehensions of racial disorder.

Richard G. Hatcher, Negro Democratic nominee, charged in a suit filed last Tuesday that 5,000 names of Negroes had been removed from the voting rolls and 4,000 phony names of whites inserted. He blamed the county Democratic organization whose candidate lost to him in the party primary.

Hatcher asked the U.S. District Court to correct this or halt the election. Since his suit was filed, the county elections board has restored thousands of names which had been erased from the rolls.

A three-judge panel was to convene at Hammond, Ind., today to consider Hatcher's complaints.

From Boston in the East to San Francisco in the West a host of cities and towns will be picking mayors. But there also are many cities, including New York and Chicago, where there are no mayoralty elections Tuesday. Gary is normally a Democratic stronghold, but the political contest there appears to have largely polarized into a Negro-white issue. The Republican candidate is Joseph B. Radian, a furniture store operator and city councilman. Hatcher is a lawyer.

Gary, population 178,000, is about 55 per cent Negro, but white registrants are believed to outnumber Negro voters.

These are the other mayoralty contests of top interest:

Cleveland—Carl B. Stokes, a Negro lawyer and state legislator, is the Democratic nominee and is opposed by Republican Seth Taft, a grandson of President William Howard Taft.

Since Democrats have won Cleveland elections for the last 25 years, Stokes is favored to win unless there is a substantial defection by white Democrats in reaction to riots and Negro militancy.

If elected, Stokes would be the first Negro chosen mayor of one of the larger U.S. cities by popular vote.

Boston — The question is whether Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, a 47-year-old grandmother, can make it all the way to the top. She led a field of 10 in a preliminary election, getting strong support in working and middle-class areas where there was applause for her stand as a school committee member against busing Negro children to white schools outside their home neighborhoods.

Her opponent is Kevin H. White, 38, now secretary of state. The election is nonpartisan. Both candidates are Democrats.

Philadelphia—District Attorney Arlen Specter, a onetime Democrat who switched parties, is the Republican nominee against Mayor James H. Tate.

leader of one faction of a split Democratic party. Victory for Specter would be a major Republican coup in the year before the presidential election.

In addition to the mayoralty contests, there are elections for governor in Kentucky and Mississippi.

Republicans think they have a good chance in usually Democratic Kentucky, and the campaign has grown heated as the election approached.

GOP nominee Louie B. Nunn has contended that Democratic nominee Henry Ward didn't do a good job as state highway commissioner and that road costs were higher than in some other states. Disputing this, Ward blasted Nunn for campaigning with "false charges."

On his part, Ward has implied Ku Klux Klan links to Nunn, a conservative lawyer from South Kentucky. He said he had seen a Klan motorcade with cars with signs supporting Nunn.

Nunn seeks to turn unhappiness over the Vietnam war to his advantage. A campaign slogan asks, "Tired of the war? Vote Nunn."

A direct test of sentiment on the war is on San Francisco's ballot. This is a referendum on the question of whether U.S. troops should be withdrawn from Vietnam. The outcome, of course, will have no direct effect on U.S. policy.

Charter Shaky---Bond Issue Sound

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects for passage of the proposed new state constitution appeared uncertain on the eve of the election in New York State, but approval seemed likely for the $2.5-billion transportation bond issue.

The remodeled constitution and the bond issue are the major items on the ballot, in the absence of contests over major offices.

The only statewide offices involved are two seats on the Court of Appeals, the state's highest court, Charles D. Breitel and Matthew J. Jasen are assured of election because of cross-endorsement by the Republican and Democratic parties.

Numerous local offices will be on the ballot, including county executive posts on Long Island and in such major Upstate counties as Erie, Onondaga and Oneida. Yonkers and Utica are among the various cities that will elect mayors.

About 5 million of the 7.5 million registered are expected to vote in the election Tuesday. The turnout may be affected, over the proposed new constitution. Polling hours are 6 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Debate on the remodeled charter has continued into the waning hours before the election.

Francis Cardinal Spellman said Sunday in letters read from pulpits of Roman Catholic Churches that his favorable opinion toward the document has not been changed by public discussion.

Meanwhile, Democrats praise

the charter and Liberals and Catholics in the Albany Diocese were told in the diocesan newspaper that the proposal was "a unique, humane, up-to-date document that will benefit all the people of the state."

Roman Catholic interests are in favor of the provision in the new draft that would repeal the so-called Blaine Amendment, which forbids financial aid to church-affiliated schools. They contend that the fate of parochial schools is in the balance as costs mount.

Some Protestant and Jewish groups have pressed for rejection of the new constitution on the ground the Blaine repealer would destroy traditional separation of church and state.

Cardinal Spellman said he was disappointed that "so much of the opposition to the constitution comes from those forces in our pluralistic society who would deny equal educational opportunities to children attending parochial schools."

William Haddad, head of the Committee for Public Education and Religious Liberty, said in opposition that the advocates of the new constitution want to use public funds for parochial school buildings, teachers' salaries and administrative costs.

Another opponent, the Rev. Donald Harrington, chairman of the Liberal party, said the convention that drafted the document "failed on all of the really good government constitutional issues."

He listed what he said were failures in judicial reform, reapportionment, home rule for cities, a code of ethics for legislators, and a state justice department.

FOR SUPERVISOR

My Fellow Residents of the Town:

As the Democratic candidate for Supervisor, I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks for the friendly reception which you have extended to me and to the other Democratic candidates. We attempted to visit each of you before Election Day. It has been a pleasure to talk with you and I am only sorry that time did not permit us to visit each of you personally.

In order to clear up any confusion which my opponent may have created during the campaign, I wish to make my position clear on these issues.

If elected, I will be a full-time Supervisor, devoting all of my time to the business of the Town. There have been some comments as to my not having previous experience as Supervisor. This is, of course, ridiculous; eventually, someone besides the incumbent must be elected. This so-called issue is particularly amusing since the Republican Governors of New York, California and Michigan and our last Republican President, were all elected without previously holding any elective office. Dedication, intelligence, sincerity and common sense are the principal factors for the voter to consider.

The Democratic Candidates, your friends and neighbors, want and pledge a Town Government in which elected officials serve with dedication and humility. Office holders will treat the public fairly, conscientiously and honestly. Town Board meetings will be returned to their intended function as a place in which the public can have questions answered and have their opinions considered.

Ulster must have an imaginative and perceptive government which can cope with today's and tomorrow's problems. We need sound long-range planning. We cannot resist all change blindly, for growth and change, as we have seen, are inevitable. We can, however, plan and control this growth so we don't find ourselves taxed out of our community.

The 1967 Democratic Candidates are qualified by education, ability and interest to serve in Ulster's Government. If elected we will always act in the best interests of all the people.

Sincerely yours,
MICHAEL ALTOMARI

Bing and Jordan Crudup, 52, of Box 234, Hurley, owner of the suburban, were treated at the hospital. Troopers said the vehicle went out of control and slammed into a tree. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 6, 1967

Be Sure to Vote

Tomorrow the registered voters of Ulster County will have the opportunity and the responsibility to elect officials on the state, county, city and town levels and decide statewide issues of vital importance. We believe the exercise of this constitutional right and duty is essential to good government. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Statewide, two associate judges of the court of appeals will be elected. Two of the candidates have been endorsed by both major parties.

On a county-wide basis, candidates will be elected for the office of county judge, district attorney, treasurer and coroner.

On a district basis for the first time, county legislators will be named to replace the old board of supervisors.

In the City of Kingston, the mayor and alderman-at-large will be named together with aldermen in the 13 wards.

In the townships, officers to be voted are supervisor, town clerk, superintendent of highways, assessors, justice of the peace and councilman.

These offices are of paramount importance to all of us as they pertain to our own units of government. Those who disenfranchised themselves because they didn't register and those eligible who won't bother to vote might just as well not have been citizens as far as having an effect on our local government is concerned.

Despite the indifference toward certain candidates running for the same office, voters should make a choice, even if it is "a lesser of two evils." A large vote doesn't necessarily guarantee a wise one, but it approaches true expression of the will of the majority.

It is well for everyone to remember, however, that he cannot afford to be indifferent about the statewide issues presented in this election. They will have a direct bearing on your life and the lives of your children.

Those who do not vote in this important election will be a detriment in their duty. Stand up and be counted tomorrow. Get out and vote.

Cities of the Future

Fostering small cities of from 50,000 to less than 500,000 can take some of the strain from the big city; and make better environments than places like New York, "which is for the very rich, the very old, the very poor—it's no place to bring up children."

That was the recommendation for the development of the City of the Future, offered by Dr. Margaret Mead, the well known anthropologist, at a three-day symposium at San Juan, in which she was one of the panel of urban specialists.

Stating that huge unmanageable cities are created by the inevitable end of subsistence farming, Dr. Mead nevertheless said that economic motives are not the sole reason for the migratory search for jobs. "At least 50 per cent of the human race doesn't want their mothers-in-law within walking distance," she said, wryly. The rural migrant has a chance to make new friends when he gets away from relatives.

The problem is worldwide. In 1900, there were 10 cities of one million population in the world; in 1960, 133 and at least seven metropolises with 10 million or more. The panelists sorrowfully spoke of half the world's population being "condemned" to live in poor cities "with splashes of wealth interspersed with slums."

They raised questions such as will man in the year 2000 live in dome-covered cities and come out once a week to sniff air? Will tomorrow's city be dark and hopeless, or can man transform his environment into a place where city children can ride a bike to school or to a stream to fish? They agreed only, and we must agree with them, that in the future as in the past the small city is the ideal place to provide the leaders of tomorrow—not big cities or suburbs. These must first solve their own awful problems.

Charging that one-third of all fatal jet crashes in the past eight years occurred during training flights, Rep. Robert W. Kastenmeier, Wisconsin Democrat, denounced the Defense Department for ignoring them. If true, the toll in men and machines is too great to neglect.

Archie Moore, former light-heavyweight boxing champion told a House Un-American Activities subcommittee that Communists were trying to foment race hatred in the United States but they won't get far. He said Negroes need motivation to help themselves, not hatemongers.

A 19-year-old New Jersey boy, who returned to his family two months after disappearing and was presumed dead, found a family memorial service had brought a big turnout in his honor. Too bad more people could not learn how many cared for them, as Bruce Burkan did after his return home.

David Lawrence Says Johnson Too Busy To Answer Critics

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — President Johnson is having difficulty keeping up with his critics. Day after day they make attacks on his Vietnam policy, and he is so busy with dozens of domestic as well as foreign policy projects that he apparently doesn't have the time to give to constant rebuttals. Also, as happened on Wednesday of this week when the President held an unscheduled news conference, much of what he said was not distributed because it came at an hour which was too late for the afternoon newspapers. Apparently the press associations did not carry the text across the nation, nor did the television networks quote the President's remarks fully that same night.

Mr. Johnson did not say anything sensational, but there was nevertheless an emphasis in his comments which has not been there before. The President stated that he was concerned about many of those critics who are discussing the Vietnam War problem, yet who are not familiar with all that is happening. He said it is necessary to give consideration to statements by members of Congress and others, but he added:

"In considering them I must always bear in mind that most of those people—not even the intellectuals or the editorial writers or the columnists, pro or con—have had the benefit of the hundreds of cables that come from 110 countries, or from the men in charge, or men who really have the responsibility for the planning and execution of some of the most intricate, detailed, dangerous, and comprehensive steps that we have ever taken.

"So while we want to be reasonable, keep an open mind, and take any suggestion that is designed to help—and will—I could not honestly tell you that the various plans, programs, phrases and key words that they use—like snow and phony—and the headline-hunting phrases, I don't think they have really helped our Marines a whole lot up there on the Demilitarized Zone (in Vietnam).

"I don't want to be critical of anyone. I think, though, that if the American public could read Hanoi's cables and statements and could see their reaction to some of the things that are being said in the country, they would agree with me that all their private proposals and statements have not contributed a great deal to the solution that we so eagerly seek."

The President called attention once more to the Tonkin Gulf Resolution, passed by Congress in 1964, which, unfortunately, has not gotten very wide publicity. Yet it sets forth explicitly the reasons why American troops are in Vietnam. Mr. Johnson said:

"In presenting that resolution to Congress, we made clear to Congress some of the things that I would ask you not to overlook now—namely, that we had a vital security interest in Southeast Asia; that Asian security was important to our own American security."

Mr. Johnson complained of the violence that occurred during the inauguration of the president recently in South Vietnam, and said:

"I do not know why people do not get worked up when they (the enemy forces) go to lobbing mortar shells into the city where the president is being inaugurated."

Mr. Johnson was emphatic when he said the matter of a negotiated settlement in the Vietnam war was not the problem of the American government or its soldiers. He said:

"The problem is with the Communist enemy who insists on continuing the course that places us in Vietnam and that will keep us there until they decide might does not make right, and they cannot gobble up weaker people because they are stronger."

"We are going to stand for limited objectives. We are going to try to keep from widening the war. We are going to try to deter aggression and to permit self-determination in South Vietnam. And when that is done, we are going to be content. We do not want bases, domination, colonization. We do not practice colonialism."

Because of the volume of adverse statements being publicized, much of which is based on a superficial study of the whole problem, the President is not getting across to the people his refutation. Obviously, the Hanoi government thinks the critics will win out and an American "surrender" will result.

BANGKOK, Thailand—This country smiles all the time. There are 33,000,000 Orientals, and they must be on happy pills. Most of the land is flat and appears to be under six inches of water. They raise rice, and they live on canals called klongs. Outside the city, there are more sampans than cars. The school bus has a bow and a stern.

The Chao Phya River is a broad, cocoa-colored stream which runs down the center of Greater Bangkok to the sea. Oarsmen pause in the swing of their sweep oars to press the palms of their hands together under their chins, bow, smile to strangers, and murmur: "So Wat Dee," which is "My greetings to you."

The east side of the Chao Phya is ultra-modern, with big highways, tall office buildings, billboards, dense traffic and a weird taxi which, under analysis, turns out to be a motorcycle with an open barouche behind it. Some of the pretty girls with creamy almond skin and sparkling shoe-button eyes have gone western, with shoulder-length bobs and mini skirts. The boys wear their jet hair high up front and plastered down the sides with a pound of pomade.

The men and women look Chinese to me, but they resent such stupid interpretations of features. The men walk with their feet splayed outward, their belt buckles sagging, and the jackets flapping. There are beautiful Buddhist temples all over the city, and the monks wear orange saris.

The west bank of the Chao Phya is as different as one brother is from another. This, in a way, is Old Bangkok. The houses are ancient, rickety, unpainted and stand out of the water on stilts. They lean with fatigue on the banks of klongs and permit themselves to be caressed by the orange and blue wild-flowers of the jungle around them.

Everybody works. Women in black coolie hats man the rowboat ferries, sell vegetables from house to house out of a boat, climb scaffolding and carry bricks, help their mothers to bathe nude in the klongs, and run the rickety houses. Little boys with soupbowl haircuts and big grins run the errands, feed the dog, air the rooms and study their schoolwork. Adolescent girls are shy, wear white midy-blouses and navy blue pleated skirts, and giggle.

This country is at a historical crossroads. It is the only one in Asia which has never been enslaved by another nation. Behind the smile is an enormous independence. From the king down to the most insufferable beggar Thais want nothing from anyone else except an echoing smile.

And yet, they are in danger. They listen to Radio Peking every day. The voice, purring in pure Siamese, says: "Your government is corrupt, your king and queen have sold you to the Americans. In the north, the glorious Thai warriors have annihilated the American running dogs. These fighters need your support against the paper tigers of the U. S."

They hear it every day. The people do not want to believe it, but now they don't know what is truth. They know that the Thai government and the American government are close friends. They know that American soldiers are fighting next door in Vietnam. They know that eight big U. S. bases, costing one billion dollars, are now the nests of B-52s and Starfighters which make the short hop to North Vietnam every day.

They know that this is a liberty town for G.I.s. Above all, they know that, on the Communist calendar, they are next. Peking has told them that, win or lose in Vietnam, Thailand and Cambodia will be the next battleground. Thailand has a fair army and a pretty good air force. But they cannot defeat 700,000,000 Chinese waiting at the upland back door.

It required nerve to choose a faraway friend like America. They smile at me politely, and they say that my country can pull out of Asia at any time. They read aloud to me statements by Senators and Representatives, reprinted in all the big wire service papers of the East, that the U. S. should abandon these small countries.

In Thailand, they maximize their own fights with the Reds. But they have only about 3,000 Communist guerrillas in the upland, and about 300 south of Bangkok. Their government and their newspapers make it sound like an enemy army.

The Siamese listen to all sides, and the smile remains plastered on their kissers. They think all Americans look alike . . .

Drew Pearson Says Truman Is Still Working On Cherished Goal—Peace

Gun Lobby Rebuffed

On several occasions during the past year Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson have referred to the fact that the Defense Department was financing rifle practice at Camp Perry, Ohio, in cooperation with the National Rifle Association and the gun lobby at a time when the Administration was trying to pass a gun bill and also when Camp Perry could have been used for recreation for city youth.

On November 1 the Department of the Army announced cancellation of next year's National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Harry S. Truman, now 83, isn't seeing as many people as he once did and doesn't spend time to his much-loved Truman Library any more. But he is alert and he is devoting a great deal of time to his most cherished goal—peace.

On his 84th birthday next May he hopes that his friends and staff will be able to inaugurate the Truman International Center for Peace on Mt. Scopus where Arabs, Jews and all the people of the Near East can come together to work for peace.

"We must learn to abolish war lest war abolish us," is Harry Truman's thesis in these remaining years of his life.

About ten years ago, when Truman first established his Library I had occasion to talk to him about his great goal. This was in April of 1955, and walking over to a huge globe of the world he pointed to the Suez Canal.

"I am not worried about war between Russia and the United States," he said. "I am worried about war in this part of the world."

He was most prophetic. For six months later war broke out between the Arabs and Israel and saw the Israelis advancing all the way to the Suez Canal. Dis-sing the problem of peace in the Near East six months before that war started, Mr. Truman said:

"When I was a boy I studied history. And I remember that back in the days of Christ there were about 60 million people in the Near East. But the Mongols, advancing from Northeast Asia, destroyed the irrigation projects on the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. They have never been rebuilt, so this part of the world can no longer support a dense population."

"What will bring peace to the Near East?" Truman said, "is cooperation between the Arabs and the Jews. The Jews have the industrial knowhow. The Arabs have the ability to raise bread. If we can rebuild the reclamation projects on the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, this area can blossom once again as the breadbasket of that part of the world."

"If the Arabs can feed the Jews and the Jews can manufacture the industrial goods which the Arabs need, then you will have peace in the Near East."

Mr. Truman went on to outline a plan which he had considered when President, of digging a canal from the Mediterranean to the Dead Sea, taking advantage of the 1,200-foot drop to the lowest sea in the world in order to generate hydroelectric power which could industrialize that part of the world and help bring about Arab-Israeli cooperation.

Mr. Truman is disappointed yet philosophical over the fact that his advice has not been followed. However, he is not giving up. And the Truman center for peace on Mt. Scopus could become, he hopes, a new start toward Arab-Israeli cooperation.

An Old SOB
I have visited Mr. Truman many times in Missouri since he left the White House. He has taken me through his library on at least two occasions—a rare privilege to be shown the exhibits of history by the man who made the history. I shall always cherish the memory of these talks.

I also cherish in my files a statement which Mr. Truman gave me, which I have never published, in which he revises the opinion which he once expressed and which Ronald Reagan reminded many million people about last week.

The statement reads important: "In my judgment he is by and large a force for the good of the country. He is sincere, fearless, has the courage of his convictions and hammers away at what he believes is right, however unpopular it may be. He takes the side of the less privileged."

I had been saving Mr. Truman's opinion for my grandchildren but since Mr. Reagan has made an issue of it I now quote it, together with a statement by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President Roosevelt, which he gave in a sworn deposition Feb. 20, 1963, when questioned as to whether his father had referred to me as a chronic liar.

Roosevelt replied: "I have heard that a good many times. I was not present when it was supposed to have been said. I had discussed the matter with my father when he was President. He replied to me that if he ever said such a thing—and he didn't remember saying such a thing—it was done in jest."

Referring also to Mr. Truman's famous SOB statement about me, Rep. Roosevelt said: "I have found many times that people in public office, when they have been criticized or something has happened that displeases them, make a quick off-the-cuff comment; and I think Mr. Truman has many times made these quick off-the-cuff comments that he sometimes regretted a little bit later."

Great Society Politicians Deal in Racism

WASHINGTON—A full 54 per cent of this city's population are Negroes, placing our nation's capital first in Negro percentage among the 20 largest cities. About 80 per cent of the children in the public schools here are Negroes.

Nearly 90 per cent of our population are not Negroes. Our Negro citizens represent a far smaller minority (less than 12 per cent) than generally supposed. Yet, here and everywhere across the country the Great Society politicians deal in their own special form of racism, which is the only proper name for their systematized pitch for the Negro vote. You feel the corrosive result creeping into the bone-structure of the country.

This pandering strategy on the scale it is contrived is not only an unconscionable disservice and a moral fraud, but has smothered the way for the Sino-Soviet fifth column that calls itself Black Power.

Courageous Adlai Stevenson once said: "Racism in any form by anybody is an affront to the conscience of mankind." The reasons why the Great Society politicians deal in racism should be unmasked.

In 1910 about 73 per cent of the Negroes lived on the land, mostly in the South. Now more than 75 per cent live in the North, most in the Northeast urban regions, the Great Lakes area from Milwaukee to Toledo, the Pennsylvania-Ohio steel centers, Southern California and the Michigan-Indiana automobile complex. While the suburbs of our great cities have grown rapidly, many of the same cities have lost in population and are experiencing a revolutionary change in racial composition. The white population increased in only eight of the nation's 20 largest cities. The Negro population increased in every one of the 20.

City planning expert Victor Palmieri recently stated: "At today's rate of shift the city of the near future will be a Negro Island spreading out over a metropolis which is bankrupt financially and paralyzed politically."

The economic problems extending from this shift are enormous. Take one example on even a local basis here. Seven Washington suburbs alone will spend more ($427 million) this fiscal year than the State Department has requested for the same period, much of it on education and school construction resulting from the shift. And the effect of the shift is likewise crucial to the Democratic party.

The Census Bureau says we Americans now number 200 million and that 66 per cent of our population lives in metropolitan counties. But there are only 30 cities with a population of 400,000 or more. All but three (New Orleans, Memphis, Atlanta) are not in the South.

The Democrats win the Presidency through the Electoral College from an amazingly narrow base. The party normally wins the White House in the big cities, plus the South.

The Republicans won only three per cent of the national Negro vote in 1964. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower broke all postwar records by winning 20 per cent in 1952. The growing suburbs have eroded the power of the big-city Democratic machines. But, if the South is held, it would take only nine of the big Northern urban power centers to supply enough Democratic votes to overcome the usual Republican majorities in most of the same states.

These nine, with their percentage of Negro population, are: Detroit (28.9 percent), St. Louis (28.6), Cleveland (28.6), Philadelphia (26.4), Chicago (22.9), New York City (14), Los Angeles (13.5), Boston (9.1), and Milwaukee (8.4).

As one result, the Great Society politicians nod to nearly any Negro demands like a puppet's head on a broken string. They pander to civil rights that they know are civic wrongs. They even alibi the horrible disorders. Their political pitch seems to condone these as society's fault and dismiss the individual from responsibility—an important and dangerous false reading of human nature.

Here in the capital of our nation, walking after dark near the Capitol is extremely dangerous. Assaults constantly take place. Yet President Johnson himself vetoed the D.C. crime bill. Are the "rights" of troublemakers more important than the sufferers?

The question of how the majority should treat a minority is fundamental in a free society. But so is the question of how a minority should treat the majority. Politics, however, comes first.

Negro-Directed Self-Help

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—A Negro-directed self-help program to provide good jobs for unemployed slum-dwellers is getting a business blessing.

It is the Opportunities Industrialization Center (OIC) program now under way in 40 cities using techniques developed by the Rev. Leon H. Sullivan of Philadelphia.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce has been asked by the Rev. Mr. Sullivan's right-hand man — Dr. Lawrence Reddick—to place its official seal of approval on the OIC approach.

Reddick said the chamber's endorsement would make it simpler for OIC staff members to start projects in other cities and assure wider business participation.

There was no decision on his request but the OIC concept drew raves from many businessmen at the working meeting of the chamber's new community development committee.

William F. Knowland, former Republican senator from California and a leading Gold-water supporter in 1964, led the cheering. Knowland, an Oakland (Calif.) publisher, is chairman of the committee.

PIXIES by Wohl

I'VE HEARD OF HAVING A GREEN THUMB, OLIVIA... BUT YOU'RE RIDICULOUS.

An OIC project was started last year in Oakland, he reported, and "I was tremendously impressed by the work being done."

Reddick made a short speech stressing that "jobs come first" in dealing with unrest among Negroes who suffer from unemployment or low pay that keeps them below the poverty line.

OIC techniques demand a voice for poor people in the center's operation and use of natural leaders in the Negro or ghetto community, Reddick said.

Another essential ingredient is jobs provided by industry for those who meet entry-level requirements. In Philadelphia, where the program is a "howling success," Reddick said, 90 per cent of OIC trainees have held their jobs or been promoted.

He admits that some people who enter the OIC program need "reconditioning to the world of work" and must learn to be on time and show up every day.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

BANGKOK, Thailand—This country smiles all the time. There are 33,000,000 Orientals, and they must be on happy pills. Most of the land is flat and appears to be under six inches of water. They raise rice, and they live on canals called klongs. Outside the city, there are more sampans than cars. The school bus has a bow and a stern.

The Chao Phraya River is a broad, cocoa-colored stream which runs down the center of Greater Bangkok to the sea. Oarsmen pause in the swing of their sweep oars to press the palms of their hands together under their chins, bow, smile to strangers, and murmur: "So Wat Dee," which is "My greetings to you."

The east side of the Chao Phraya is ultra-modern, with big highways, tall office buildings, billboards, dense traffic and a weird taxi which, under analysis, turns out to be a motorcycle with an open barouche behind it. Some of the pretty girls with creamy almond skin and sparkling shoe-button eyes have gone western, with shoulder-length bobs and mini skirts. The boys wear their jet hair high up front and plastered down the sides with a pound of pomade.

The men and women look Chinese to me, but they represent such stupid interpretations of features. The men walk with their feet buckled outward, their belt buckles sagging and the jackets flapping. There are beautiful Buddhist temples all over the city, and the monks wear orange saris.

The west bank of the Chao Phraya is as different as one brother is from another. This, in a way, is Old Bangkok. The houses are ancient, rickety, unpainted and stand out of the water on stilts. They lean with fatigue on the banks of klongs and permit themselves to be caressed by the orange and blue wild-flowers of the jungle around them.

Everybody works. Women in black coolie hats man the rowboat ferries, sell vegetables from house to house out of a boat, climb scaffolding and carry bricks, help their mothers to bathe nude in the klongs, and run the rickety houses. Little boys with soupbowl haircuts and big grins run the errands, feed the dog, air the rooms and study their schoolwork. Adolescent girls are shy, wear white mid-dy-blouses and navy blue pleated skirts, and giggle.

This country is at a historical crossroads. It is the only one in Asia which has never been enslaved by another nation. Behind the smile is an enormous independence. From the king down to the most insufferable beggar Thaisanders want nothing from anyone else except an echoing smile.

And yet, they are in danger. They listen to Radio Peking every day. The voice, purring in pure Siamese, says: "Your government is corrupt, your king and queen have sold you to the Americans. In the north, the glorious Thai warriors have annihilated the American running dogs. These fighters need your support against the paper tigers of the U. S."

They hear it every day. The people do not want to believe it, but now they don't know what is truth. They know that the Thai government and the American government are close friends. They know that American soldiers are fighting next door in Vietnam. They know that eight big U. S. bases, costing one billion dollars, are now the nests of B-52s and Starfighters which make the short hop to North Vietnam every day.

They know that this is a liberty town for G.I.s. Above all, they know that, on the Communist calendar, they are next to win or lose in Vietnam. Thailand and Cambodia will be the next battleground. Thailand has a fair army and a pretty good air force. But they cannot defeat 700,000,000 Chinese waiting at the upland back door.

It required nerve to choose a faraway friend like America. They smile at me politely and they say that my country can pull out of Asia at any time. They read aloud to me statements by Senators and Representatives, reprinted in all the big wire service papers of the East, that the U. S. should abandon these small countries.

In Thailand, they maximize their own fights with the Reds. But they have only about 3,000 Communist guerrillas in the upland, and about 300 south of Bangkok. Their government and their newspapers make it sound like an enemy army.

The Siamese listen to all sides, and the smile remains plastered on their kissers. They think all Americans look alike . . .

Gun Lobby Rebuffed
On several occasions during the past year Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson have referred to the fact that the Defense Department was financing rifle practice at Camp Perry, Ohio, in cooperation with the National Rifle Association and the gun lobby at a time when the Administration was trying to pass a gun bill and also when Camp Perry could have been used for recreation for city youth.

On November 1 the Department of the Army announced cancellation of next year's National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Harry S. Truman, now 83, isn't seeing as many people as he once did and doesn't spend time at his much-loved Truman Library any more. But he is alert and he is devoting a great deal of time to his most cherished goal—peace.

On his 84th birthday next May he hopes that his friends and staff will be able to inaugurate the Truman International Center for Peace on Mt. Scopus where Arabs, Jews and all the people of the Near East can come together to work for peace.

"We must learn to abolish war lest war abolish us," is Harry Truman's thesis in these remaining years of his life.

About ten years ago, when Truman first established his Library I had occasion to talk to him about his great goal. This was in April of 1965, and walking over to a huge globe of the world he pointed to the Suez Canal.

"I am not worried about war between Russia and the United States," he said. "I am worried about war in this part of the world."

He was most prophetic. For six months later, war broke out between the Arabs and Israel and saw the Israelis advancing all the way to the Suez Canal. Discussing the problem of peace in the Near East six months before that war started, Mr. Truman said:

"When I was a boy I studied history. And I remember that back in the days of Christ there were about 60 million people in the Near East. But the Mongols, advancing from Northeast Asia, destroyed the irrigation projects on the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers. They have never been rebuilt, so this part of the world can no longer support a dense population."

"What will bring peace to the Near East," Truman said, "is cooperation between the Arabs and the Jews. The Jews have the industrial knowhow. The Arabs have the ability to raise bread. If we can rebuild the reclamation projects on the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, this area can blossom once again as the breadbasket of that part of the world."

"If the Arabs can feed the Jews and the Jews can manufacture the industrial goods which the Arabs need, then you will have peace in the Near East."

Mr. Truman went on to outline a plan which he had considered when President, of digging a canal from the Mediterranean to the Dead Sea, taking advantage of the 1,200-foot drop to the lowest sea in the world in order to generate hydroelectric power which could industrialize that part of the world and help bring about Arab-Israeli cooperation.

Mr. Truman is disappointed yet philosophical over the fact that his advice has not been followed. However, he is not giving up. And the Truman center for peace on Mt. Scopus could become, he hopes, a new start toward Arab-Israeli cooperation.

An Old SOB
I have visited Mr. Truman many times in Missouri since he left the White House. He has taken me through his library on at least two occasions—a rare privilege to be shown the exhibits of history by the man who made the history. I shall always cherish the memory of these talks.

I also cherish in my files a statement which Mr. Truman gave me, which I have never published, in which he revises the opinion which he once expressed and which Ronald Reagan reminded many million people about last week.

The statement reads impart: "In my judgment he is by and large a force for the good of the country. He is sincere, fearless, has the courage of his convictions and hammers away at what he believes is right, however unpopular it may be. He takes the side of the less privileged."

I had been saving Mr. Truman's opinion for my grandchildren but since Mr. Reagan has made an issue of it I now quote it, together with a statement by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President Roosevelt, which he gave in a sworn deposition Feb. 20, 1963, when questioned as to whether his father had referred to me as a chronic liar.

Roosevelt replied: "I have heard that a good many times. I was not present when it was supposed to have been said. I had discussed the matter with my father when he was President. He replied to me that if he ever said such a thing—and he didn't remember saying such a thing—it was done in jest."

Referring also to Mr. Truman's famous SOB statement about me, Rep. Roosevelt said: "I have found many times that people in public office, when they have been criticized or something has happened that displeases them, make a quick off-the-cuff comment; and I think Mr. Truman has many times made these quick off-the-cuff comments that he sometimes regretted a little bit later."

Henry J. Taylor Says

Great Society Politicians Deal in Racism

WASHINGTON—A full 54 per cent of this city's population are Negroes, placing our nation's capital first in Negro percentage among the 20 largest cities. About 80 per cent of the children in the public schools here are Negroes.

Nearly 90 per cent of our population are not Negroes. Our Negro citizens represent a far smaller minority (less than 12 per cent) than generally supposed. Yet, here and everywhere across the country, the Great Society politicians deal in their own special form of racism, which is the only proper name for their systematized pitch for the Negro vote. You feel the corrosive result creeping into the bone-structure of the country.

This pandering strategy on the scale it is contrived is not only an unconscionable disservice and a moral fraud, but has smoother the way for the Sino-Soviet fifth column that calls itself Black Power.

Courageous Adlai Stevenson once said: "Racism in any form by anybody is an affront to the conscience of mankind." The reasons why the Great Society politicians deal in racism should be unmasked.

In 1910 about 73 per cent of the Negroes lived on the land, mostly in the South. Now more than 75 per cent live in the North, most in the Northeast urban regions, the Great Lakes area from Milwaukee to Toledo, the Pennsylvania-Ohio steel centers, Southern California and the Michigan-Indiana automobile complex.

While the suburbs of our great cities have grown rapidly, many of the same cities have lost in population and are experiencing a revolutionary change in racial composition. The white population increased in only eight of the nation's 20 largest cities. The Negro population increased in every one of the 20.

City planning expert Victor Palmieri recently stated: "At today's rate of shift the city of the near future will be a Negro island spreading over a metropolis which is bankrupt financially and paralyzed politically."

The economic problems extending from this shift are enormous. Take one example on even a local basis here. Seven Washington suburbs alone will spend more ($427 million) this fiscal year than the State Department has requested for the same period, much of it on education and school construction resulting from the shift. And the effect of the shift is likewise crucial to the Democratic party.

The Census Bureau says we Americans now number 200 million and that 66 per cent of our population lives in metropolitan counties. But there are only 30 cities with a population of 400,000 or more. All but three (New Orleans, Memphis, Atlanta) are not in the South.

The Democrats win the Presidency through the Electoral College from an amazingly narrow base. The party normally wins the White House in the big cities, plus the South.

The Republicans won only three per cent of the national Negro vote in 1964. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower broke all postwar records by winning 20 per cent in 1952. The growing suburbs have eroded the power of the big-city Democratic machines. But, if the South is held, it would take only nine of the big Northern urban power centers to supply enough Democratic votes to overcome the usual Republican majorities in most of the same states.

These nine, with their percentage of Negro population, are Detroit (28.9 per cent), St. Louis (28.6), Cleveland (28.6), Philadelphia (26.4), Chicago (22.9), New York City (14), Los Angeles (13.5), Boston (9.1), and Milwaukee (8.4).

As one result, the Great Society politicians nod to nearly any Negro demands like a puppet's head on a broken string. They pander to civil rights that they know are civic wrongs. They even alibi the horrible disorders. Their political pitch seems to condone these as society's fault and dismiss the individual from responsibility—an important and dangerous false reading of human nature.

Here in the capital of our nation, walking after dark near the Capitol is extremely dangerous. Assaults constantly take place. Yet President Johnson himself vetoed the D.C. crime bill. Are the "rights" of troublemakers more important than the sufferers?

The question of how the majority should treat a minority is fundamental in a free society. But so is the question of how a minority should treat the majority. Politics, however, comes first.

Negro-Directed Self-Help

By WILLIAM F. KNOWLAND
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—A Negro-directed self-help program to provide good jobs for unemployed slum-dwellers is getting a business blessing.

It is the Opportunities Industrialization Center (OIC) program now under way in 40 cities using techniques developed by the Rev. Leon H. Sullivan of Philadelphia.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce has been asked by the Rev. Mr. Sullivan's right-hand man—Dr. Lawrence Reddick—to place its official seal of approval on the OIC approach.

Reddick said the chamber's endorsement would make it simpler for OIC staff members to start projects in other cities and assure wider business participation.

There was no decision on his request but the OIC concept drew raves from many businessmen at the working meeting of the chamber's new community development committee.

William F. Knowland, former Republican senator from California and a leading Goldwater supporter in 1964, led the cheering. Knowland, an Oakland (Calif.) publisher, is chairman of the committee.

Protesters Ignore Rights Of Others to Free Speech

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Three recent newspaper items show how far the advocates of "free speech" have gone in denying the rights of free speech and action to others.

Maryland — "Thirty members of the Students for a Democratic Society sat in at a University of Maryland engineering building office, blocking interviewers from entering a room to see a CIA (Central Intelligence Agency) job recruiter."

New York — "A pushing, dragging, punching, club-swinging clash between students and the police erupted on the Brooklyn College campus during a demonstration to protest the appearance of two Navy recruiting officers."

Wisconsin — "Pickets taunting soldiers and asking them to go on strike marched around buildings at the University of Wisconsin in protest against job recruiting by the Dow Chemical Co. The protest turned into a bloody melee when the police broke up a blockade in front of the room where Dow was holding job interviews."

The protesters selected Dow because it manufactures napalm for the Vietnam war. William Sewell, chancellor of the university, suspended the Dow interviews temporarily.

In the anti-Vietnam march on the Pentagon, the protesters demanded their rights. But when they met with others who carried pro-Vietnam signs, they forgot their "free speech" stand and destroyed the signs of those who disagreed with them.

Late last year, it will be recalled, students harassed Defense Secretary Robert McNamara when he went up to speak at Harvard. In another protest move, students on a Washington, D. C., campus attempted to prevent Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey from speaking.

In protecting the rights of the protesters, what about the rights of the young men who might want to work for Dow Chemical Co., or CIA, or might want to join the Navy?

What about the rights of McNamara, Hershey, Dow Chemical, CIA, the Navy?

This business of rights cuts both ways.

Notice that most of the items above relate to college campuses. A college is a place where, first and foremost, professors should be inculcating in their students a respect for the rights and the opinions of others.

Yet, more and more frequently, professors are speaking out emotionally on issues in their classrooms, selling their own prejudices, rather than presenting the facts and teaching students to think logically from those facts. In such classes there is often strong professorial sarcasm for those who disagree with their particular theses.

Colleges are where the leaders of the next generation are trained. If too many students are taught that only their own opinions matter, only their own causes sacred, then we are, indeed, in for trouble. Luckily, there is evidence that such students are only a small minority. That small minority must be prevented from blacking out the rights of the majority.

Nationwide Conference On How to Prevent Riots

By CARLETON KENT
Chicago Sun-Times Special

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 — Thirteen city and state police officials have been invited to help plan a series of nationwide conferences on how to prevent riots, or control them if they occur.

The planning conference will be held here Nov. 17, it was announced today by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who said they would discuss how to co-ordinate riot-control tactics, operations involving both the police and military forces, and police-community relations.

"The purpose of the conferences will be to combine knowledge of effective methods of preventing and controlling disturbances, to develop and define these methods, and to search for new methods," Clark said.

The conferences are an outgrowth of a recommendation to the White House several weeks ago by the President's commission on civil disorders, headed by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois.

Clark said he hoped the series of "how-to" sessions would "decrease any chance of a recurrence of the violence and riots which seared the face of many of our cities last summer."

They will be co-sponsored by the Justice Department, and the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, which will furnish a number of instructors. The Justice Department will foot the bill.

The list of those invited to participate in the Nov. 17 planning sessions, sounds like the master table of those urban areas that have been, or could be, involved in the kind of violence Clark is trying to forestall.

It includes Mayor Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis, Mayor Beverly Briley of Nashville; City Manager John Gold, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Police Chiefs Thomas Reddin of Los Angeles, John Layton of Washington, D. C., Curtis Brostrom of St. Louis, Oliver Kelly of Newark, N. J., William Hanger of Pontiac, Mich., Herbert Jenkins of Atlanta and James B. Conlisk Jr. of Chicago.

The planning conference will be held here Nov. 17, it was announced today by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, who said they would discuss how to co-ordinate riot-control tactics, operations involving both the police and military forces, and police-community relations.

"The purpose of the conferences will be to combine knowledge of effective methods of preventing and controlling disturbances, to develop and define these methods, and to search for new methods," Clark said.

The conferences are an outgrowth of a recommendation to the White House several weeks ago by the President's commission on civil disorders, headed by Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois.

Clark said he hoped the series of "how-to" sessions would "decrease any chance of a recurrence of the violence and riots which seared

the face of many of our cities last summer."

They will be co-sponsored by the Justice Department, and the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police, which will furnish a number of instructors. The Justice Department will foot the bill.

The list of those invited to participate in the Nov. 17 planning sessions, sounds like the master table of those urban areas that have been, or could be, involved in the kind of violence Clark is trying to forestall.

It includes Mayor Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis, Mayor Beverly Briley of Nashville; City Manager John Gold, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Police Chiefs Thomas Reddin of Los Angeles, John Layton of Washington, D. C., Curtis Brostrom of St. Louis, Oliver Kelly of Newark, N. J., William Hanger of Pontiac, Mich., Herbert Jenkins of Atlanta and James B. Conlisk Jr. of Chicago.

MARK EDUCATION WEEK—This week is American Education Week in Kingston. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, seated, second from right, made it official in his office Friday. Appearing with the mayor are (L) G. Thomas Kechn, president of the Kingston Teachers Association; Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, Kingston Consolidated superintendent of schools; and Vernon L. Outwater, president of the Kingston Teachers Federation. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Both Candidates Fire Final Shot In Mayor's Race

The final shots in Kingston's mayoral race were fired today. John Bechtold (Republican liberal) reviewed his attacks in his opponent, Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan (Democrat conservative).

Said Bechtold, "Through the media of newspaper, radio and personal contact I have tried to record my conception of the city's ills besetting the City of Kingston, always at the same time presenting my formulas for solving these problems. You are all aware that I have indeed evoked severe criticism at the present administration, but you must agree that I have not reduced my campaign to the personal level, as my opponent has tried to do. All my comments have been upon the issues."

Said Garraghan, "I've given more time and thought to city affairs in the past two years than I have ever given to various business enterprises I have previously been involved in. Without bragging, I know Kingston has shown improvement in the past two years. I may have pulled some boners but, when any corporation is moving ahead there are going to be mistakes."

In conclusion, Bechtold said, "I have not made a great many promises, preferring always to present positive approaches to problems. I trust in the good sense and judgment of my fellow citizens to separate a sound, specific program from the usual multiple empty campaign proposals."

Ancient Rolls

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Mrs. Ray Howard of Eugene accepted delivery Sunday of two Rolls Royces—a 1930 touring car and a 1937 sedan—which she and her husband bought while they were living in India.

"They have lots of these over there," Mrs. Howard said. "The maharajahs had lots of money to buy them with."

The Howards plan to return to India soon, where Howard does construction work on power plants.

Joseph Kesselring Dies; Wrote Broadway Favorite

Joseph Kesselring, 65, author of "Arsonic and Old Lace," one of Broadway's longest-running plays, died Sunday at Benedictine Hospital.

Woodstock Fire Company No. 3, under the direction of Captain Phillips Eighmey, administered oxygen to Mr. Kesselring, a Willow resident, prior to his being taken to the hospital Sunday noon.

Born in New York, Kesselring once taught music at Bethel College in Kansas, wrote short stories and poems and was writer, actor and producer of vaudeville sketches.

Among his numerous theatrical credits are: "A Frog in His Pocket," 1958; "Surgery Is Indicated," 1955; "Maker of Men," which was also made into a movie in 1933 and "Identically Yours," 1945. He wrote "Arsonic and Old Lace" in 1941.

Kesselring was the son of Henry and Frances Langtry Ruddy Kesselring and was married Oct. 7, 1931 to the former Charlotte Elshimer.

He was a member of the Dramatists Guild and Authors League.

Surviving are his wife, a sister, Mrs. William Gaynon of Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada and a brother, Henry Kesselring of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Funeral services and burial will be held Tuesday in Niagara Falls. Lasher Funeral Home, Woodstock, is in charge of arrangements.

the body of Miss Taylor, partly nude.

It was understood there was evidence of a fierce struggle inside and around the parked automobile owned by the dead woman. The body was removed to the morgue at Vassar Hospital where Dr. Golding ordered an autopsy to determine if Miss Taylor had been sexually assaulted.

Sickler was returned to police headquarters where he underwent lengthy questioning by Chief Martin and detectives. Sickler was booked for a parole violation based on the 1958 rape case involving the southern Dutchess County girl.

Charge Filed

Later the painter was charged with murder, first degree. He was taken before Acting City Police Judge Emeel S. Betros and a formal plea of innocent was entered. Sickler later was taken to the county jail pending a hearing on Wednesday before City Judge Joseph H. Gellert.

Authorities said Miss Taylor disappeared Saturday after telling her parents she was going to visit a girl friend. Police made efforts to determine where Miss Taylor and Sickler met. If they knew, those facts were not disclosed by investigators.

Miss Taylor was an employee of an electronics company in Poughkeepsie.

City and county authorities today tried to tie the loose ends together as they pressed the investigation.

More Bombs

HONG KONG (AP)—Terrorists planted more bombs in Hong Kong today as police threw out a sweeping dragnet for the terrorist whose bomb Sunday night blasted a British police inspector to pieces, wounded 21 others and shattered windows in buildings, trams and cars.

The number of bomb reports today reached 45 by late afternoon.

Inspector Ron McEwen, 37, was killed as he was removing a bomb in a blue travel bag from the middle of a busy intersection in the crowded Wanchai section.

Kosygin Boasts of Red Might

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Alexei N. Kosygin boasted today of Soviet military might on the eve of a Red Square parade that is expected to display a huge new intercontinental missile.

Kosygin said Soviet armed forces "are always ready to give a decisive rebuff to any aggressor who dares raise a sword against our motherland or the Socialist camp."

The new missile, dragged under canvas through Moscow late one night last week in a parade rehearsal, is about the size of a missile shown here for the last two years.

the body of Miss Taylor, partly nude.

It was understood there was evidence of a fierce struggle inside and around the parked automobile owned by the dead woman.

The body was removed to the morgue at Vassar Hospital where Dr. Golding ordered an autopsy to determine if Miss Taylor had been sexually assaulted.

Sickler was returned to police headquarters where he underwent lengthy questioning by Chief Martin and detectives.

Sickler was booked for a parole violation based on the 1958 rape case involving the southern Dutchess County girl.

Charge Filed

Later the painter was charged with murder, first degree. He was taken before Acting City Police Judge Emeel S. Bettros and a formal plea of innocent was entered.

Sickler later was taken to the county jail pending a hearing on Wednesday before City Judge Joseph H. Gellert.

Authorities said Miss Taylor disappeared Saturday after telling her parents she was going to visit a girl friend. Police made efforts to determine where Miss Taylor and Sickler met. If they knew, those facts were not disclosed by investigators.

Miss Taylor was an employee of an electronics company in Poughkeepsie.

More Bombs

HONG KONG (AP)—Terrorists planted more bombs in Hong Kong today as police threw out a sweeping dragnet for the terrorist whose bomb Sunday night blasted a British police inspector to pieces, wounded 21 others and shattered windows in buildings, trams and cars.

The number of bomb reports today reached 45 by late afternoon.

Inspector Ron McEwen, 37, was killed as he was removing a bomb in a blue travel bag from the middle of a busy intersection in the crowded Wanchai section.

Sensed Cosa Nostra Money Try in '64

BOSTON (AP) — Former Massachusetts Lt. Gov. Francis X. Bellotti said Friday he "sensed" several attempts to give him Cosa Nostra money for his campaigns for governor in 1964 and attorney general last year. Bellotti, a Quincy, Mass., lawyer, made the statement in commenting on a Saturday Evening Post article saying New England Mafia boss Raymond Patriarca complained bitterly that he had been rebuffed in attempts to induce Bellotti to accept $100,000.

Sensed Attempts
In an article in the forthcoming Nov. 7 issue, the Post says the FBI learned of Patriarca's displeasure after planting an eavesdropping bug in Patriarca's Providence, R.I., office.

Asked whether he actually had been offered money, Bellotti said Friday: "I sensed several attempts to give it to me." Bellotti said no one actually came up to him and offered the money, but rather made the offers through "other persons" he did not know.

"I find it difficult to recall now precisely how it was done," Bellotti said, "but I knew what they were trying to do. They were trying to get at me."

"Piqued by his (Bellotti's) refusal," the Post article said, "the mob spread the word that he had taken mob money and these rumors were a major factor in Democrat Bellotti's defeat in both campaigns."

A transcript of the bugging of Patriarca's office indicated the going rate for buying politicians in New England is $100,000, the article says. Payoffs usually take the form of campaign contributions.

Not Identified

It says the Mafia's allies among politicians include a high-ranking state official, a police chief, two licensing officials, a court administrator and a handful of legislators among others.

They were not identified. "In 1963 FBI agents watched the high-ranking state official meet with boss Patriarca in Patriarca's car in the parking lot of a Boston hospital," the article says.

The transcript, according to the article also says a top Patriarca aide reported a Mafia ally had sought to pay off the state police to permit a new Mafia gambling operation in Biddeford, Maine.

Patriarca was indicted in June for conspiracy to commit murder after Joe Barboza, who had been hired by the Mafia began talking.

The article says the Mafia may be involved in the rash of armored car holdups in the Boston area.

"The federal government has information that the $1.5 million stolen in the Plymouth mail truck robbery in 1962 disappeared into Boston Mafia loan shark operations within two days after the robbery," the article says.

It charges the Patriarca group also specializes in fixing professional sports contests and horse races.

"Informants say that there is a regular pay rate in Boston: $5,000 for a football or basketball star who can come up with an illness or injury, attested to by a physician, that will keep him out of a game; $10,000 to an athlete skillful enough to blow key plays in the game itself. Some athletes, it is said, use these methods to get out of debt to Mafia loan sharks," the article says.

Business Week in Review

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Top executives were shifted at General Motors Corp. this past week. Ford Motor Co. reported its biggest third-quarter loss in years, and Chrysler Corp. continued new contract bargaining in the keystone auto industry. Taking over the top job of board chairman and chief executive officer at GM was James M. Roche, 60. He replaces Frederic G. Donner, who, although retiring, continues as a member of the board of directors and of its finance committee.

Edward N. Cole, 57, an executive vice president, was named to succeed Roche as GM president. Cole's selection as the firm's 14th president ended months of speculation in auto circles.

$73.9 Million Loss

At rival Ford, a net loss of $73.9 million for the third quarter was reported. The automaker blamed the loss on a strike by the United Auto Workers Union which stopped its production lines Sept. 6. The loss was the biggest since Ford became publicly owned in 1956.

Although Ford and the UAW had a new contract, production lines stood idle while efforts to reach agreement on local issues continued.

The UAW also was bargaining with Chrysler on a new national contract, but both sides said negotiations still were in the "talking stage" and that little measurable progress had been made.

The automakers scheduled 146,464 car assemblies for the week, down 8 per cent from the previous week's 159,238, and down 28 per cent from 202,086 a year ago when Ford was building cars.

GM, Chrysler and American Motors Corp. said they built 641 cars in October, down from 884,225 a year earlier.

Meanwhile, U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's No. 1 steelmaker, said its third-quarter income fell more than 40 per cent below that of a year earlier.

The firm's chairman, Roger M. Blough, said income for the three months ended Sept. 30 was $36.2 million, or 67 cents a share, compared with $61,635,150, or $1.13 a share, a year earlier.

Blough said the dip stemmed in "large part from lower consumption of steel and from liquidation of customer inventories."

Steel Output Down

Steel production last week was 2,561,000 tons, down 0.5 per cent from 2,575,000 tons the previous week.

In other developments:

President Johnson again appealed to Congress to pass his proposal for a 10 per cent surtax on individual and corporate income taxes. But Republican Rep. Gerald Ford said the federal budget must be cut by at least $5 billion before the proposal can even be considered.

The Senate Finance Committee approved a plan which would boost Social Security benefits 15 per cent. To pay for it, the payroll tax rate would be raised from the current 8.8 per cent to 9.6 per cent.

U.S. Steel Corp. announced plans to sell $225 million of 30-year debentures, with the proceeds probably being used to finance a capital improvements program.

High Budget Post

Goes to Upstater

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Richard L. Dunham of Malden Bridge has been appointed deputy state budget director at a salary of $30,000 a year.

Gov. Rockefeller, who announced the appointment Friday, said Dunham was a veteran government finance expert.

Dunham has served as administrative deputy director of the budget since 1962. He began his public service in the Budget Division in 1952.

Snow Abating Across State

By The Associated Press
Snow flurries and occasional squalls continued today in Upstate New York's snowbelt areas east of Lakes Erie and Ontario, but the Weather Bureau forecast a gradual tapering off as the day progressed.

The storm gave the areas their first major taste of winter, leaving behind as much as 18 inches of fluffy snow in lakeshore communities south of Buffalo and more than 16 inches in Adams, south of Watertown.

Motorists caught without snow tires skidded on ice patches that dotted roads in the area. Numerous minor accidents related to the weather were reported by police agencies.

Road crews were kept busy sanding the slippery highways.

with some roads closed temporarily.
For several hours Saturday night, a 45-mile section of the State Thruway between Angola and Ripley, near the Pennsylvania line was closed because of the poor driving conditions.

On Sunday night, Cattaraugus County sheriff's deputies blocked off a 12-mile section of Route 219 between Ellicottville and Ashford Hollow for a few hours while stalled cars were towed away.

The snow began falling late Saturday and was accompanied by temperatures that ranged generally from the low 20s to the mid 30s.

For today, the Weather Bureau forecast a slight warming trend, with readings reaching into the low 40s or upper 30s.

Former Area Resident Dies After Accident

Mrs. Virginia Lewis McNierney, 39, formerly of Olivebridge and Kingston, died Thursday, Nov. 2 from injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Oxford, England.

She was the wife of Major Thomas L. McNierney, formerly of Kingston, who was seriously injured in the accident.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, is her mother, Mrs. Delia Lewis of Olivebridge; four sisters, Mrs. Feryl Van Kleek of Paramus, N. J.; Mrs. Eulane (William) Osterhout and Mrs. Dorothy (Robert) Tearnly, both of Olivebridge and Mrs. June (Richard) Nadal of Port Ewen; an uncle, nieces, nephews and cousins.

Major McNierney is the son of Mrs. Rose Rafferty of Kingston. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Lasher Funeral Home Inc., Woodstock.

Successful Investing....

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst
Annuity Sometimes Needed for Survival

Q—I have $30,000 in the bank. I am a childless widow, receiving $105 a month Social Security. I'm 72, without work and have to draw on savings for my living expenses. What do you recommend as the best method for survival?

—Q. S.
A—I have the deepest sympathy for someone alone and in your difficult position. An annuity would appear to be your best method for survival. You appear to have no direct heirs, so a straight life annuity seems most suitable for you. I would consult with an agent of a major insurance company and ask what they would pay on such an annuity. I would leave $10,000 in the bank for emergencies and put $20,000 into the annuity which at your age would pay you much more than any comparable investment. With your interest from $10,000 savings and your Social Security you should have a monthly income on which you can live in moderate comfort.

Q—We are interested in growth. We are both 55 and my income is in five figures. Insurance is adequate, equity in home substantial and we have $15,000 in savings. Among stock holdings we are concerned about are American Hospital Supply, Chemical Products, American Research and Dean Foods. Have you suggestions about these stocks? —P. R.

A—It is always pleasant to encounter anyone as well established financially as you appear to be. American Hospital is one of the best stocks in the growing medical-health field. I believe the rising earnings pattern will continue and I would hold these shares. Chemical Products showed sharply lower earnings in 1966 than in the previous year. I don't believe this is truly a growth stock and I think you will do better with Swift. Dean Foods is a pretty sound issue, but in your situation I would prefer Consolidated Foods. American Research has had marked success investing in young scientific enterprises and I would hold this stock for long-term gains.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market eased irregularly lower early Monday in fairly active trading.

Losses outnumbered gains by 100 issues or so and averages were slightly lower.

Burroughs slid about 3½ points while IBM and Control Data dropped about 2 each. Xerox was off more than a point.

American Photocopy, ahead of the list on volume, was up a fraction. Also active, Allis-Chalmers and American Cyanamid edged higher.

Down fractionally in active dealings were Hess Oil, Sperry Rand, American Motors, Occidental Petroleum, Pacific Petroleum, McDonnell Douglas, Ampec and Amphenol.

A scattering of blue chips, including General Motors, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott and Southern Pacific clung narrowly to the upside.

Opening blocks included:

Occidental Petroleum, up ½ at 109½ on 7,100 shares; International Paper, unchanged at 25½ on 7,000; Sperry Rand, unchanged at 51½ on 10,500; and General Motors, up ¼ at 79½.

After six straight weeks of decline, Wall Street was wondering where the market would reach support on which to base a rally. Published comment reflected no confidence that the list would find any fresh incentive for the moment.

On Friday, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.9 to 309.1.

Rondout Action Group Meeting Slated Tonight

An open meeting of the Rondout Community Action Committee will be held tonight at 8 p. m. at the Rondout Center, 58 Broadway, under the direction of Mrs. Malinda Davis, community organizer. Recreation in the Rondout area will be the main topic of discussion. A Senior Citizens committee meeting is also planned.

At the Rondout Action meeting held last week, the Kingston City Recreation Department was sharply criticized.

Several members of the group contended that more creativity must be shown by the recreation department in the areas of senior citizens activity, football programs for the boys and in weekend recreation activities.

One resident pointed to the poor condition of the Recreation Center and another commented, "If we turn our backs, the citizens will lose Cornell Park." A Senior Citizens Committee chaired by Mrs. Annie Jackson reported on the development of some recreational activities for the elderly in Rondout and invites elderly citizens who want to participate in the program to contact the Rondout director at the center.

Mrs. Malinda Davis, newly appointed director, outlined some of her plans for Rondout and asked for the cooperation of the entire community. C. John Bechtold addressed the membership at the session and pointed to the lack of decent housing in the area. Bechtold stated, "Before we start spending a huge sum of money for a new city hall, let us plan the building and rehabilitation of decent housing for the citizens in Rondout." The meeting was conducted by Vice Chairman Joseph Lawson.

Sec. 2 — The Selection of Judges

"It is the duty of the Bar to endeavor to prevent political considerations from outweighing judicial fitness in the selection of Judges. It should protest earnestly and actively against the appointment or election of those who are unsuitable for the Bench; and it should strive to have elevated thereto only those willing to forego other employments, whether of a business, political or other character, which may embarrass their free and fair consideration of questions before them for decision. Snow Abating Across State

By The Associated Press

Snow flurries and occasional squalls continued today in Upstate New York's snowbelt areas east of Lakes Erie and Ontario, but the Weather Bureau forecast a gradual tapering off as the day progressed.

The storm gave the areas their first major taste of winter, leaving behind as much as 18 inches of fluffy snow in lakeshore communities south of Buffalo and more than 16 inches in Adams, south of Watertown.

Motorists caught without snow tires skidded on ice patches that dotted roads in the area. Numerous minor accidents related to the weather were reported by police agencies.

Road crews were kept busy sanding the slippery highways.

with some roads closed temporarily.

For several hours Saturday night, a 45-mile section of the State Thruway between Angola and Ripley, near the Pennsylvania line was closed because of the poor driving conditions.

On Sunday night, Cattaraugus County sheriff's deputies blocked off a 12-mile section of Route 219 between Ellicottville and Ashford Hollow for a few hours while stalled cars were towed away.

The snow began falling late Saturday and was accompanied by temperatures that ranged generally from the low 20s to the mid 30s.

For today, the Weather Bureau foresaw a slight warming trend, with readings reaching into the low 40s or upper 30s.

Former Area Resident Dies After Accident

Mrs. Virginia Lewis McNierney, 39, formerly of Olivebridge and Kingston, died Thursday, Nov. 2 from injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Oxford, England.

She was the wife of Major Thomas L. McNierney, formerly of Kingston, who was seriously injured in the accident.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, is her mother, Mrs. Delia Lewis of Olivebridge; four sisters, Mrs. Ferol Van Kleeck of Paramus, N. J.; Mrs. Eulane (William) Osterhout and Mrs. Dorothy (Robert) Tearnay, both of Olivebridge and Mrs. Eune (Richard) Nadal of Port Jervis; an uncle, niece, nephews and cousins.

Major McNierney is the son of Mrs. Rose Rafferty of Kingston.

Annuity Sometimes Needed for Survival

Q—I have $30,000 in the bank. I am a childless widow, receiving $105 a month Social Security. I'm 72, without work and have to draw on savings for my living expenses. What do you recommend as the best method for survival?

—Q. S.

A—I have the deepest sympathy for someone alone and in your difficult position. An annuity would appear to be your best method for survival. You appear to have no direct heirs, so a straight life annuity seems most suitable for you. I would consult with an agent of a mafor insurance company and ask what they would pay on such an annuity. I would leave $10,000 in the bank for emergencies and put $20,000 into the annuity which at your age would pay you much more than any comparable investment. With your interest from $10,000 savings and your Social Security you should have a monthly income on which you can live in moderate comfort.

Q—We are interested in growth. We are both 55 and my income is in five figures. Insurance is adequate, equity in home substantial and we have $15,000 in savings. Among stock holdings we are concerned about American Hospital Supply, Chemical Products, American Research and Dear Foods. Have you suggestions about these stocks.

—P. R.

A—it is always pleasant to encounter anyone as well established financially as you appear to be. American Hospital is one of the best stocks in the growing medical-health field. I believe the rising earnings pattern will continue and I would hold these shares. Chemical Products showed sharply lower earnings in 1966 than in the previous year. I don't believe this is truly a growth stock and I think you will do better with Sound. Dean Foods is a pretty sound issue, but in your situation I would prefer Consolidated Foods. American Research has had marked success investing in young scientific enterprises and I would hold this stock for long-term gains.

Blood is one of those things that shouldn't have a price tag.

If you belong to our blood program... it won't.

Blood. Any time. Any amount you need. When you need it. And, at no cost. And, since the blood is collected by your local hospitals, it stays right in your community. That's the way it ought to be, and that's the way it is for members of the Blue Cross Blood Program.

Now, you and your family are eligible for unlimited amounts of blood. Whether it's the usual three or four pints necessary for a transfusion, or whether you need as much as twenty to thirty for major surgery, it's no cost to you.

It's the newest Blue Cross benefit developed in cooperation with the Community Blood Council of Greater New York and its cooperating agencies. No other health plan has anything like it.

Here's how it works:

A small percentage of your company, union, or any Blue Cross group donates blood through the Blue Cross Blood Program. This automatically establishes coverage for all members and their families. Many large and small groups, as well as those people who belong to Blue Cross individually, have already signed up for this new benefit.

Shouldn't you?

For information on how your company, union or group can qualify, see your Blue Cross representative. Or write to: Blue Cross, 82 Washington Street, Poughkeepsie, N.Y. 12601. Or phone GLobe 4-0300.

We take care of our own.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH

With Little Worry

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping, or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Then sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. FASTEETH holds dentures firmer and more comfortably. Makes eating easier. It's alkaline—doesn't sour. No gummy, goosy, pasty taste or feel. Helps check plate odor. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

Lights Herd Fish
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Russians are using lights and electronic sounding devices to increase their fish harvest, a federal fisheries official says.

Dr. Dayton Lee Alverson of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries said lights and sounds are being used to herd fish into nets or drive them to depths where trawls can scoop them up.

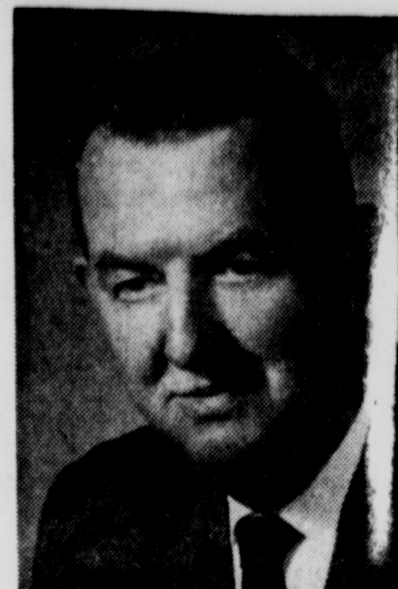

BOOK TITLE: This widely quoted statement was used as the title of a book by Anita Loos. However, it probably started with the 1885 version of the New King Arthur where a brunette character named Vivian bleached her hair blond to attract Sir Galahad. She believed that all men preferred blondes.

Israelis Use TV To Combat Arabs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel has embarked on a crash program to develop a new weapon against the Arabs—television.

It's a race against time. The Israelis fear the Jordanians will have the same propaganda weapon operational sooner.

Considered to be at stake in the budding Middle East television war are the loyalties of hundreds of thousands of Arabs in the halfway land of Jordan's west bank, now under Israeli occupation.

For the Israelis, trying to win that loyalty is worth $6 million a year—the estimated cost of four hours of entertainment and news programs daily.

It is Israel's first venture into mass consumption television and, ironically, it will be mainly the Arabs who tune in on the result. Three program hours each day will be in Arabic, only one in Hebrew.

"Propaganda is propaganda," the one government official explained. "We understand Jordan is planning to have their own television working in a couple of months. We have to be smart about it."

The provisional target date for Israeli emergency television—as it is called—is April 1. Preparatory work is moving at a sharp pace.

A task force of Arab affairs and communications experts, headed by an American professor, will be closeted in a seaside hotel all this week to hammer out guidelines for Arabic-language programming.

A $150,000 truck purchased in West Germany with measuring devices to find suitable locations for transmitting stations has been shipped in.

The television sets are already ready there—about 40,000 in Israel and an as yet uncompleted number on the west bank and in the Israeli-held Gaza Strip.

The Israelis can watch a few government-sponsored instructional programs and, along with the west bankers, casts from Syria, Lebanon and Egypt.

The Arabs' television monopoly irritated Israelis during the war last June.

"Everybody else in the world was watching what was happening except Israel," says the television task force chairman, Prof. Eliahu Katz, who works at Jerusalem's Hebrew University and at Chicago University.

Katz, 41, is a mass media research expert who was born in New York City and resides for most of the year in Jerusalem.

He says the project should aim for more than just propaganda.

Our Boys Write From Vietnam

PFC Vincent J. Silk Sr. of Colonial Gardens, who is attached to Headquarters Co. Third Marines, Security Section, writes from Vietnam:

"I wish to thank you for the package I received from you. It is nice to know that someone back home cares enough about us over here to send us packages.

"When you are out in the field it is just about impossible to get the necessities you need, and by getting that package I now have what I need.

"As usual, we share everything we get over here and my buddies wish to thank you, and I thank you again and want you to know I appreciate it very much."

The packages were sent through the efforts of Ulster Hose Co. 5. The company organized the Ulster County Vietnam Servicemen's Committee headed by Edward Englehardt, chairman.

WE URGE YOU TO READ EVERY WORD!

Last year nearly FOUR MILLION children in the U.S.A. were accidentally poisoned. Many, many of these tragedies resulted from youngsters finding and swallowing prescription drugs. Most cases were of children under five.

Our new Rx safety vials minimize the danger. They resist opening by a child who doesn't know how. So please . . . keep the method of opening an adult secret . . .

But don't relax on this: Keep all drugs from aspirin to prescriptions both out of reach and out of sight of tots. Do it with household cleaners, etc., too.

There's just no person so curious as a youngster. Don't let your "little explorer" discover trouble.

Incidentally, there's no extra cost for our safety vial, no change in our prescription pricing.

We at Walgreens are proud and pleased to provide it in the interests of safety and the fervent hope that even one tragic incident of poisoning may be prevented.

Parents! HELP PROTECT YOUR CHILDREN FROM ACCIDENTAL POISONING!

NOW WALGREENS PROVIDES YOUR PRESCRIPTIONS IN NEW

Child-Resistant* Prescription Vials

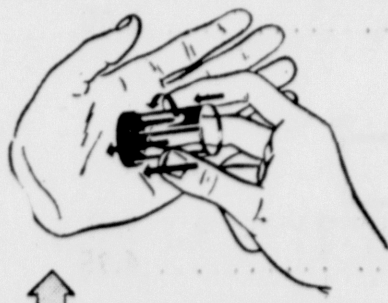

AT NOT ONE CENT OF EXTRA COST TO YOU!

* . . . IN SUPERVISED TESTS 269 OUT OF 270 CHILDREN FROM 1 TO 7 YEARS WERE UNABLE TO OPEN THIS SAFETY VIAL WITHOUT HELP . . . yet for adults (even arthritics) it is amazingly easy to do!

PRaised BY PHYSICIANS AND PHARMACISTS AS A MAJOR SAFETY ADVANCE! COMMENDED BY THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF PEDIATRICS!

HERE'S HOW THE "PALM-N'-TURN" SAFETY VIAL WORKS:

IMPOSSIBLE TO OPEN BY ORDINARY TWISTING OR LIFTING . . . YET SO EASY IF YOU KNOW THE SECRET!

TO OPEN SIMPLY PRESS INTO PALM AND TURN COUNTER-CLOCKWISE.

TO RESEAL: . . . just replace safety cap and turn clockwise till it clicks back into lock position. Listen for the "click"!

World Communist Strategy Conference Chances Regarded Slim

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Moscow is swarming with Communist leaders from around the world during the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Bolshevik power, but those who want to use the event for a world Communist strategy conference are likely to be frustrated. The chances for such a conference, for at least another year, are dim. This represents a Soviet defeat.

For the past six months, Moscow has persistently propagated the idea of a global conference. The last such was seven years ago, and the Soviet party leadership has seemed desperate to halt the continual splintering of the movement which has gone on since then.

Reluctant Support
Moscow had the support, sometimes reluctant, of the Communist parties of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria. The idea was to send out an invitation to all parties around the world, including the Chinese and those who support them.

The Chinese were more than likely to treat the invitation and the whole notion with lofty scorn. The Yugoslav, Romanian and Italian Communists were dead set against any attempt to hold a meeting on a global basis and now are freely predicting that nothing of the sort can take place before the end of 1968, if then.

What this means, apparently, is that communism as a world movement hardly exists any more. Indeed, the Chinese are now being accused by Western Communist typified by Rudolfo Ghioldi of Argentina in a recent Pravda article, of regarding Marxism-Leninism as a purely Russian concept.

In All Continents
This erosion of the movement is going on in all continents, and particularly in areas which followers of Mao Tse-tung call "the third world," which by his reckoning ultimately will be arrayed against all advanced countries, including the Soviet Union. Worried about this tendency, Moscow began early this year trying to line up support for a world conference whose unannounced purpose would be to condemn Maoist ideas. The Russians failed, first a meeting of party leaders in Czechoslovakia and again at a meeting of almost 70 parties in East Germany.

Hope Held Out
The Soviet party has not given up but the effort appeared doomed.

The opponents pointed out that, in the first place, a global meeting at this time would be impossible since the Chinese and their supporters surely would boycott it.

On the other hand, they argued, if the Russians insisted, the anti-Moscow parties headed by the Chinese probably would call their own conference, and that would make the chasm between the two factions wider than ever.

In addition to the explanation of the Taylor Bill plans are being made to reorganize the county employees into a separate unit of County employees exclusively, for the purpose of negotiating with the county board of supervisors.

Columnist Looks Back On That Wedding Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty years ago today I married my first wife.

We are still together, my last duchess and me, no more strangers now than we were when we set out to find each other so brief a long time ago.

"This looks like steady work," I muttered to myself as I carried my bride, Frances, across the threshold of our $35-a-month climb-the-stairs apartment in Greenwich Village in 1937.

As weddings go, it didn't make much of a splash. It happened at one of those churches so busy you simply had to be there on time. If you showed up 15 minutes early, you might be baptized instead of married, and if you showed up 15 minutes late you might be buried.

I saved $5 by not having all the candles lit, and $10 by providing the music from the soul rather than paying for a hired hand to key the sounds.

After all, when a fellow is embarking to a brave new world of two on $47.50 a week, he has to begin by pinching his pennies a bit. But, if I do say so myself, it was a memorable wedding banquet. It was held in an Italian basement restaurant, and the steaming spaghetti and meat balls seemed to come on forever, and the cheap red wine flowed like crimson champagne.

Since then that wedding has endured cockroaches and higher rents, movements on to new adventures, arguments and agreements, the sharings of happinesses and dismays, and the wistful attempt to raise a child to the point where she has the ability to pay for her own telephone.

Looking back across that small eternity of union, I have concluded that it is only wonder that has kept it going.

For my part, I have often wondered why Frances has put up with me.

For my wife's part, she has often wondered where I was. But when the phone has rung and someone has asked her where her husband was, she has usually loyally replied:

"Well, if there is a war going on somewhere, then Rover may be over there; and if there isn't a war on, then Rover positively should be home shortly, sooner or later."

Over the years many benedicts have asked me if I have any suggestions that might help make a marriage endure. I can think of only two.

First, both partners shouldn't always worry about what to do with the money that is available. This problem should be given to the mind of whichever partner is best able to deal with it.

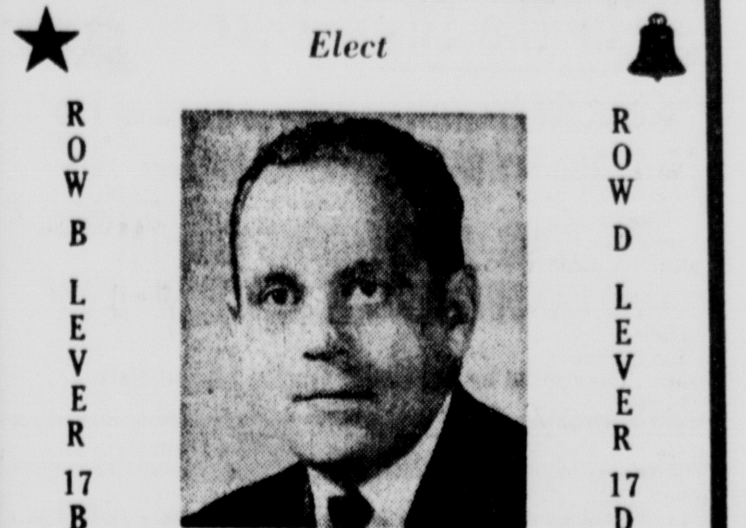

Frances got this idea in her childhood from a wise old-fashioned aunt she revered, and who once told her:

"When your times comes, dear, never forget to feed your husband well in the morning, and let him see the face he'll work for all day long to come back home to."

In my own case, I tried to handle the money for the first month, and found myself unequal to the struggle. So for the next 29 years and 11 months I have brought my paycheck home in my mouth to my wife, and tried to get as much as possible back later. We still aren't much ahead, but we've never been in a bankruptcy court.

Thirty years with a first wife. The second suggestion I would make for a lasting marriage is that if a fellow isn't careful, a condition like this could become habit that the wife get up and cooking.

Civil Servants Schedule Speaker

The Ulster County Chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association has announced that Emanuele Vitale, CSEA state-wide field representative will speak at a meeting scheduled for all Ulster County employees to be held at the County Office Building Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p. m.

Vitale, a resident of Peekskill, is a graduate of Louisiana State University and has many years of experience in industrial relations. Most recently he was employed as a union business agent for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union.

Harold DeGraff, Ulster County Chapter president of the CSEA, indicated that this meeting had been scheduled for the benefit of all county employees in order that they might have the opportunity to learn about the provisions of the new Taylor Law, a bill which governs the labor relations of all public service employees.

In addition to the explanation of the Taylor Bill plans are being made to reorganize the county employees into a separate unit of County employees exclusively, for the purpose of negotiating with the county board of supervisors.

Columnist Looks Back On That Wedding Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty years ago today I married my first wife.

We are still together, my last duchess and me, no more strangers now than we were when we set out to find each other so brief a long time ago.

"This looks like steady work," I muttered to myself as I carried my bride, Frances, across the threshold of our $35-a-month climb-the-stairs apartment in Greenwich Village in 1937.

And so far it has been. As weddings go, it didn't make much of a splash. It happened at one of those churches so busy you simply had to be there on time. If you showed up 15 minutes early, you might be baptized instead of married, and if you showed up 15 minutes late you might be buried.

I saved $5 by not having all the candles lit, and $10 by providing the music from the soul rather than paying for a hired hand to key the sounds.

After all, when a fellow is embarking to a brave new world of two on $47.50 a week, he has to begin by pinching his pennies a bit. But, if I do say so myself, it was a memorable wedding banquet. It was held in an Italian basement restaurant, and the steaming spaghetti and meat balls seemed to come on forever, and the cheap red wine flowed like crimson champagne.

Since then that wedding has endured cockroaches and higher rents, moving on to new adventures, arguments and agreements, the sharings of happiness and dismays, and the wistful attempt to raise a child to the point where she has the ability to pay for her own telephone.

Looking back across that small eternity of union, I have concluded that it is only wonder that has kept it going.

For my part, I have often wondered why Frances has put up with me.

For my wife's part, she has often wondered where I was. But when the phone has rung and someone has asked her where her husband was, she has usually loyally replied:

"Well, if there is a war going on somewhere, then Rover may be over there; and if there isn't a war on, then Rover positively should be home shortly, sooner or later."

Over the years many benefactors have asked me if I have any suggestions that might help make a marriage endure. I can think of only two.

First, both partners shouldn't her husband a good breakfast always worry about what to do every day.

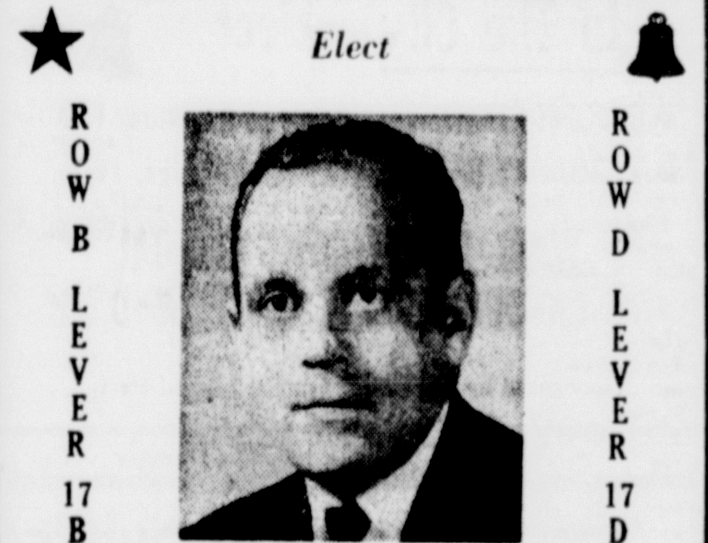

With the money that is available. Frances got this idea in her childhood from a wise old-given to the mind of whichever partner is best able to deal with who once told her:

"When your times comes, In my own case, I tried to handle the money for the first month, and found myself unequal to the struggle. So for the next 29 years and 11 months I have brought my paycheck home in my mouth to my wife, and tried to get as much as possible back later. We still aren't much ahead, but we've never been in a bankruptcy court."

The second suggestion I would make for a lasting marriage is that the wife get up and cook.

Thirty years with a first wife, if a fellow isn't careful, a condition like this could become habit that the wife get up and cook.

The Office of County Legislator, to be filled in this election, was created to balance the representation on our County Board, to assure all voters of an equal voice in county governmental affairs.

However, in the newly created Esopus-Rosendale District, those nominated to seek this office by the Republican Party do not represent equality within the newly formed County Legislative District.

Therefore, we urge you to support the Democratic nominees appearing on the ballot. Each of them are capable and qualified. They were nominated at an open meeting by the enrolled voters, NOT BY A SELECTED FEW. Each of them will represent a segment of the Legislative District. ONE from Port Ewen, ONE from Rifton, and ONE from Rosendale.

Kentucky Gubernatorial May Present Clues if LBJ Popularity Is Slipping

By SY RAMSEY

Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky governor's election Tuesday may yield the first concrete evidence of whether President Johnson's Vietnam policy has reduced his popularity, as recent polls indicate.

Louie B. Nunn, a 43-year-old country lawyer from south Kentucky, is trying to become the state's first Republican governor in 20 years, partly by broadening the campaign to include national issues.

His thesis: A vote for him is a repudiation of Johnson's policies.

"Tired of the war?" a campaign slogan asks, "Vote Nunn."

Democrat Henry Ward, a 58-year-old former highway commissioner, ignores Vietnam and all other national questions, to concentrate on state issues.

While Nunn has imported California Gov. Ronald Reagan and other GOP leaders for his campaign, the Democrats act as though they haven't been in touch lately with any party official outside Kentucky.

A month ago, unbiased observers regarded the contest as a walkaway for Ward, who is supported by Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, ineligible by law to succeed himself, and generously financed.

Democratic tacticians now concede privately the race has tightened.

Jack McDonald, national chairman of the Young Republicans, has called the gubernatorial contest the No. 1 election in the country this year.

"In 1966 (congressional and state elections) the voters said no to LBJ," he said. "The question is whether Kentucky voters will say no to him in 1967."

If this view is correct, Ward is a victim of the times—a state symbol of what voters purportedly resent on a national level. Ward's answer to the potential danger is to try to limit the arena to Kentucky—repeating his claimed record of honesty and efficient public service for 30 years.

He accuses Nunn of "racial prejudice and religious bigotry" and of intensifying "dishonest

opening of the new Zena elementary school. Work is progressing on the Miller School which is expected to be ready on schedule. Site drainage has been a major problem in building the 1,000 student school at Lake Katrine. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Kentucky Gubernatorial May Present Clues if LBJ Popularity Is Slipping

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky governor's election Tuesday may yield the first concrete evidence of whether President Johnson's Vietnam policy has reduced his popularity, as recent polls indicate.

Louie B. Nunn, a 43-year-old country lawyer from south Kentucky, is trying to become the state's first Republican governor in 20 years, partly by broadening the campaign to include national issues.

His thesis: A vote for him is a repudiation of Johnson's policies.

"Tired of the war?" a campaign slogan asks. "Vote Nunn."

Democrat Henry Ward, a 58-year-old former highway commissioner, ignores Vietnam, and all other national questions, to concentrate on state issues.

While Nunn has imported California Gov. Ronald Reagan and other GOP leaders for his campaign, the Democrats act as though they haven't been in touch lately with any party official outside Kentucky.

A month ago, unbiased observers regarded the contest as a walkaway for Ward, who is supported by Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, ineligible by law to succeed himself, and generously financed.

Democratic tacticians now concede privately the race has tightened.

Jack McDonald, national chairman of the Young Republicans, has called the gubernatorial contest the No. 1 election in the country this year.

"In 1966 (congressional and state elections) the voters said no to LBJ," he said. "The question is whether Kentucky voters will say no to him in 1967."

If this view is correct, Ward is a victim of the times—a state symbol of what voters purportedly resent on a national level. Ward's answer to the potential danger is to try to limit the arena to Kentucky—repeating his claimed record of honesty and efficient public service for 30 years.

He accuses Nunn of "racial prejudice and religious bigotry" and of intensifying "dishonest

Nunn defeated Jefferson County Judge Marlow W. Cook, a Catholic, who supports him against Ward.

RICHARD G. HATCHER

GARY, Ind. (AP) — The Justice Department has carried its voting rights drive into the North for the first time to Indiana's "steel city" where a Negro is running for mayor.

A suit filed Friday in U.S. District Court in neighboring Hammond accuses Lake County Democratic Chairman John G. Krupa and other election officials of purging voter lists to "decrease the Negro vote but not the white vote."

Refuses Support
Krupa also is county clerk

and secretary of the county election board of canvassers.

He has refused to support his party's candidate for mayor, Negro Richard G. Hatcher, contributing to Republican hopes that Joseph Radigan will become Gary's first GOP mayor in three decades.

The Justice Department suit charges that the county Election, Canvasser and Registration boards have attempted to dilute the voting strength of Negroes in Tuesday's election. Members of the three boards are named as defendants.

Negroes comprise about 55 per cent of Gary's 180,000 population.

3-Week Probe

The suit, reportedly based on a three-week FBI investigation of voter registration lists, appeared to back up Hatcher's suit in the same court accusing Krupa of conspiring to steal the election from him. A three-judge panel is scheduled to hear Hatcher's case Monday.

The Justice Department seeks an injunction to prevent Krupa and the other defendants from engaging in any activity for the purpose "or with the effect of abridging or diluting the votes of Negroes on account of their race."

The suit charges that the names of fictitious and ineligible voters were added to registration lists in predominantly white precincts, while rolls were purged to make it difficult for Negroes to retain or restate their voting eligibility.

Totals 'Padded'

The result, the suit said, is "voter totals in white precincts are padded to provide the opportunity for multiple and illegal voting by white persons."

The county Election Board Thursday restored to voter registration lists more than 5,200 names which had been purged Oct. 25. Krupa said the county attorney advised that the federal court would order it.

Krupa denied the Justice Department charges, and counter-charged that many illegal "ghost voters" were being registered in Negro precincts.

Disenfranchising of Negroes Charged

GARY, Ind. (AP) — The Justice Department has carried its voting rights drive into the North for the first time to Indiana's "steel city" where a Negro is running for mayor.

A suit filed Friday in U.S. District Court in neighboring Hammond accuses Lake County Democratic Chairman John G. Krupa and other election officials of purging voter lists to "decrease the Negro vote but not the white vote."

Refuses Support
Krupa also is county clerk

and secretary of the county election board of canvassers.

He has refused to support his party's candidate for mayor, Negro Richard G. Hatcher, contributing to Republican hopes that Joseph Radigan will become Gary's first GOP mayor in three decades.

The Justice Department suit charges that the county Election, Canvasser and Registration boards have attempted to dilute the voting strength of Negroes in Tuesday's election. Members of the three boards are named as defendants.

Negroes comprise about 35 per cent of Gary's 180,000 population.

3-Week Probe

The suit, reportedly based on a three-week FBI investigation of voter registration lists, appeared to back up Hatcher's suit in the same court accusing Krupa of conspiring to steal the election from him. A three-judge panel is scheduled to hear Hatcher's case Monday.

The Justice Department seeks an injunction to prevent Krupa and the other defendants from engaging in any activity for the purpose "or with the effect of abridging or diluting the votes of Negroes on account of their race."

The suit charges that the names of fictitious and ineligible voters were added to registration lists in predominantly white precincts, while rolls were purged to make it difficult for Negroes to retain or reinstate their voting eligibility.

Totals 'Padded'

The result, the suit said, is "voter totals in white precincts are padded to provide the opportunity for multiple and illegal voting by white persons."

The county Election Board Thursday restored to voter registration lists more than 5,200 names which had been purged Oct. 25. Krupa said the county attorney advised that the federal court would order it.

Krupa denied the Justice Department charges, and counter-charged that many illegal "ghost voters" were being registered in Negro precincts.

Greene Amphitheater Project Gets $15,000

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation has authorized a $15,000 grant to be used in the construction of a permanent Washington Irving Amphitheatre in Greene County, according to Kermit Goell, the prime mover in the project.

The amphitheatre, Goell said, would be the site for an annual presentation of a musical fantasy based on the Legend of Rip Van Winkle, Irving's classic tale which has become an indelible part of American folklore.

The Catskill Resort and Recreation Development Corporation, a non-profit organization, is presently directing a campaign to raise between $150,000 and $200,000 to construct the 3,000-seat outdoor auditorium and related facilities. The amphitheatre organization is separate from the production corporation which will be privately funded.

Central Hudson President Lelan F. Sillin, Jr., commenting on the grant, noted that the company, recognizing the scenic qualities and recreational opportunities of the area, has long supported efforts to promote the Ulster-Greene Vacationland.

The proposed amphitheatre, he said, would be a major step in this direction, complementing the existing Catskill Game Farm (500,000 visitors last year), the highly-successful Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl, the Bronx House Museum at Coxsack, and Olana, the Museum of the Hudson River School of Painting, overlooking the Rip Van Winkle Bridge.

Central Hudson's grant, Sillin

Also planned for the site which lies on a natural shelf and has the Catskill Mountains as a dramatic backdrop for the stage are a rain pavilion shelter, a Dutch Colonial restaurant and parking for 1,000 cars.

The concept of an outdoor theatre and production has been developed successfully in such places as Manteo, N. C. ("The Lost Colony") and Williamsburg, Va. ("The Common Glory"), and at 18 other locations around the country. An encouraging feasibility study of the proposed Washington Irving project has been received from Mark Sumner, director of the Institute of Outdoor Drama at the University of North Carolina.

Said Sumner:

The authors of Rip Van Winkle are Fred Spielman, Janice Torre and Goell. Among them, they have written such song hits as Near You, Paper Roses, Shepherd Serenade, It Only Hurts For A Little While, Hug, gin and Chalkin, and others for films and shows. Spielman and Miss Torre also wrote that perennial Christmas TV favorite, The Stingiest Man In Town.

Central Hudson's grant, Sillin

said, will be spread over a three-year period and bears certain conditions. Among them are the requirements that at least $75,000 be raised locally and that the balance needed to complete the project be obtained by bank funding or from other sources.

According to Goell the outdoor auditorium will be located on a 28-acre site off Bogart Road, which connects the Game Farm road with Route 23A at Palenville. It would be owned by the people of Greene and Ulster Counties and would be available for uses other than the Rip Van Winkle productions.

Also planned for the site which lies on a natural shelf and has the Catskill Mountains as a dramatic backdrop for the stage are a rain pavilion shelter, a Dutch Colonial restaurant and parking for 1,000 cars.

Says Statement To Chamber Was Misinterpreted

The Conservative candidate for alderman in Kingston's Second Ward today hit out at the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for presenting a "totally false and misleading statement" in regard to the views I expressed in answer to the Chamber's (recent) questionnaire.

The candidate, Thomas F. Riley, declared that, "As reported in The Kingston Daily Freeman of Nov. 4, I am reported as being in opposition to pay raises for members of the Kingston Police Department."

"This report by the Chamber of Commerce is totally false," said Riley.

The Conservative said, "My reply to their question regarding police pay raises read in part, 'a starting salary for a new patrolman in his early 20's of $5,400 would certainly seem adequate. What is not adequate is the future outlook. Of course pay scales should be increased, but not on an across the board basis.'"

Riley stated, "If this sounds as though I am opposed to pay raises, I'll eat my shirt," and he added, "Let the record be set straight — I will back any proposal to raise police pay, and general municipal employee salaries provided the proposal is financially sound and takes into consideration past years of dedicated service as well as career outlook."

The Second Ward alderman continued, "The Chamber complains that they received something less than 50 per cent replies to their questions. It is no wonder that some candidates are reluctant to express their views if this is the quality of the analysis made of those views."

Bicycle Ring

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Detectives in St. Louis and suburban University City said they broke a bicycle theft ring over the weekend. Included in the roundup was 100 bicycles, 11 juveniles and a 60-year-old man.

Booked on charges of suspected burglary and contributing to the delinquency of a minor was James H. Schmidt of St. Louis. Officers found two stolen bicycles in Schmidt's basement, along with five other stripped-down frames. Officers also located what they called "a truck load" of frames at another apartment.

Police said Schmidt admitted buying two bicycles from boys but said he planned to give them to neighborhood children as Christmas presents.

Rescue Man After Boat Sinks in Canal

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — Daniel J. O'Donnell III, 26, was rescued after clinging four hours to a wall of the Erie Barge Canal as a companion swam to safety and help when their boat struck a log and sank Saturday.

The companion, Francis Devine, 47, of Lockport, was able to call help about three hours after the accident. Police used ropes to rescue O'Donnell, also of Lockport, who was about 25 feet down the steep rock canal wall.

The inbound cruiser struck a log after traveling up the canal 1½ miles, the men said. Neither required hospital treatment.

Says Statement To Chamber Was Misinterpreted

The Conservative candidate for alderman in Kingston's Second Ward today hit out at the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for presenting a "totally false and misleading statement in regard to the views I expressed in answer to the Chamber's (recent) questionnaire."

The candidate, Thomas F. Riley, declared that, "As published in The Kingston Daily Freeman of Nov. 4, I am reported as being in opposition to pay raises for members of the Kingston Police Department."

"This report by the Chamber of Commerce is totally false," said Riley.

The Conservative said, "My reply to their question regarding police pay raises read in part, . . . a starting salary for a new patrolman in his early 20's of $5,400 would certainly seem adequate. What is not adequate is the future outlook. Of course pay scales should be increased, but not on an across-the-board basis."

Riley stated, "If this sounds as though I am opposed to pay raises, I'll eat my shirt," and he added, "Let the record be set straight — I will back any proposal to raise police, fire, and general municipal employee salary levels provided the proposal is financially sound and takes into consideration past years of dedicated service as well as career outlook."

The Second Ward alderman candidate continued, "The Chamber complains that they received something less than 50 per cent replies to their questions. It is no wonder that some candidates are reluctant to express their views if this is the quality of the analysis made of those views."

Bicycle Ring

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Detectives in St. Louis and suburban University City said they broke a bicycle theft ring over the weekend. Included in the roundup was 100 bicycles, 11 juveniles and a 60-year-old man.

Booked on charges of suspected burglary and contributing to the delinquency of a minor was James H. Schmidt of St. Louis. Officers found two stolen bicycles in Schmidt's basement, along with five other stripped-down frames. Officers also located what they called "a truck load" of frames at another apartment.

Police said Schmidt admitted buying two bicycles from boys but said he planned to give them to neighborhood children as Christmas presents.

Olive Democrat Rally Is Held

An aura of quiet confidence pervaded the atmosphere as the Town of Olive Democratic Club held the most successful rally of its long history Saturday night at the Olivebridge Firehouse.

Speakers on the dais, in addition to John Parete, president of the Olive Democrats, included: Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, chairman of the Ulster County Democrats; Ulster County Sheriff William Martin; John J. Schick, candidate for county judge; Arnold Banker, candidate for county treasurer; Ronald E. Newman, candidate for county coroner; Mrs. Rose Hogan, vice chairman of the Ulster County Democrats; Burton Marshall and Albert Fox, candidates for the County Legislature from the 11th district. Local candidates were also introduced.

The audience of more than 250 persons interrupted the speakers with applause on several occasions, most notably when the candidates took their Republican counterparts to task. Parete set the tone for criticism when he said: "As Democrats we have campaigned hard and long. We have brought what we consider to be important issues before the people of the Town of Olive without malice or rancor. We have criticized the opposition where we deemed it necessary not because of political expediency, but because it is our moral obligation to do so."

Woodstock Vols Plan For Officer Election

WOODSTOCK VOLS —HD— The procedure for the election of officers of the department, the necessity for burning permits, and the organization and duties of the fire police were topics discussed at the quarterly meeting of the Woodstock Fire Department's four companies last week.

Youth Jailed On Car Theft; Hearing Set

James Armstrong, 16, of Rock Street, was in the Ulster County jail today in lieu of $5,000 bail pending a hearing on charges of grand larceny involving alleged thefts of automobiles.

Trooper Thomas Searles said Armstrong was arrested Saturday night by BCI Investigator Joseph Ventriglia and Trooper John Kohland, specifically accused of the theft of an automobile owned by Susan Brown, which was involved in an accident on Old Kings Highway, Town of Saugerties, after a police chase.

According to troopers, John Joyce, 14, of Mt. Marion, was a passenger in the car at the time of the mishap. He was taken to Kingston Hospital in serious condition. He reportedly suffered a collapsed lung.

Authorities said Armstrong admitted other car thefts in the area.

The youth is slated for a hearing Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster.

The matter was resolved with the appointment of a nominating committee consisting of one member from each of the four companies comprising the Woodstock Fire Department. This committee would interview possible candidates and present list for election at the annual meeting scheduled for Dec. 7 at Wittenberg, from 7 to 9 p. m. Nominations may also be made at the meeting. The committee includes W. Wiegall of No. 1, K. Reynolds of No. 2, A. Osterlander of No. 3, and R. Melert of No. 4.

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson, in his report to the companies, emphasized the need of a burning permit in the township. He pointed to the burning of leaves which was illegal without a permit.

Chief Wilson reported a total of 61 calls to date, and stated that the fire prevention program at the Woodstock school was in the planning stage. He reported on a fire police meeting and the coming of new equipment for the fire police squad. He also stated that a fire training school and fire police school were to be inaugurated.

William Huty, temporary chairman of the fire police squad, outlined the duties of the fire police and emphasized the necessity for cooperation with regular police authority. He pointed to the coming of additional equipment as a step toward better organization and performance of the fire police in the township of Woodstock.

JOHN J. NACCARATO
Candidate for Alderman

Candidate Finds Dangers in New Zoning Measure

A statement released today by a Conservative Party candidate for county legislator in the Town of Wawarsing forewarns of alleged "dangers to essential property rights in the prospective Town of Wawarsing zoning ordinance."

The candidate, Paul G. Henderson, stated that he had examined the prospective zoning ordinance and claims that "it included restrictions upon essential property rights beyond that needed for protection of the public welfare."

Although the proposal has not yet been formally introduced for town action, according to Henderson, "the proposed ordinance should never get to the Town Board before it is completely revised or scrapped altogether."

Henderson cited that the proponents of the ordinance generally claim that it is a cure-all for keeping junkyards, chicken coops, and pig farms away from the vicinity of residential areas. "In reality," he claims, "the essential feature of the prohibitive ordinance gouges the basic property rights from the property owner."

The Conservative believes that, "Many of the conditions which prompt the enactment of zoning statutes today could be resolved if existing laws were enforced."

Action Group Gives Yearly Report; Doubt Funding

The Ulster County Community Action Committee held a press conference Friday afternoon in their County Building offices. The following is the statement from the committee submitted by Stanley Leyden, executive director:

"We are now entering the last month of our first full year under the Conduct and Administration Grant obtained from the Federal Government. This is the grant under which we operate our neighborhood centers, county-wide coordination of activities and the necessary administration for them. We have already submitted application for refunding for the period beginning Dec. 1, 1967 and concluding on Nov. 30, 1968, for our Conduct and Administration Component, our Full Year Head Start Program in the Rondout area, and our Pre-Vocational Orientation Program that is just beginning. We are not requesting refunding of our Family Planning Component."

House Divided

"However, over this hangs the dark cloud interposed by the present mood of the House of Representatives. For a variety of reasons it has sought out the Office of Economic Opportunity and its program for a budget cut amounting to 25 per cent across the board and is suggesting a series of amendments which may severely curtail the independence and activities of community action programs."

In terms of dollars the Administration had asked for approximately $1.6 billion for OEO operations, which merely continues the War on Poverty at last year's level. The Senate had recommended an increase in the amount to $2 billion. The House of Representatives is suggesting reducing temporary continuation funds to the rate of 1.2 billion dollars annually, suggesting that final finding should be at that level. What this may mean in Ulster County can be seen by analyzing them against our accomplishment over the last eleven months.

"Seventeen men were enrolled in the Job Corps. Eleven of these are presently in Job Corps Camps. They may have to return without completing their training and no other job corps recruits will have a place to go. 107 boys and girls who needed summer jobs received the opportunity for employment and counseling through the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program jointly sponsored by us and the YMCA. There would be no future opportunity for this type of program. Not only were the agencies to which these youngsters assigned pleased with their abilities but the impact of the program upon the youth as revealed by follow-up surveys conducted by our staff showed that it was indeed a worthwhile program that will prevent a considerable amount of human suffering and loss of dollars that otherwise would have been their probable future."

"150 youngsters and their families obtained the advantage of our Summer Head Start Program conducted in the Kingston, Ontario and Ellenville districts. This would not only be threatened by the funding reductions but also the requirements that the local community must pick up 50 per cent of its local share in hard cash might make it impossible for the school district to accept this responsibility for the forth coming year."

Costly Cuts

"The cut in local initiative funds would directly affect our out-reach and summer programs. We have six active neighborhood service centers. They lend staff support to the activities of our advisory boards who are the rallying point for the local community in solving problems and fulfilling needs in the American tradition of grass roots self-help."

"Originally in our planned program we expected to reach 2,200 of the 5,000 poverty level families that statistics said lived in Ulster County."

Five men presently attending Ulster County Community College are receiving necessary financial support through the Work Study Program and Economic Opportunity Grants. Our staff and board members helped several of these to get enrolled in college and obtain the necessary financial aid."

"A total of 51 non-professionals, all of them residents of Ulster County and many of them within the target population have been employed directly with our program."

"The Downtown area of Kingston enjoys the restoration of fire protection because of our efforts to assist the community in getting the Cornell Fire House opened. The entire City of Kingston will benefit from the more stringent housing code enforcement activities which resulted from our determined efforts Downtown at 24 Abel Street and Uptown in the tenth Ward."

Plane Crash Reported at Whitehall

WHITEHALL, N.Y. (AP) — A light plane, carrying four persons on a flight from Burlington, Vt., to Caldwell, N.J., was missing today and State Police said they were checking reports of a possible plane crash south of this village near the New York-Vermont line.

The occupants of the plane were not identified immediately. Troopers said residents of an area between Whitehall and Fort Ann, northeast of Glens Falls, reported hearing what they believed sounded like a plane crash shortly after 5 p.m. Sunday night.

The region, near Black Mountain, was swept by a snow squall at that time, troopers said.

The private plane, a blue and white Beechcraft, left Burlington with four persons aboard at 4:28 p.m., Sunday. It was expected to arrive in Caldwell at 6:30 p.m., troopers said.

Search On For Hunter

DOLGEVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — State Police and bloodhounds searched today for a 28-year-old epileptic lost overnight in the Adirondack forest east of this Fulton County village.

Troopers said Albert Ippolito, of Ozone Park, Queens, a deer hunter, suffered from epilepsy and daily needed medication, which had been left in a hunting camp about five miles from here. The medication was to have been administered Sunday night, troopers said.

Ippolito entered the forest near Kline Road at 11:30 a.m. Sunday, two relatives told troopers. He was reported missing after he failed to turn up at a hunting camp at 2 p.m.

State Police described the man as "an inexperienced hunter," but said he was dressed warmly. Temperatures in the area sank into the low 20s overnight.

"The city of Kingston and the village of Ellenville may have had similar experiences," see within the next year the establishment of a non-profit program to rehabilitate houses for low income families, supported by local private groups under the 221h Program because of the activities of our Housing Subcommittee and staff. Because we had a field office in the Rondout area those were being uprooted found a way to seek redress of their grievances."

"Seven low income families in the Briggs Highway area in the Town of Wawarsing are building their homes under the Rural Self-Help Housing Program because UCCAC was around and provided them with the tools to do the jobs."

Service in County

"In all of our centers, we are concentrating on developing jobs and placing people in them. In Shandaken, our Ontario Family Service Center succeeded in placing four young men in the Electrical Union's Apprenticeship Program. Our Highland Office is actively working on job opportunities for people in that community. Approximately 15 women have been referred to the New York State Employment Service for the manpower training program in secretarial skills. At least 20 people from the Downtown area of Kingston have obtained jobs through the efforts of our Downtown Kingston time we probably can conduct staff. All of the other offices have had similar experiences."

Three hundred sixty-three citizens are attending the various senior citizens groups that have been set up and strengthened by our efforts on behalf of the aging. A county-wide council on the aging consisting of senior citizens themselves, has been established to seek ways of obtaining programs for the benefit of all.

Thirty-four Kingston youngsters are enrolled in our Day Care Program. There is a waiting list of 18. At least eight of these families now have a bread winner. The Wawarsing Area Council is trying to set up a similar day care facility."

"All of this is in jeopardy," Leyden stated.

According to OEO statements in the past, if the proposed budget cut were passed and made retroactive to July 1, OEO would have to do the following:

"Close 60 of the 123 existing job corps centers and dismiss 20,000 enrollees."

"Cut neighborhood youth corps by 250,000 enrollees."

"Drop 92,000 children from year-round head start classes."

"Cut off 300,000 poor persons from legal services."

"End all summer programs scheduled for the coming year."

"Generally cut cap programs by 40 per cent."

See Curtailment

"Locally and at the present operation through January 1968, but the nature of those operations may be curtailed."

"Moreover these budget reductions will probably be retroactive so that the program will dwindle more drastically than congress intended."

"The staff of UCCAC can only do what the money allocated to us allows us to do. The ball is in your hands as far as future levels of funding are concerned. You must decide whether the community action phase of our program should be curtailed. You must determine whether 10 per cent of our costs should be provided in hard cash by the local community. You must decide whether the community action programs should be directed by a Government agency or a non-profit corporation and you must decide now."

Re-elect Judge Mino

In the re-election of Judge Raymond J. Mino as county judge of Ulster County at the November 7 general election, the registered voters, irrespective of party, will place in this important judicial post a man whose ability and soundness of judgment commended him to the Republican Convention and to the enrolled Republicans in no uncertain terms. He also has received the endorsement of the Liberal Party.

Judge Mino's proven qualifications and experience are more than adequate for this high office. His untiring efforts, characteristic grit and sincerity of purpose in conducting civil and criminal trials, presiding in special term and performing other exacting duties of the court make him an excellent choice. This type of public service in these difficult times demands an outstanding individual.

His notable record started with military service in the judge advocate's office during World War 2, continued through private law practice and into public service as Kingston City Judge. He broadened his service to the people of Ulster County as an aggressive and capable district attorney, and after his election as county judge six years ago made that difficult transition from prosecutor to judge with natural skill.

We commend Judge Mino for the dedication and discipline to the law he demonstrated in changing from prosecutor to jurist. As district attorney, he was charged with pursuing a crime from indictment to conviction. As county judge, he has maintained that delicate balance between guaranteeing each accused a fair trial while protecting the lawful community from criminal attack.

Judge Mino has been a firm judge, temperate, impartial and diligent. In imposing sentence, he has endeavored to conform to a reasonable standard of punishment, never seeking popularity or publicity either by exceptional severity or undue leniency. He has been an active full-time judge, who has kept his court open to meet the pressure of a constantly increasing case load of civil as well as criminal matters.

We recommend Judge Mino's re-election.

Action Group Gives Yearly Report; Doubt Funding

The Ulster County Community Action Committee held a press conference Friday afternoon in their County Building offices. The following is the statement from the committee submitted by Stanley Leyden, executive director:

"We are now entering the last month of our first full year under the Conduct and Administration Grant obtained from the Federal Government. This is the grant under which we operate our neighborhood centers, county-wide coordination of activities and the necessary administration for them. We have already submitted application for refunding for the period beginning Dec. 1, 1967, and concluding on Nov. 30, 1968, for our Conduct and Administration Component, our Full Year Head Start Program in the Rondout area, and our Pre-Vocational Orientation Program that is just beginning. We are not requesting refunding of our Family Planning Component."

House Divided

"However, over this hangs the dark cloud interposed by the present mood of the House of Representatives. For a variety of reasons it has sought out the Office of Economic Opportunity and its program for a budget cut amounting to 25 per cent across the board and is suggesting a series of amendments which may severely curtail the independence and activities of community action programs."

In terms of dollars the Administration had asked for approximately $1.6 billion for OEO operations, which merely continues the War on Poverty at last year's level. The Senate had recommended an increase in the amount to $2 billion. The House of Representatives is suggesting reducing temporary continuation funds to the rate of 1.2 billion dollars annually, suggesting that final finding should be at that level. What this may mean in Ulster County can be seen by analyzing them against our accomplishments over the last eleven months."

"Seventeen men were enrolled in the Job Corps. Eleven of these are presently in Job Corps Camps. They may have to return without completing their training and no other job corps recruits will have a place to go. 107 boys and girls who needed summer jobs received the opportunity for employment and counselling through the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program jointly sponsored by us and the YMCA. There would be no future opportunity for this type of program. Not only were the agencies to which these youngsters assigned pleased with their abilities but the impact of the program upon the youth as revealed by follow-up surveys conducted by ourselves showed that it was indeed a worthwhile program that will prevent a considerable amount of human suffering and loss of dollars that otherwise would have been their probable future."

"150 youngsters and their families obtained the advantage of our Summer Head Start Program conducted in the Kingston, Ontario and Ellenville districts. This would not only be threatened by the funding reductions but also the requirements that the local community must pick up 50 per cent of its local share in hard cash might make it impossible for the school district to accept this responsibility for the forth coming year."

Costly Cuts

"The cut in local initiative funds would directly affect our out-reach and summer programs. We have six active neighborhood service centers. They lend staff support to the activities of our advisory boards who are the rallying point for the local community in solving problems and fulfilling needs in the American tradition of grass roots self-help."

"Originally in our planned program we expected to reach 2,200 of the 5,000 poverty level families that statistics said lived in Ulster County."

Lonstein Heads Ellenville Hospital

Benjamin Lonstein has been elected to his 15th term as president of the board of directors of Ellenville Community Hospital. Other officers elected at the Board's annual reorganization meeting were Louis Resnick, first vice president; David Swinden, second vice president; William C. Smith, treasurer and Everett Coty, secretary. Named to serve on the Finance Committee are Irving Binder, chairman, Arthur Lipson and Morris Solomon.

Assuming their duties on the hospital board were newly elected directors, Morris Solomon and Leon Friedman. Solomon is the president of Berger & Solomon, Friedman is president of Ellenville Vending Co. Inc.

Dinner, Nov. 12, 1967, President Lonstein focused attention on the second annual $100 a couple dinner sponsored by the hospital. Sunday, Nov. 19 at 6:30 p. m. at the Ulster Country Club, Louis Resnick is chairman of the dinner committee.

Resnick reported that community response to the fund raising event was growing. "We have asked area business, industry and financial institutions," he stated, "to purchase entire tables, to demonstrate their support of the hospital. A number of these organizations have already made commitments to do so. We need to see every business and individual who has in mind that they will be taking a table to the dinner. We need the support of the community to maintain the hospital. We cannot and should not, he declared, "depend on those outside our communities to support our hospital, though we have been fortunate to receive outside help in the past. This is a community hospital. We believe the community wants and deserves the newest lifesaving equipment, the finest diagnostic and patient care services, and the best possible facilities. By the same token, every single member of the community who can afford it, must be aware of the obligation to support the hospital's financial needs. Reservations for the dinner may be made with Resnick or any member of the hospital board, or at the hospital with Administrator Evald Bors Koeffed.

Plan Inspection Of Sites for Gateway Housing

Housing units for Kingston's senior citizens in the low and middle income range may soon be a possibility.

George E. Yerry Jr., of the New York State Empire Housing Foundation, has informed William F. Edelmuth, president of Gateway Industries, that the proposed sites for the construction of senior housing, in conjunction with Gateway, will be inspected by representatives of the Foundation.

Earlier, Edelmuth has stated, "A number of sites have been reviewed by Gateway and it is my hope that one of these sites will be selected for the construction of these much-needed facilities in our community." Edelmuth told The Freeman that he anticipated there would be "a minimum of 1040 units" included in the project.

Culley lost the end of his nose—but saved his wallet. The thief fled, Culley arranged for plastic surgery.

Dry Zone Law

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The University of Oregon faculty has asked that a rule against liquor sales within five blocks of the campus be abolished. The dry zone was established by the Oregon Liquor Control Commission in 1951 when a number of freshman students became intoxicated before a Mothers Day function.

Brocade, originally made in the Orient, became popular with European aristocrats in the 13th century. The Jacquard loom, which weaves brocade, was invented in France during the 19th century.

Concessions Boost Anti-Poverty Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of legislation to extend the antipoverty program another year count on concessions made in committee to push the administration measure through a largely hostile House.

Debate begins today on the measure with a showdown vote not expected before Thursday.

Never very popular in the House, the program faces its severest challenge so far from a conservative coalition that has already forced heavy cuts in domestic programs.

But the bill's supporters were cautiously optimistic that when the smoke clears the main outlines of the program will still be intact.

They are counting heavily on amendments adopted by the Education and Labor Committee to quiet some of the major criticism directed at the antipoverty program after this summer's big-city rioting.

The chief amendment would put elected public officials in direct control of community action agencies, most of which are now private, nonprofit agencies beyond the reach of public officials.

In several cities where riots occurred local officials said antipoverty workers in such agencies helped set them off. But some officials praised workers for easing riot tensions.

Another amendment would require that 10 per cent of the cost of an antipoverty project be put up in cash by the local agency.

Both amendments have drawn heavy criticism from the Office of Economic Opportunity, which directs the antipoverty program, and also from House supporters. They contended that putting local officials in control will blunt the imaginative, creative approach needed to deal with poverty.

There are indications the amendments have succeeded in picking up enough support among Southern Democrats to insure defeat of a substitute proposal to be offered by the Republicans.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., is the chief author of the GOP version, which would fit most programs into existing job training and vocational educational programs and enlarge the role of private industry. He conceded last week there was little hope it would be adopted.

The big worry among the bill's supporters, however, is that individual amendments offered to specific sections could lead to piecemeal dismantling of the program.

The main threat is to the spending level authorized by the bill. President Johnson asked for $2.06 billion. Although that's what the committee approved, a reduction appears certain. Managers of the bill say they hope that by agreeing to a lower amount they can defend against further cuts.

The Senate has already passed a bill authorizing $2.3 billion.

Lonstein Heads Ellenville Hospital

Benjamin Lonstein has been elected to his 15th term as president of the board of directors of Ellenville Community Hospital. Other officers elected at the Board's annual reorganization meeting were Louis Resnick, first vice president, David Swinden, second vice president; William C. Smith, treasurer and Everett Coty, secretary. Named to serve on the Finance Committee are Irving Binder, chairman, Arthur Lipson and Morris Solomon.

Assuming their duties on the hospital board were newly elected directors, Morris Solomon and Leon Friedman. Solomon is the president of Berger & Solomon. Friedman is president of Ellenville Vending Co., Inc.

Dinner, Nov. 11, 1967, President Lonstein focused attention on the second annual $100 a couple dinner sponsored by the hospital, Sunday, Nov. 19 at 6:30 p. m. at the Newell Country Club. Louis Resnick is chairman of the dinner committee.

Resnick reported that community response to the fund-raising event was growing.

"We have asked area business, industry and financial institutions," he stated, "to purchase entire tables, to demonstrate their support of the hospital. A community hospital, we believe the community wants and deserves the newest life-saving equipment, the finest diagnostic and patient care services, and the best possible facilities. By the same token, every single member of the community who can afford it, must be aware of the obligation to support the hospital's financial needs."

Reservations for the dinner may be made with Resnick or any member of the hospital board, or at the hospital with Administrator Evald Bors Koefted.

Plan Inspection Of Sites for Gateway Housing

Housing units for Kingston's senior citizens in the low and middle income range may soon be a possibility.

George E. Yerry Jr., of the New York State Empire Housing Foundation, has informed William F. Edelmuth, president of Gateway Industries, that the proposed sites for the construction of senior housing, in conjunction with Gateway, will be inspected by representatives of the Foundation.

Earlier, Edelmuth has stated, "A number of sites have been reviewed by Gateway and it is my hope that one of these sites will be selected for the construction of these much-needed facilities in our community."

Edelmuth told The Freeman that he anticipated there would be "a minimum of 1040 units" included in the project.

Dry Zone Law

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The University of Oregon faculty has asked that a rule against liquor sales within five blocks of the campus be abolished. The dry zone was established by the Oregon Liquor Control Commission in 1951 when a number of freshman students became intoxicated before a Mothers Day function.

Brocade, originally made in the Orient, became popular with European aristocrats in the 13th century. The Jacquard loom, which weaves brocade, was invented in France during the 19th century.

Concessions Boost Anti-Poverty Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of legislation to extend the anti-poverty program another year count on concessions made in committee to push the administration measure through a largely hostile House.

Debate begins today on the measure with a showdown vote not expected before Thursday.

Never very popular in the House, the program faces its severest challenge so far from a conservative coalition that has already forced heavy cuts in domestic programs.

But the bill's supporters were cautiously optimistic that when the smoke clears the main outlines of the program will still be intact.

They are counting heavily on amendments adopted by the Education and Labor Committee to quiet some of the major criticism directed at the anti-poverty program after this summer's big-city rioting.

The chief amendment would put elected public officials in direct control of community action agencies, most of which are now private, nonprofit agencies beyond the reach of public officials.

In several cities where riots occurred local officials said anti-poverty workers in such agencies helped set them off. But some officials praised workers for easing riot tensions.

Another amendment would require that 10 per cent of the cost of an anti-poverty project be put up in cash by the local agency.

Both amendments have drawn heavy criticism from the Office of Economic Opportunity, which directs the anti-poverty program, and also from House supporters. They contended that putting local officials in control will blunt the imaginative, creative approach needed to deal with poverty.

There are indications the amendments have succeeded in picking up enough support among Southern Democrats to insure defeat of a substitute proposal to be offered by the Republicans.

Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., is the chief author of the GOP version, which would fit most programs into existing job training and vocational education programs and enlarge the role of private industry. He conceded last week there was little hope it would be adopted.

'Second Front' in Vietnam May Be Communist Goal

By PETER ARNETT
Associated Press Writer

LOC NINH, Vietnam (AP) — The Communists may be trying to establish a "second front" in Vietnam with their drawn out military offensive in the rubber-growing district of Loc Ninh, which faces the Cambodian frontier.

That is the consensus of many military observers. They are beginning to discount the initial theory that the Communists were merely seeking a quick propaganda victory when they began to attack this isolated district headquarters last weekend.

Like the demilitarized zone, the "first front" of the Vietnam war, Loc Ninh is in a remote region with terrain favorable to the enemy, and a sanctuary nearby, this time in Cambodia.

Five Divisions Now

The North Vietnamese have succeeded in sucking a whole U.S. Marine Division into a holding action along the DMZ, pounding forward Leatherneck outposts daily with mortars and artillery.

Almost as many U.S. infantry men will be committed to Loc Ninh if the battle continues much longer. Already, five U.S. battalions are deployed in the area.

U.S. intelligence officers find prisoners and documents captured so far give conflicting assessments of the enemy aims.

One group of prisoners said their mission was to "take Loc Ninh at any cost." Another group said their mission was to "engage Americans in battle." A third said the Loc Ninh battles heralded the beginning of a "winter-spring offensive."

Whatever the true reason, the Communists have shown unusual tenacity and determination around Loc Ninh.

U.S. authorities said 860 Communists had been killed by Friday in the series of actions, including casualties inflicted by air and artillery.

Allied losses were given as 11 Americans killed and 66 wounded; 23 Vietnamese killed and 74 wounded.

U.S. officers said all reports Friday indicated the Communists were still "in an offensive stance."

This stance included the presence of the 272nd Regiment, a sister regiment to the 273rd in the 9th Division. U.S. intelligence indicates that 70 per cent of this formerly full Viet Cong division is now comprised of North Vietnamese.

Since early this year the Communists have been building up their strength, particularly in the past two months.

U.S. intelligence officers were aware of the buildup and it was evident that, sooner or later, American troops would have to tangle with the Communists.

The Communists decided to move first.

Binh Long Province in which Loc Ninh is situated, is one of the poorest in Vietnam despite its rubber output. Only 80,000 people live in the whole province, 20,000 of these in Loc Ninh.

Most work on rubber plantations. The province is at the end of a Communist supply line that GIs call the Sihanouk trail.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk is the chief of state of avowedly neutral Cambodia. The supply line runs from the Ho Chi Minh trial through eastern Laos down the Cambodian border. North Vietnamese prisoners captured in recent days say they infiltrated into Vietnam through Cambodia.

U.S. intelligence men believe that the regiments of the Communist 9th Division are based in South Vietnam, but receive supplies and reinforcements from across the border.

The Loc Ninh region is of commercial value to the Communists because of the large rubber holdings. The town is on a road from Saigon, Highway 13. But there would seem to be little strategic value to the Communists to occupy the town or the Special Forces camp. They have complete freedom of movement in the jungled countryside.

There seems little doubt that if the Communists continue their offensive they will continue to take massive casualties. The United States is beefing up its artillery and B52 raids are launched frequently.

So far, allied forces have been largely unhurt.

Military sources point out, however, that the Communists have always proved willing to take maximum casualties if they figure the sacrifice is worth it. The U.S. Marines were lured to the DMZ at terrific cost to the Communists.

U.S. Marine officers agree that the Communist play succeeded, U.S. forces have been drained from the population centers along the northern coast, with a resulting setback to the pacification program.

Health for All

Grandpa coughed, coughed again, and looked around the room apologetically. The youngest, who was taking music lessons, winked.

"Try it in G minor, Gramps". The whole family laughed appreciatively. Later, riding on the bus, Grandpa emitted a sudden salvo of barks. "Coughin' better, hey pal? grinned the rugged type in the next seat. Grandpa nodded wanly, while the passengers within earshot chuckled.

In the barber's chair he held up a sudden warning finger. The barber stepped back. Grandpa took a deep breath, whipped out his handkerchief and coughed. "With you around," quipped the barber, "who needs opera singers?" so it went, and Grandpa went right along with it. Coughing—a jolly subject, and so harmless.

Harmless?

"Some of the airways may be obstructed...the walls of the tiny air spaces may tear." "Air flow is hampered, the lungs are endangered." Those are statements taken from recent pamphlets on Respiratory Diseases—diseases of the organs of breathing.

A persistent cough—one that lingers on and on or keeps coming back—is usually a sign of a chronic respiratory disease.

Emphysema, chronic bronchitis, lung cancer kill many thousands in the United States each year—no laughing matter. On the contrary, it's a matter of life and death. If you have a cough you can't shake off, see your doctor without delay.

Nixon on Primaries

Must Win Them All

By JACK BELL

AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon has told some Republican leaders he thinks he'll have to win all of the first four presidential primaries next year to keep alive his chance for the GOP presidential nomination.

In discussions with Republican governors whose support he has been seeking, the former vice president has made it clear he thinks only a surge in the primaries will make him a top contender in a convention he has predicted will be wide open.

The first four primaries include New Hampshire on March 12, Wisconsin on April 2, Indiana on May 7 and Nebraska on May 14. Two later primaries fall on May 28 in Oregon and June 4 in South Dakota.

In the first four of these contests, Nixon is regarded as holding an early lead over Michigan Gov. George Romney and others whose names may be on the ballot. Romney is a certain entry in New Hampshire if he tosses his hat into the ring at a scheduled Nov. 18 Michigan meeting.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who wants his state's favorite son designation, has said he will act to keep his name off the New Hampshire ballot. But a write-in campaign is being organized for him that could take votes away from Nixon.

Unless he changes his mind, Reagan will not sign the necessary disclaimer of presidential candidacy intention to get off the ballot in Wisconsin. This could split the conservative vote and give Romney a chance to top the balloting.

A small group is working for Reagan in Indiana, where Nixon's campaign manager has said his candidate's name will be put on the ballot. Romney may pass up Indiana and, unless he changes his mind, make only token campaign appearances in Nebraska.

If he could top the balloting in four states, Nixon evidently figures he could sustain a setback in Oregon and still maintain his momentum toward the nomination.

Politicians agree it is too early to chart the likely winner in Oregon. They feel, however, that as a West Coast governor, Reagan will have strong support in the state. Romney's strength there is untested.

Nixon carried Oregon, along with New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Indiana, Nebraska and South Dakota in his losing 1960 race for the presidency with John F. Kennedy. But eight years have made some changes that are difficult for the political strategists to compute.

Any primary sweep by Nixon would be calculated to erase the "can't win" label pinned on him after his 1962 defeat for governor in California. It also might influence party moderates to take a fresh look at where Nixon stands on the issues.

One GOP governor—who lists himself as a moderate but has withheld commitment to any candidate—said if Nixon wins the primaries and torpedoes Romney's chances, the moderates might well line up behind the former vice president as an alternative to Reagan.

Sahloff Promoted

Roger W. Sahloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sahloff, 143 Third Avenue, has been promoted to the rank of Air Force Sergeant. Sgt. Sahloff is serving a three-year tour of duty in Germany.

People in The News

Happy Conductor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Conductor Leopold Stokowski was both surprised and happy by a unique demonstration after he finished conducting the Philadelphia Orchestra in Gustav Mahler's Resurrection Symphony.

As the symphony ended Saturday night, from the amphitheater up near the rafters two 15-foot green banners, printed with red letters reading "Bravo Mahler" and "Bravo Stokowski," were unfurled.

The 85-year-old Stokowski first stared at the banners amid cheering and applause by more than 2,900 persons. Then he smiled, waved, and left the stage to the accompaniment of further applause.

Heads Sky Chefs

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert J. Caverly, Hilton Hotels Corp. executive vice president, has been named board chairman of Sky Chefs, Inc., American Airlines' hotel-restaurant subsidiary, it was announced over the weekend.

Caverly has been with the Hilton organization for 20 years. He also was executive vice president of Statler Hilton Inc., and president and director of Hilton Service Corp.

His appointment to Sky Chefs was announced by C.R. Smith, American's chairman.

Adds Monkey

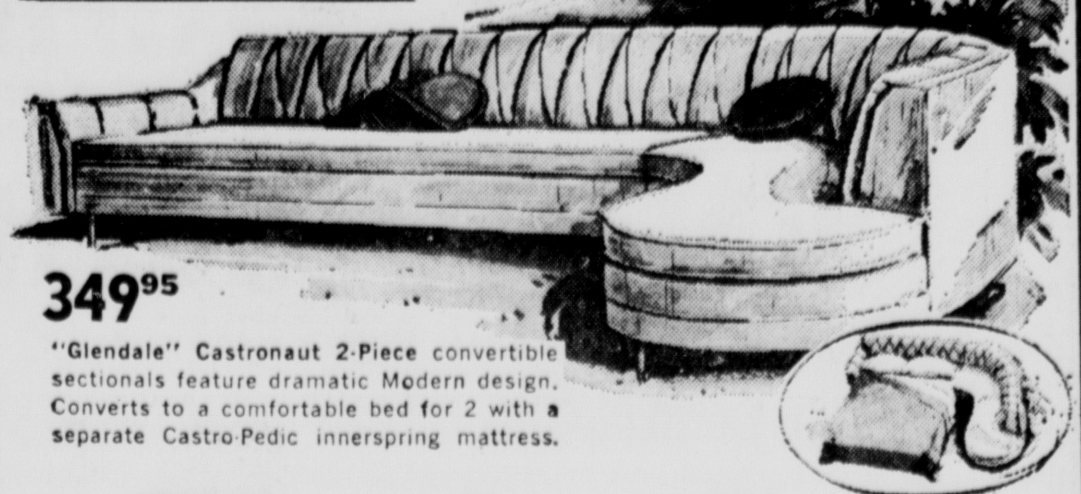

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Patrick O'Connor, who bagged a billy goat on Wall Street last Friday, added a monkey to his animal collection Sunday.

O'Connor, 6-foot-5 and weighing 260-pounds, captured the stray goat after a chase down the East River Drive. He caught up with it in front of the New York Stock Exchange.

Sunday, he was one of six officers replying to a report of a monkey on a fourth-floor terrace of an apartment in the Chelsea district of Manhattan.

O'Connor followed the monkey to ground level, then over a seven-foot fence and into an apartment in the next building. He put the animal into a cloth sack and sent it to an animal shelter.

Ike Says All 'Birds' Think Of GI's in Viet

NEW YORK (AP) — Thanks to peaceniks, doves and hawks in America, the U.S. fighting man in Vietnam knows "darned well no one has forgotten him" and his morale is higher than ever.

That's the theory forwarded Friday night by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the commander of allied forces in Europe during World War II.

In the past, Eisenhower said in an interview filmed for a 25th reunion dinner of the Stars and Stripes newspaper, it was supposed that it was "those fine letters from home" that kept up morale among the troops.

Now the soldiers "feel they're keeping up our morale, and I think that makes it all the better," Eisenhower said.

The Eisenhower "bull session" with four former staff members of the newspaper for servicemen overseas was the highlight of the reunion, which brought men from all parts of the United States and some foreign countries.

Joe Charges 'Unholy Alliance' Of Farm Bureau, Radical Right

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today charged the Farm Bureau with "forming an unholy alliance" with the radical right wing in an attempt to politically indoctrinate our rural youth.

He further charged that the vehicle for transmission of the "ultra right wing propaganda is a series of Farm Bureau sponsored youth conferences—citizenship seminars or 'freedom forums' as they are often called—and that the target of this activity is the nation's youth.

"Through its tremendous communications - distribution network and economic reserves, the Farm Bureau has created a ready-made network of channels that reach directly and deeply into the heart of rural America," Resnick said, adding, "In about 15 states, it is using this to propagate an extremist, reactionary economic and political philosophy to a whole generation of young farm leaders in the guise of 'citizenship' and 'patriotism'—and the taxpayer is picking up a good part of the bill."

The Ellenville Democrat declared that the Farm Bureau "employs the most experienced and articulate spokesmen to expound these theories and to entice our rural youth into accepting their point of view," he continued.

"These targets are generally high school juniors and seniors, hand-picked for their intelligence and leadership qualities. Very often, school principals are used as unwitting tools to help in the selection of students."

12 Arrested In Buffalo Drug Raid

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Twelve young men faced police charges today in the wake of a raid on a Buffalo apartment by local, state and federal narcotics investigators.

Ten other persons, including seven women college students, were released without charge after the raid early Sunday.

One of the accused, Leon Phipps, 18, was charged with possession of marijuana. The others were charged with disorderly conduct. Police said Phipps, described as a student at the State University at Buffalo, occupied the apartment.

A small quantity of marijuana was seized, they said. The apartment is at 32 Oxford Ave.

WHAT WOULD UPTOWN KINGSTON BE WITHOUT KINGSTON PLAZA?

The Plaza has built three roads (Plaza Road, Westbrook Lane and Converse Street), a 2300 car parking lot, installed its own sewage, water, and drainage lines, fire hydrants, fire alarm and sprinkler systems, road and parking lot lights. The Plaza also provides its own garbage removal, snow removal, street and parking lot cleaning forces. In short, Kingston Plaza devotes 75% of its total space to free customer parking and similar non-income producing use which benefits the community at large as well as the shopping center itself.

The continuation of a fair and progressive administration is essential to the completion of the Plaza complex.

Unfounded charges against an enterprise such as Kingston Plaza will not help, and do, in fact, destroy the image of the City of Kingston as a forward-looking and progressive community.

Ike Says All 'Birds' Think Of GI's in Viet

NEW YORK (AP) — Thanks to peaceniks, doves and hawks in America, the U.S. fighting man in Vietnam knows "darned well no one has forgotten him" and his morale is higher than ever.

That's the theory forwarded Friday night by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, the commander of allied forces in Europe during World War II.

In the past, Eisenhower said in an interview filmed for a 25th reunion dinner of the Stars and Stripes newspaper, it was supposed that it was "those fine letters from home" that kept up morale among the troops.

Now the soldiers "feel they're keeping up our morale, and I think that makes it all the better," Eisenhower said.

The Eisenhower "bull session" with four former staff members of the newspaper for servicemen overseas was the highlight of the reunion, which brought men from all parts of the United States and some foreign countries.

Joe Charges 'Unholy Alliance' Of Farm Bureau, Radical Right

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today charged the Farm Bureau with "forming an unholy alliance with the radical right wing in an attempt to politically indoctrinate our rural youth."

He further charged that the vehicle for transmission of the "ultra right wing propaganda is a series of Farm Bureau sponsored youth conferences—citizenship seminars or 'freedom forums' as they are often called—and that the target of this activity is the nation's youth."

"Through its tremendous communications—distribution network and economic reserves, the Farm Bureau has created a ready-made network of channels that reach directly and deeply into the heart of rural America," Resnick said, adding, "In about 15 states, it is using this to propagate an extremist, reactionary economic and political philosophy to a whole generation of young farm leaders in the disguise of 'citizenship' and 'patriotism'—and the taxpayer is picking up a good part of the bill."

The Ellenville Democrat declared that the Farm Bureau "employs the most experienced and articulate spokesmen to expound these theories and to entice our rural youth into accepting their point of view," he continued.

Claiming that "each County Farm Bureau unit is told to select two to three top students, whom it sponsors," Resnick said that the "cost of sponsoring each student is generally underwritten by the County Farm Bureau alone—with tax-exempt funds—or in cooperation with local businessmen or civic groups, like the local chamber of commerce."

Resnick further declared that Farm Bureau speakers include: "Dr. George Benson, . . . who is now president emeritus of Harding College (Searcy, Ark.) which is recognized as the academic center of the right wing. He served on the policy committee for 'For America' under the co-chairmanship of Dean Clarence Manion, a prominent John Birch Society leader.

"Dr. Clifton Ganus who has many of the credentials as Benson," and "W. Cleon Skousen, who often lectures for Fred Schwarz' Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, Project Alert, and other well-known forums of the far right . . . Congressman Resnick continued, "It is obvious that the Farm Bureau—directly or indirectly—has become a major supporter of rightwing activity in the U.S.," and, "The fact that the outstanding youth of large areas of our Nation are being systematically indoctrinated with untruthful, anti-government, extremist philosophy is a national disgrace."

New Leaflets on Careers

ALBANY, N. Y., November 3—Are you a little nervous as you prepare to apply for that first job? Does technical writing interest you as a career for women? How about engineering, or advertising? Or are you the independent type, who wants a small business of her own? If any of these possibilities intrigues you, write the New York State Commerce Woman's Program, which has just issued four new leaflets on "Job Horizons" and two on business ideas. In the career series are: "Pointers on How to Apply for That All-Important First Job," "Careers for Women in Technical Writing," "Careers for Women in Technical Writing," "Careers for Women in Engineering," and "Advertising as a Career for Women." Two leaflets added to the "Business Service" series are: "... On the Joys and Sorrows of Running a Gift Shop," and "Home Secretary Service."

In "Pointers on How to Apply for That All-important First Job," Miss Allalee A. Babbidge, vice-president and director of personnel, Marine Midland Trust Company of Western New York, Buffalo, stresses the importance of first impressions, and includes a suggested outline for a resume, which may often be a necessary part of a job application. Be neat and well-groomed at your interview, Miss Babbidge urges, and show interest and enthusiasm for the job and the company.

If you have a scientific background and like to sell or promote, then perhaps a career in technical writing is for you, suggests Mrs. Florence R. Smith, Section Head, Hazeltine Corporation, Little Neck, N. Y. Openings are waiting in both industry and government, and as our society grows more technically oriented, the number of such positions will increase, Mrs. Smith notes. A good engineering background with training in technical writing, through special courses or a degree, is a good foundation for this career.

"Creative, intellectually stimulating and financially rewarding—a profession which has, so far, been ignored by women" is how Mrs. Anna Longobardo, Research Section Head, Sperry Gyroscope Company, Great Neck, N. Y., describes engineering as a career for women. Mrs. Longobardo explains the functions of each of the five main branches of engineering—chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical and mining and metallurgical—and points out that today most engineering is done at a desk or in a laboratory.

The "what, where, who, why and how" of advertising is the subject of Miss Lucene Fergus, president, Lucene Fergus, Ltd., New York City, and member of Advertising Women of New York, in "Advertising as a Career for Women," the fourth of the new Job Horizons pamphlets. The variety of forms of advertising and the myriad careers in the field make interesting reading. Miss Fergus outlines the recommended preparation for a career in advertising and offers additional sources of information.

Have you thought of opening a gift shop to "retire to"? Miss Ruth Jones, co-owner of "My Sister and I" gift shop, Malone, N. Y., speaking with the voice of 25 years' experience, recommends that you "think again!" As qualifications for the woman owner of a gift shop, Miss Jones suggests the following—strong back and good feet; muscle; nimble wits; taste; and a healthy sense of humor. Sufficient capital and a simple but workable system of bookkeeping are other musts.

A checklist of questions for those women who are interested in beginning a home secretary service is provided by Mrs. Clorinda Rivette, secretary to Deputy Commissioner Guin Hall of the New York State Commerce Woman's Program, New York City. Prepared in cooperation with the Department's business consultant, the leaflet tells what is required to set up such a business, how to establish where and how to get business, and rules and regulations that must be investigated. Mrs. Rivette includes ten useful tips for a successful home secretary.

Both Miss Babbidge and Mrs. Longobardo are members of the New York State Woman's Council, appointed by Governor Rockefeller to advise the Woman's Program on career and business matters. For any of these booklets, write to the Woman's Program offices at 230 Park Avenue, New York City 10017 or 112 State Street, Albany 12207 or make an appointment for a free consultation with a Woman's Program business consultant, at either office.

The Mature Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Don't Waste Christian Kindness on 'Wolves'

DEAR MR. LAWRENCE: As a child, other children made fun of my shabby clothes. Now 27, I'm divorced from the father of my two children—an abusive man who could not tell the truth. In the office where I work I have to struggle with cruelty and dishonesty. I can feel the malice in the gossip about me that goes on among the women in my office. I'm sophisticated enough to know that it's some weakness in me which keeps attracting cruelty. My parents taught me that Christian kindness was part of being human...

ANSWER: They also taught you that this virtue would gain you the great big lollipop of other's appreciation, didn't they?

I get so many letters like yours from disheartened young people that I'm going to write about this problem in this and two columns to follow.

Let's begin by imagining that you and I had space-traveled to a planet in another galaxy. We would be prepared to meet non-humans, wouldn't we? If we ran into werewolf packs, we would not be too surprised. We would say, "Ah, so werewolves are the fauna of this alien planet! Well, let's use our werewolf repellent, hide behind this rock till they lose our scent and get back to our spaceship as quickly as possible."

Your first problem is your notion that you are living in an always-human place. You're no longer children in protected homes where mommies and daddies gave you lollipops of appreciation for your kindness. You're adults required to survive in an often alien place whose apparent humans are constantly transforming themselves into wolves. So we have to be rather careful about running out to them with Christian kindness. The wolves can't use this human virtue. Nor is it just I who say this. Jesus said it, too, to those students of his who were about to dash out to offer kindness to any creature they encountered, "I send you forth... among wolves."

I'm going to have more to say about what's needed to survive with wolves. In the meantime, you might try to acquaint yourself with the wolf in your self. We've got to recognize this snarling beastliness in us if we are to recognize him in other people. We must recognize the other wolf quickly enough to hide behind that rock before he catches our scent and tries to tear us to pieces. First, it's awareness of your own wolf you need.

Tiny Tips

Prefreeze Cake Icing

Before freezing an iced cake, place it in the freezer for about 15 minutes to set the icing. Remove and wrap the cake in clear plastic wrap. Put it back in the freezer until you plan to serve it.

Serve corned beef or tongue with crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce topped with a mixture of sour cream, chopped pickles, green onion and horseradish.

Grind in electric blender 1 cup fresh cranberries, 1 cored apple and sections of 1 orange. Add sugar to taste and toss with chunks of western iceberg lettuce.

Spread crosscut slices of western iceberg lettuce with bottled green goddess dressing and top with overlapping slices of avocado and red-skinned apple.

Mrs. Ruth Harper Is Guest Speaker

District No. 111, New York State Nurses' Association, has announced that Mrs. Ruth W. Harper will be guest speaker at the annual membership dinner scheduled for Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at Reggie's Inn, New Paltz.

As executive director of District No. 14, a large metropolitan area which encompasses Brooklyn and Long Island, Mrs. Harper has been a champion of nurses, striving to improve the professional and economic goals of her fellow nurses. Prior to her present appointment she has held positions as staff nurse, head nurse, supervisor, instructor, assistant director of a School of Nursing, and director of the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn School of Nursing.

Some of the state committees on which she has served include chairman of Economic Security Committee and chairman of Special Committee on Study of ANA Functions.

On the national level, Mrs. Harper is now on the committee for membership promotion. She has served as committee member and chairman of many programs for the state and national Nursing Association.

All professional nurses of Greene and Ulster Counties are invited to this membership rally.

MRS. RUTH HARPER

St. Peter's Mothers' Club

The regular meeting of St. Peter's Mothers' Club will be held Wednesday, November 8, at the school hall on Adams Street at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Joan Ann Mahoney, President of the Community Volunteers of the Aged, will be the guest speaker. Members and their friends are cordially invited.

FUTURE NURSES — More than 150 seniors and counselors from 14 high schools in eastern New York state attended open house at the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing for students. Pictured are (L-R) Miss Valerie Nagy, Fallsburg High School senior, Miss Margaret Sass, a Kingston Hospital School of Nursing student; Mrs. Roger Strout, R.N., instructor in nursing and chairman of the open house committee, and Miss Nance Willis, Pine Plains High School student. The program included tours of the hospital, viewing of exhibits, films and conferences (Powell photo).

Tiny Tips

Prefreeze Cake Icing

Before freezing an iced cake, place it in the freezer for about 15 minutes to set the icing. Remove and wrap the cake in clear plastic wrap. Put it back in the freezer until you plan to serve it.

Serve corned beef or tongue with crisp wedges of western iceberg lettuce topped with a mixture of sour cream, chopped pickles, green onion and horseradish.

Grind in electric blender 1 cup fresh cranberries, 1 cored apple and sections of 1 orange. Add sugar to taste and toss with chunks of western iceberg lettuce.

Spread crosscut slices of western iceberg lettuce with bottled green goddess dressing and top with overlapping slices of avocado and red-skinned apple.

AAUW Group Opposes 1967 Constitution

The New York State Division of the American Association of University Women has declared its opposition to the proposed 1967 Constitution because of certain educational articles and the fact that it is being presented to the voters as a package.

Mrs. Robert T. Morrison, president of the 9,500-member non-partisan organization, said that the decision to oppose the document had been reached at a two-day meeting of the State Board of Directors in Syracuse. Previously members had studied 14 articles and an Opinion Poll was conducted during May and June. The strongest opposition was on the educational articles. Membership in the 85-year-old organization is not invitational, but open to any woman holding a baccalaureate or higher degree from an accredited institution. This stand represents a cross-section of women in 62 communities of all races, creeds, and political affiliation.

The New York Division AAUW stand was based fundamentally upon disapproval of the Constitution to:

—order the Legislature to provide for a system of higher education which may include free tuition, grants, scholarships, and loans.

—does not clearly define future Legislative actions as regards aid to sectarian schools and aid to non-sectarian private schools.

—does not permit fiscal independence of the "big-six" school districts.

Mrs. Morrison stated that it is regrettable that the Constitution will be presented as a single package vote. There are other articles which members approve and would otherwise work for their adoption.

Formula for Royal Working Clothes Noted

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

Though he will discuss every detail of his men's wear line, British designer Hardy Amies loyally but tactfully refuses to enter any discussions regarding the wardrobe or personal taste of his most important client, the Queen of the British Empire. Amies shares the title of couturier to the queen with another well-known British designer, Norman Hartnell.

"Designing for royalty is really making working clothes to certain specification," he says. These are:

1. The outfit must be different from any other likely to be worn at the time, though it must certainly be appropriate.

2. The garment should free the royal wearer to handshake, wave, and accept bouquets.

3. Though skirts must be a stylish length, the designer must keep in mind how they will behave on yachts, and windy places, while the wearer is seated on speaker's platforms, or climbing in and out of vehicles.

4. The over-all visual effect must be kept in mind, though the photographics of a costume are not of primary importance.

5. And, as with any other client, the designer must keep in mind the most flattering lines and hues, as well as the likes and dislikes of the Very Important Wearer.

Doing the Right Thing

ADVANTAGE OF HARNESSES FOR TODDLERS

I have printed several letters in favor of harnesses for toddlers, but have neglected those who wrote against them. The following letter, which has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week, presents a convincing case for the opposite side. I do not happen to feel that, when properly used, a harness does any psychological damage, but I do recommend that any reader who is warned about that aspect, consult her pediatrician before deciding on its use.

Dear Mrs. Post: I had a neighbor who did as Mrs. Salemm suggested and tied her child to a clothesline. The child was constantly becoming tangled, hit every child that came within his range, and the moment he was released, ran like mad into the street.

From the time my children could crawl, I set natural limits for them. The ends of the sidewalks were the boundary. One step over and they were punished. I was very consistent in this punishment. There were no exceptions allowed. Now I can leave my daughter in the yard and know that she will remain there. I have seen her playmates run into the alley and she will stand on the line looking longingly, calling them to return, but never taking one step into forbidden territory.

They have learned an inner discipline that will be important in building their character as adults. The momentary advantage Mrs. Salemm has gained is far offset by the psychological damage she is doing.

—Mrs. T. K. O'Leary

One Can't Ignore A Proffered Hand

Dear Mrs. Post: Some friends came to see us whom we hadn't seen in quite some time. When I came into the room to greet them, the man extended his hand for me to shake. I went to the woman, daughter, and son as I greeted them in this order, and then I shook hands with the man. Should I have shaken hands with the man first?—Edith

Dear Edith: Had none of them made a gesture, the proper order of greeting would have been mother, daughter, father, and son. But when the father extended his hand, you should not have ignored it to greet the others first. It surely made him feel uncomfortable, and this is directly contrary to the aims of good etiquette.

When A Brother Gives The Bride Away

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is going to give his sister away at her wedding as his father is deceased. I would like to know whom he should sit with in church and whom should he escort on the way out of church—his mother or me.—Mrs. Wright

Dear Mrs. Wright: Since your husband is taking the place of his father for the occasion, he should sit with his mother in the front pew. There is no reason you should not be seated there, too. It is perfectly correct to have close family members sit with the bride's mother. Your mother-in-law should be escorted out by the head usher, and you and your husband, together, follow directly behind her.

A Sitter for A 22-Year Old?

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a daughter who is 22 years old and doesn't care to go out on dates because she can't find what she wants in a good man. Now, we have as a family friend, a male bachelor of 42 years. She calls him her best friend. When her Dad and I go out, she wants him to stay with her and act as her baby sitter. Do you think at her age she needs a baby sitter? I told her that this is wrong as it will cause gossip among the neighbors, and also that she is inviting trouble. She says I worry too much.—Mrs. F.

Dear Mrs. F.: Your daughter is old enough to know what she wants, but she's too old for a baby sitter. I don't know what her intentions are toward this man, but you're right—she not only will cause gossip, but she'll be in trouble if he goes on spending so much time alone with her under the guise of "baby sitting." I believe this is a sincere letter and not a "put-on."

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Everytime I threw out one of those nice coffee cans with its plastic cover, I felt it was wasteful.

Now I save each one, cover it with contact paper and put it away in a box. When Christmas comes, I will decorate the cans with sequins, beads, braid, ribbons, gold seals, etc. Then, instead of wrapping presents, I will "can" all my small gifts!

Lingerie, costume jewelry, handkerchiefs, small toys, all can be popped in a can. The usual costly wrappings won't end up in the incinerator.

Mrs. Jay Chervis

This is a darling way to send or give small Christmas presents. Just think of the many uses the recipient will have for those beautifully decorated coffee cans later on. Bet not a one will be thrown away.

Now is the time to start saving them. Christmas will be here before you can jingle a reindeer bell.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: Many babies are said to have cradle cap because mothers are afraid of washing their baby's head.

I use a baby hairbrush and a gentle scrubbing motion and now don't even have to worry.

Nancy Gibson

Dear Heloise: My family is mad for the garlic bread we get at our local Italian restaurants. They can't understand why I have not been able to duplicate it at home.

Even though my kitchen is stocked with fresh garlic, garlic juice and garlic salt, I either get too much or too little mixed with the soft butter. Please tell me the secret to it all.

Mrs. R. Evans

I'm sure many of you have a special way to fix this bread, so why don't you pick up that pencil and write to me in care of this paper and let's see if we can't help Mrs. Evans.

Sure would love to hear from you.

Heloise
P. S. As Eugs Baer, the Dean of Humorists, once said: "There's no such thing as a little garlic."

Dear Heloise: My daughter brought this hint home from kindergarten: If a cardigan sweater or jacket has no loop to hang it up on, just put the top button hole over the hook.

Rita Anne Zellner

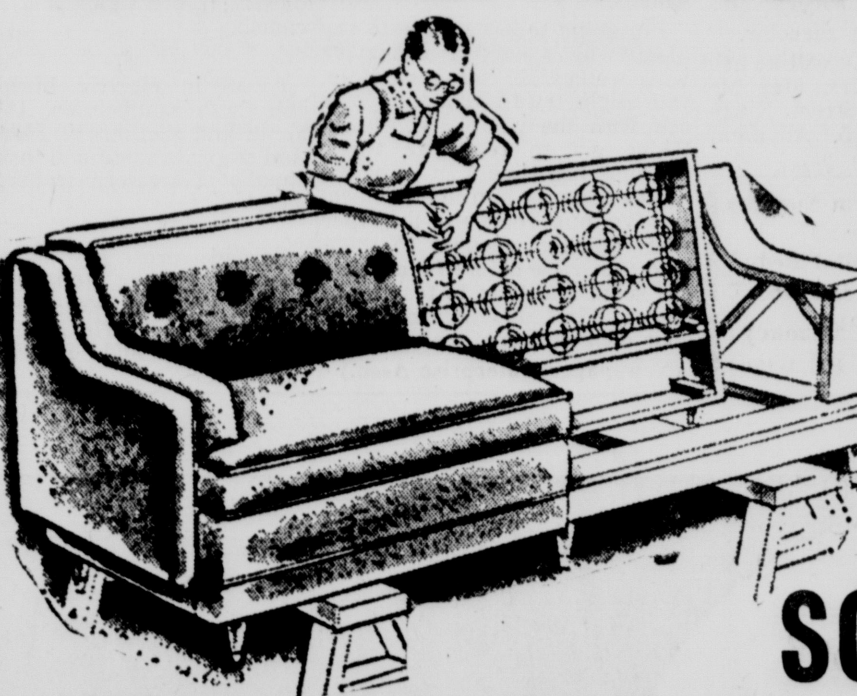

Dear Heloise: If your metal stove vent hood is yellow from smoke and grease, just take a rag and some bleach and wipe the grime right off. It cleans like magic!

Japanese Working Women Organizing

TOKYO (AP) — An association of single, working women over 30 years old has been formed in Tokyo.

Its purpose: "To create a nation-wide organization to influence the government so such ladies will get assurance that life after they get old will be secure."

"The association is aimed at assisting these women, very much misunderstood and mistreated in our society," says Miss Sawako Okubo, 41, head of the association. "We are also entitled to happiness."

Miss Okubo says the life of unmarried Japanese working women, who number some 300,000, isn't necessarily happy, with such problems as loneliness, prejudice against 'old misses,' and early retirement ages imposed by companies.

In a society like Japan's, where women's emancipation progressed considerably but still hasn't reached a Western standard, remaining single after what Japanese generally consider marriageable age—about 20 years old or younger—is frowned upon.

Officials report an increasing dropout rate among these unmarried working women from their jobs due to various pressures in their private life.

"For the time being," Miss Okubo says, "we would like to hold regular meetings, while trying to gain membership, to have the chance of mutually discussing our problems. I'm sure such occasions will serve many purposes."

She thinks by sharing such problems, the women "will gradually be able to get rid of their complex that has affected them in many ways."

Look Here! Mrs. Homemaker

SPRING-FLOWERING BULBS

Even though Spring, 1968 seems a long way off, now is the time to prepare for color in your garden next spring. Early-flowering bulbs such as tulips, daffodils, crocuses, and hyacinths need to be planted soon. October is the best time to plant all of the spring-flowering bulbs but they may be planted until a deep frost.

While in most of the spring-flowering bulbs the flower bud is already formed in the bulb at the time it is planted in the fall, it is necessary to prepare the soil well if the bulb is to remain in vigorous condition for several years. Experimentation has proved that fertilizer added to the soil before the bulbs are planted increases growth. The improvement in growth is not evident until the second year when the bulbs that were fertilized at planting time maintain vigorous growth and large flower size, while those not fertilized tend to become smaller and poorer in quality. The two best fertilizer materials are well-rotted manure and a complete commercial fertilizer of the 5-10-5 formula. Use the well-rotted manure at the rate of 5 bushels to 100 square feet of surface area, and work it into the top eight inches of soil. It is important that the manure be well-rotted, for fresh manure may injure the bulbs. If you use a complete commercial fertilizer of the 5-10-5 or 6-12-6 grade, apply it at the rate of three pounds to 100 square feet of surface area and work it thoroughly into the top eight inches of soil.

Depth Important

The depth at which to plant bulbs is important. It has been found that the best depth to plant tulips and narcissi is with the tops of the bulbs four inches below the surface of the soil. With narcissi and daffodils it makes considerable difference with the future growth of the bulb, but tulips are somewhat more tolerant of unfavorable depths. In light sandy soils, plant tulips deeper than in heavy soils. With the smaller bulbs, plant the tops about two inches below the surface of the soil. Bulbs in this group are scillas, chiono-doxas, grape hyacinths, snowdrops, and any of the others that have a diameter of one inch or less. For a general rule, the amount of soil above the top of the bulbs should be about twice the diameter of the bulb. Plant the larger growing bulbs, such as tulips and daffodils, about eight inches apart. This gives the bulbs an opportunity to grow for two or three years before it is necessary for you to dig and divide them. Plant crocuses and grape hyacinths about four inches apart. Some of the smaller bulbs, such as winter aconite and scillas, should be placed from two to three inches apart. If you make a naturalized planting, place narcissi at least 10 inches apart and the small bulbs about 20 to a square foot. Grape hyacinths, scillas, chiono-doxas, snowdrops, and other small bulbs are much more effective planted in mass rather than individually.

Use for Dried Soups

Want to save yourself grating or mincing onion to add to a meat loaf mixture? Add dried onion soup just as it comes from the package. Two tablespoons of the mix will give good flavor to a pound of meat.

Chopped or sliced blanched almonds are a delightful addition to the dumplings that go atop a stew—chicken, veal or lamb. Fold the almonds into the dumpling mixture with a few swift strokes.

Mary and A Little Lamb

The lambs that lead the top designers to use fur as though it were the purest silk are very often South American beauties.

Lammoire, broadtail - processed lamb of fine quality, responds to the magic fingers of a couturier by following every imaginative suggestion. Not only in jewel-like black, back in fashion as a reaction to the past rainbow seasons, but also in chocolate brown, fawn tone, palido (a pale beige), champagne and navy.

The curly lambs are important once more on the fashion scene. One reason, of course, is the increased use of all fur in every area — from dresses to sportswear to coats and jackets. Another is the flat texture and easy drapability of lamb. These qualities make it ideal for the close-to-the-body silhouette so much in favor this season.

When trimmed with mink or sable, lamb can have the Russian look, another fashion embraced by designers this time around. Among the designers who have chosen to work with Lammoire are Pauline Trigere who has done a theater dress in this fur, trimmed with a satin bow-tied belt.

Alixandre created a dress and jacket in cafe color with white Lammoire contrast at the hem and neckline. And Samuel Raphael combined onyx-black broadtail-processed Argentine lamb with a swath of black-dyed mink, swinging diagonally from shoulder to hem.

This season the little lambs are fashion giants.

Simple but Different—Garlic Soup

Give her diamonds, buy her evening is over, she'll be purring anyway.

Now: get everything ready. Open the broth and the garbanzos and uncup the olive oil.

Take off about four or five cloves of garlic and peel them with a small paring knife. Find a pot — something smaller than a pail yet large enough to hold the quantity of the three cans you've opened. Don't bother hunting for a cover to fit — you won't need one.

Slice the garlic thin or chop it into small pieces. Now you're ready to cook.

Pour enough olive oil into the pot to amply cover the bottom. Turn the heat to medium; if you don't have an indicator on your stove that means halfway between off and high. When the oil is hot, drop the garlic in and please stand there and watch it. It should be browned, not burned. If the girl friend happens to be peeking, take the pot and swirl it once or twice during the browning process. It looks professional and it turns the garlic.

When the garlic is brown, pour in both cans of broth. Turn the heat up a bit and bring the broth to a boil; now drop in six ounces of the macaroni and stir a couple of times after it goes in. When the macaroni is done (reading the cooking instructions on the package for the time it should take — about 10 minutes — and check by tastily.

ing); pour in the garbanzos — liquid and all. When the soup comes to a boil again, turn off the heat.

Japanese Working Women Organizing

TOKYO (AP) — An association of single, working women over 30 years old has been formed in Tokyo.

Its purpose: "To create a nationwide organization to influence the government so such ladies will get assurance that life after they get old will be secure."

"The association is aimed at assisting these women, very much misunderstood and mistreated in our society," says Miss Sawako Okubo, 41, head of the association. "We are also entitled to happiness."

Miss Okubo says the life of unmarried Japanese working women, who number some 300,000, isn't necessarily happy, with such problems as loneliness, prejudice against 'old misses,' and early retirement ages imposed by companies.

In a society like Japan's, where women's emancipation progressed considerably but still hasn't reached a Western standard, remaining single after what Japanese generally consider marriageable age—about 20 years old or younger—is frowned upon.

Officials report an increasing dropout rate among these unmarried working women from their jobs due to various pressures in their private life.

"For the time being," Miss Okubo says, "we would like to hold regular meetings, while

She thinks by sharing such problems, the women "will gradually be able to get rid of their complex that has affected them in many ways."

SPRING-FLOWERING BULBS

Even though Spring, 1968 seems a long way off, now is the time to prepare for color in your garden next spring. Early-flowering bulbs such as tulips, daffodils, crocuses, and hyacinths need to be planted soon. October is the best time to plant all of the spring-flowering bulbs but they may be planted until a deep frost.

While in most of the spring-flowering bulbs the flower bud is already formed in the bulb at the time it is planted in the fall, it is necessary to prepare the soil well if the bulb is to remain in vigorous condition for several years. Experimentation has proved that fertilizer added to the soil before the bulbs are planted increases growth. The improvement in growth is not evident until the second year when the bulbs that were fertilized at planting time maintain vigorous growth and large flower size, while those not fertilized tend to become smaller and poorer in quality. The two best fertilizer materials are well-rotted manure and a complete commercial fertilizer of the 5-10-5 formula. Use the well-rotted manure at the rate of 5 bushels to 100 square feet of surface area, and work it into the top eight inches of soil. It is important that the manure be well-rotted, for fresh manure may injure the bulbs. If you use a complete commercial fertilizer of the 5-10-5 or 6-12-6 grade, apply it at the rate of three pounds to 100 square feet of surface area and work it thoroughly into the top eight inches of soil.

Depth Important

The depth at which to plant bulbs is important. It has been found that the best depth to plant tulips and narcissi is with the tops of the bulbs four inches below the surface of the soil. With narcissi and daffodils it makes considerable difference with the future growth of the bulb, but tulips are somewhat more tolerant of unfavorable depths. In light sandy soils, plant tulips deeper than in heavy soils. With the smaller bulbs, plant the tops about two inches below the surface of the soil. Bulbs in this group are scillas, chiono-doxas, grape hyacinths, snow drops, and any of the others that have a diameter of one inch or less. For a general rule, the amount of soil above the top of the bulbs should be about twice the diameter of the bulb.

Use for Dried Soups

Want to save yourself grating or mincing onion to add to a meat loaf mixture? Add dried onion soup just as it comes from the package. Two tablespoons of the mix will give good flavor to a pound of meat.

Chopped or slivered blanched almonds are a delightful addition to the dumplings that go atop a stew—chicken, veal or lamb. Fold the almonds into the dumpling mixture with a few swift strokes.

JOHN JOSEPH COOK, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cook, 200 Downs Street, Kingston, a June graduate of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, is attending Fordham University as the recipient of a New York State Regents scholarship. He has been elected to the Student Council at Fordham and has made the Freshman basketball squad. An honor student at Lourdes, where he received a National Merit letter of scholastic commendation and was a member of the basketball team, he is majoring in law at Fordham.

For more information on spring-flowering bulbs a bulletin entitled "The Culture of Spring-Flowering Bulbs" will prove helpful. Another bulletin entitled "Bulbous Plants for Indoor Bloom" will give suggestions for forcing bulbs such as tulips and hyacinths to bloom indoors this winter. Both of these bulletins may be obtained from the Ulster County Cooperative Extension, Home Economics Division, 74 John Street, UPO Box 545, Kingston.

White Plains Tops Middletown, 23-13

White Plains, the pride of Westchester County, gave home-standing Middletown a pair of second period touchdowns and then stopped the home side cold the rest of the way to register a 23-13 non-league win Saturday at Wilson Field.

In handing the home side its second straight setback, the visitors scored three touchdowns and had Jim Moss boot a 35 yard field goal.

Coach Dick Wolslayer's eleven was in front briefly in the second quarter when Dick Field ran four yards and kicked the extra point. This offset a first period score by the visitors.

The other Middle score came on Bill Clemmer's 14 yard pass to Charlie Thomas. Field's extra point made it a 13-13 game.

Moss booted his field goal just before halftime and then quarterback Jim Murray scored his second touchdown in the third quarter to put the contest out of reach.

The Middies were able to penetrate the tough White Plains defense for 37 yards. However, the losers did manage

Gary Luhmann Engineers Win

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Roosevelt riddled the Saugerties High pass defense for 154 yards and turned back the Sawyers, 21-14, in a DCSL thriller Saturday at the muddy SHS gridiron.

Quarterback Gary Luhmann completed 12 of 15 attempts as the Presidents did all their scoring in the first half and held off a belated rally by the home gridders.

Luhmann completed two key tosses in the opening period as the Presidents went 59 yards after putting the kickoff in play. Perry Drake, a hard driving halfback, bulled his way over for the score and Jody Kagan kicked the extra point.

Coach Fred Seither's Sawyers came storming back, much to the delight of the slim crowd, which watched under cloudy skies and scattered showers.

Turek Goes 37

The Sawyers moved 70 yards in five plays. Halfback Mike Turek rambled 37 yards for the score and quarterback John Wams kept the ball and carried it across for the tying point.

Luhmann used his arm to good advantage in the second quarter, leading the visitors to a pair of scores.

His 12-yard pass to Tom Rinaldi kept a 56-yard drive moving. The quarterback then hit Andy Johnson from the four and the Presidents went ahead for keeps. Kagan booted the second of his three extra points.

After stopping the home side, the winners stormed 80 yards for the winning score. Luhmann completed four passes in the nine play drive. His 22 yard toss to Dave Bethea put the pigskin only a yard away and Johnson took it across.

Konopka Scores

The Sawyer defense stiffened in the second half. In the fourth quarter, the home side marched 48 yards to make it a close contest. Halfback Tony Konopka scored from four yards out and Roger Praetorius ran for the extra point.

The Sawyers weren't able to mount another threat as time ran out with the ball in possession of the visitors near mid-field.

The Sawyers conclude their season Saturday at Beacon and must topple the Bulldogs to escape the cellar. Saugerties has a 1-6 mark for the season, the victory having come against Cardinal Farley.

Wappingers Tallies, 14-0, Finishes Unscored On Year

Climaxing the greatest season in the school's history, Wappingers scored its eighth straight shutout, 14-0, over a fired-up Our Lady of Lourdes eleven Saturday at Poughkeepsie's Riverview Field.

The triumph gave the Falls gridders no worse than a tie for the DCSL title. The winners can gain honors outright if Arlington topples Poughkeepsie this Saturday.

Coach Ken Lynn's point-happy Indians played a scoreless tie with Poughkeepsie in the season's opener. Then, in quick succession, the Fallsmen overpowered Cardinal Farley, 63-0; Roosevelt, 14-0; Beacon, 27-0; Saugerties, 46-0; Arlington, 21-0, and Lourdes.

The Warriors made it a tussle for a half and the clubs went off the field in a scoreless deadlock.

However, in the third quarter the Indians went 35 yards in seven plays after intercepting a pass. Quarterback Ed Bonnett fired three yards to Dan Sheppard for the score and Mike Guliano kicked the point after.

In the fourth period, the Indians marched 55 yards. Fullback Bill Gates climaxed the surge with a 22 yard slant and Guliano was again perfect with his placement.

The Warriors, who played a good ball control game in the first half, despite the weather conditions, couldn't mount an offense in the third and fourth quarters as they suffered their third consecutive shutout after opening the season with four straight victories.

Wappingers players will not await the outcome of the PHS-Arlington game to see if the championship belongs to them alone or if they have to share it with the Pioneers.

RVC-Liberty Tilt Today

The UCAL football title will be decided today with Liberty playing Rondout at the Stone Ridge gridiron and Ontario meeting Marlboro at the Southern Ulster field.

Both games were postponed Saturday because of rain. Rondout needs a victory to clinch the championship. Victories by Liberty and Marlboro will give the Redskins and Dukes a share of the title.

The RVC contest is listed at 3 o'clock while Ontario and Marlboro were scheduled to begin at 2 p. m.

Gary Collins, an all-National Football League choice at end, also does the punting for the Cleveland Browns.

Hot Stakes Run At Yonkers Oval

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While cold weather prevails over Upstate New York harness-racing tracks, the hot stakes program continues at Yonkers Raceway this week.

Saratoga Raceway and Batavia Downs, with three and four weeks, respectively, remaining in their seasons, have heated grandstand sections to offset the freezing temperatures outside. Both are sufficiently inland to avoid any of the snow squalls that hit snow belt areas this weekend.

Two events wind up the New York Sire Stakes at Yonkers Raceway. Four-year-old pacers, led by See Lucky, vie tonight, and 4-year-old trotters Tuesday night, each for a purse of $35,000.

Three-year-old colts and geldings meet for a $25,000 purse in the Westchester Pace at Yonkers Friday night. The race is a prep for the Cane Futurity, Romulus Hanover and Best of All are slated to start in both races.

White Plains Tops Middletown, 23-13

White Plains, the pride of Westchester County, gave home-standing Middletown a pair of second period touchdowns and then stopped the home side cold the rest of the way to register a 23-13 non-league win Saturday at Wilson Field.

In handing the home side its second straight setback, the visitors scored three touchdowns and had Jim Moss boot a 35 yard field goal.

Coach Dick Wolslayer's eleven was in front briefly in the second quarter when Dick Field ran four yards and kicked the extra point. This offset a first period score by the visitors.

The other Middle score came on Bill Clemmer's 14 yard pass to Charlie Thomas. Field's extra point made it a 13-13 game.

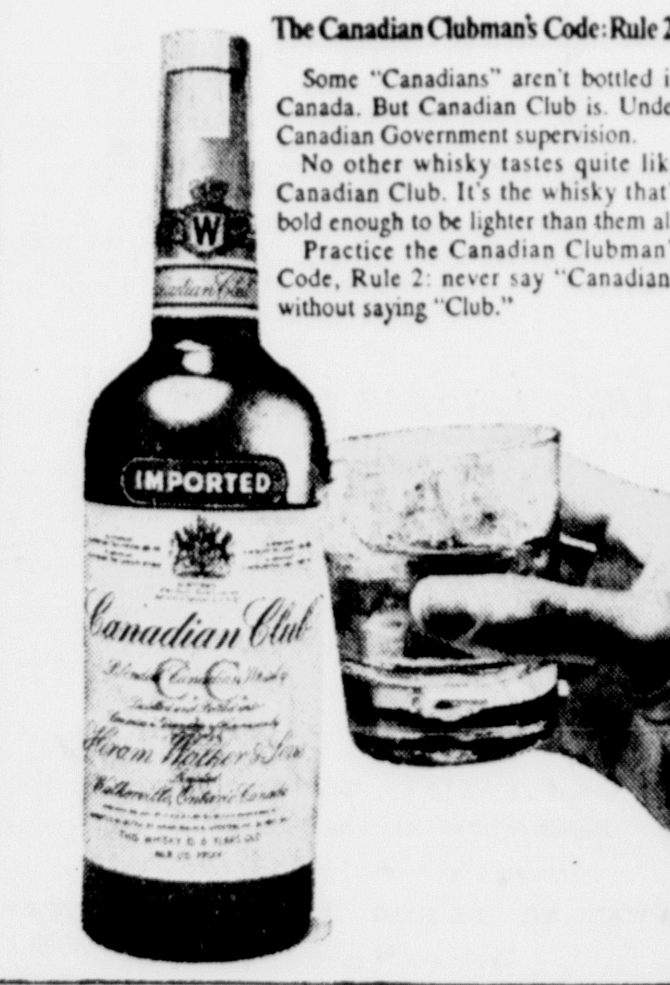

Moss booted his field goal just before halftime and then quarterback Jim Murray scored his second touchdown in the third quarter to put the contest out of reach.

The Middies were able to penetrate the tough White Plains defense for 37 yards. However, the losers did manage

Blue Sunday for Giants and Jets

It was a blue Sunday for both the New York Giants and New York Jets yesterday.

Fred Cox kicked a 13-yard field goal with 10 seconds left, capping a dramatic Minnesota rally that wiped out a 17-point deficit in the second half and gave the Minnesota Vikings a 27-24 victory over the Giants.

The Giants had gained an early lead as quarterback Fran Tarkenton hit end Homer Jones with touchdown passes of 66 and 45 yards. Tarkenton also connected with a 48-yarder to Aaron Thomas.

Conlin Cagers Check Pete's

Conlin Oil broke away from a 64-64 third period deadlock to hand Pete's Shell Station its first defeat in YMCA basketball competition, 91-79.

Gary Luhmann Engineers Win

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Roosevelt riddled the Saugerties High pass defense for 154 yards and turned back the Sawyers, 21-14, in a DCSL thriller Saturday at the muddy SHS gridiron.

Quarterback Gary Luhmann completed 12 of 15 attempts as the Presidents did all their scoring in the first half and held off a belated rally by the home gridders.

Luhmann completed two key tosses in the opening period as the Presidents went 59 yards after putting the kickoff in play. Perry Drake, a hard driving halfback, bulled his way over for the score and Jody Kagan kicked the extra point.

Coach Fred Seither's Sawyers came storming back, much to the delight of the slim crowd, which watched under cloudy skies and scattered showers.

Turek Goes 37

The Sawyers moved 70 yards in five plays. Halfback Mike Turek ramblled 37 yards for the score and quarterback John Wams kept the ball and carried it across for the tying point.

Luhmann used his arm to good advantage in the second quarter, leading the visitors to a pair of scores.

His 12-yard pass to Tom Rinaldi kept a 56-yard drive moving. The quarterback then hit Andy Johnson from the four and the Presidents went ahead for keeps. Kagan booted the second of his three extra points.

After stopping the home side, the winners stormed 80 yards for the winning score. Luhmann completed four passes in the nine-play drive. His 22 yard toss to Dave Bethua put the pigskin only a yard away and Johnson took it across.

Konopka Scores

The Sawyer defense stiffened in the second half. In the fourth quarter, the home side marched 48 yards to make it a close contest. Halfback Tony Konopka scored from four yards out and Roger Praetorius ran for the extra point.

The Sawyers weren't able to mount another threat as time ran out with the ball in possession of the visitors near mid-field.

The Sawyers conclude their season Saturday at Beacon and must topple the Bulldogs to escape the cellar. Saugerties has a 1-6 mark for the season, the victory having come against Cardinal Farley.

Wappingers Tallies, 14-0, Finishes Unscored On Year

Climaxing the greatest season in the school's history, Wappingers scored its eight straight shutout, 14-0, over a fired-up Our Lady of Lourdes eleven Saturday at Poughkeepsie's Riverview Field.

The triumph gave the Falls gridders no worse than a tie for the DCSL title. The winners can gain honors outright if Arlington topples Poughkeepsie this Saturday.

Coach Ken Lynn's point-happy Indians played a scoreless tie with Poughkeepsie in the season's opener. Then, in quick succession, the Fallsmen overpowered Cardinal Farley, 63-0; Roosevelt, 14-0; Beacon, 27-0; Saugerties, 46-0; Arlington, 21-0, and Lourdes.

The Warriors made it a tussle for a half and the clubs went off the field in a scoreless deadlock.

However, in the third quarter the Indians went 35 yards in seven plays after intercepting a pass. Quarterback Ed Bonnett fired three yards to Dan Sheppard for the score and Mike Guliano kicked the point after.

In the fourth period, the Indians marched 55 yards. Fullback Bill Gates climaxed the surge with a 22 yard slant and Guliano was again perfect with his placement.

The Warriors, who played a good ball control game in the first half, despite the weather conditions, couldn't mount an offense in the third and fourth quarters as they suffered their third consecutive shutout after opening the season with four straight victories.

Wappingers players will not await the outcome of the PHS-Arlington game to see if the championship belongs to them alone or if they have to share it with the Pioneers.

RVC-Liberty Tilt Today

The UCAL football title will be decided today with Liberty playing Rondout at the Stone Ridge gridiron and Ontarioa meeting Marlboro at the Southern Ulster field.

Both games were postponed Saturday because of rain.

Rondout needs a victory to clinch the championship. Victories by Liberty and Marlboro will give the Redskins and Dukes a share of the title.

The RVC contest is listed at 3 o'clock while Ontarioa and Marlboro were scheduled to begin at 2 p. m.

Hot Stakes Run At Yonkers Oval

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While cold weather prevails over Upstate New York harness-racing tracks, the hot stakes program continues at Yonkers Raceway this week.

Saratoga Raceway and Batavia Downs, with three and four weeks, respectively, remaining in their seasons, have heated grandstand sections to offset the freezing temperatures outside. Both are sufficiently inland to avoid any of the snow squalls that hit snow belt areas this weekend.

Two events wind up the New York Sire Stakes at Yonkers Raceway. Four-year-old pacers, led by See Lucky, vie tonight, and 4-year-old trotters Tuesday night, each for a purse of $35,000.

Three-year-old colts and geldings meet for a $25,000 purse in the Westchester Pace at Yonkers Friday night. The race is a prep for the Cane Futurity, Romulus Hanover and Best of All are slated to start in both races.

Poughkeepsie Rips Beacon Club, 38-0

Poughkeepsie High's infantry troops ran through the Beacon defense for 379 yards and enabled the Pioneers to demolish the Bulldogs, 38-0, in a DCSL mismatch Saturday at the Forbus Street gridiron.

Coach Don Smith's powerhouse has only to beat Arlington this Saturday to gain a share of the DCSL championship and finish the season with only that scoreless tie with Wappingers on its record.

Halfback Bill Green started the home side to its easy decision when he galloped 64 yards in the opening quarter. Green finished with 125 yards in 11 carries.

Green scored again late in the session to cap a 65 yard drive. He went 35 yards for the score and Ray Watkins made the extra point.

While the PHS line held the visitors without a first down in the opening half, the backfield got on the scoreboard in the second session as fullback Jake Ellis rambled over from the five.

Jake Ellis pounced on a Bulldog fumble on the 38 early in the third quarter and two plays later Charlie Ellis broke through tacklers for a 46 yard down scamper.

It was Jake's turn in the same session. He ripped through tackler for a 46 yard scamper.

Red Hook Defeats Millbrook, 25-7

Red hook clinched second place in the Bi-Valley League race with a 25-7 triumph Saturday at Millbrook.

Despite a sloppy field, the Hookers took to the air against the home side. Quarterback Ed Thompson completed nine of 17 attempts, good for 206 yards.

The Hookers swiped a pass in the second quarter and went 60 yards. Thompson tallied on a sneak from the one and tossed to Joe Burud for the extra point.

The Blazers came back. A blocked punt put the home side in business on the 40. Kevin Lysaght capped the drive with a slant from the three and Steve Wing booted the point.

Thompson tossed 16 yards to Burud for a touchdown just before intermission. Millbrook reached the five before losing the ball on downs.

The home side had another chance in the third quarter reaching the 15. However, an intercepted pass thwarted the bid.

Thompson led the visitors 85 yards to a third period score.

Port Wallops Albany, 27-6

Muddy Bleecker Stadium didn't hamper Port Jervis Saturday as the Raiders overpowered Albany, 27-6, in a non-league football tussle.

The once-beaten DUSO eleven did all its scoring in the second and third periods while holding the upstarters scoreless until the final moments of play.

Fullback Bill Laine ran 28 yards; halfback Mike Gould went in from the one; end Carl DeGroat scampered 10 yards after picking up a teammate's fumble and Garrett Hill slanted over from the three to account for the Raider touchdowns.

Gould ran for two extra points and quarterback Bill Gastmeyer took the ball in for the other.

The losers tallied against Port Jervis in the latter stages. They were held to minus yardage by the tough forward wall of the Raiders.

Port is now 5-1 for the season and has DUSO games with Newburgh Free Academy and Middletown remaining.

Highland Falls Tops Ellenville, 27-0

Mighty Highland Falls put a stop to Ellenville's offense and defeated the visitors, 27-0, in a non-league Saturday morning game at the Orange County gridiron.

While limiting the visitors to only four first downs and 93 yards running and passing, the home gridders picked up a touchdown in every quarter to coast to the victory.

Four different players shared scoring honors for the winners. Ellenville, staggering through the toughest schedule in its history, has dropped four straight and is now 2-5 for the season.

PINE BUSH — HD 1-30

Pine Bush scored in the first and fourth periods and stopped visiting New Paltz, 14-6, in the final UCAL contest of the season for both clubs Saturday at Pine Bush.

The home side, which finished in sixth place with a 2-5 record, tallied in the opening session after putting the kickoff in play on the 40.

A 29-yard run by Gary Sisco aided the drive with Sisco scoring from the five and Steve Sudol circling end for the extra point.

New Paltz stormed back to move 69 yards in seven plays. Halfback Larry Kenny's 52 yard run was the payoff. An attempt for the PAT failed.

Just before halftime, the Huguenots marched to the two but failed to penetrate the tough PB defense.

The winners clinched matters in the final period when Rod Greaves swiped a pass and ran 45 yards to paydirt. Sudol again made the extra point.

New Paltz had a wide edge in the statistics but didn't take advantage of their chances.

Still Unbeaten

Poughkeepsie Rips Beacon Club, 38-0

Poughkeepsie High's infantry troops ran through the Beacon defense for 379 yards and enabled the Pioneers to demolish the Bulldogs, 38-0, in a DCSL mismatch Saturday at the Forbus Street gridiron.

Coach Don Smith's powerhouse has only to beat Arlington this Saturday to gain a share of the DCSL championship and finish the season with only that scoreless tie with Wappingers on its record.

Halfback Bill Green started the home side to its easy decision when he galloped 64 yards in the opening quarter. Green finished with 125 yards in 11 carries.

Green scored again late in the session to cap a 65 yard drive. He went 35 yards for the score and Ray Watkins made the extra point.

While the PHS line held the visitors without a first down in the opening half, the backfield got on the scoreboard in the second session as fullback Jake Ellis rambled over from the five.

Jake Ellis pounced on a Bulldog fumble on the 38 early in the third quarter and two plays later Charlie Ellis broke through tacklers for a 46 yard down scamper.

It was Jake's turn in the same session. He ripped over running tackler for a 46 yard scamper.

Red Hook Defeats Millbrook, 25-7

Red hook clinched second place in the Bi-Valley League race with a 25-7 triumph Saturday at Millbrook.

Despite a sloppy field, the Hookers took to the air against the home side. Quarterback Ed Thompson completed nine of 17 attempts, good for 206 yards.

The Hookers swiped a pass in the second quarter and went 60 yards. Thompson tallied on a sneak from the one and tossed to Joe Burud for the extra point.

The Blazers came back. A blocked punt put the home side in business on the 40. Kevin Lysaght capped the drive with a slant from the three and Steve Wing booted the point. Thompson tossed 16 yards to Burud for a touchdown just before intermission. Millbrook reached the five before losing the ball on downs.

The home side had another chance in the third quarter, reaching the 15. However, an intercepted pass thwarted the bid.

Thompson led the visitors 85 yards to a third period score.

Port Wallops Albany, 27-6

Muddy Bleeker Stadium didn't hamper Port Jervis Saturday as the Raiders overpowered Albany, 27-6, in a non-league football tussle.

The once-beaten DUSO eleven did all its scoring in the second and third periods while holding the upstarts scoreless until the final moments of play.

Fullback Bill Lain ran 28 yards; halfback Mike Gould went in from the one; end Carl DeGroat scampered 10 yards after picking up a teammate's fumble and Garrett Hill slanted over from the three to account for the Raider touchdowns. Gould ran for two extra points and quarterback Bill Gastmeyer took the ball in for the other.

The losers tallied against Port reserves in the latter stages. They were held to minus yardage by the tough forward wall of the Raiders.

Port is now 5-1 for the season and has DUSO games with Newburgh Free Academy and Middletown remaining.

Highland Falls Tops Ellenville, 27-0

Mighty Highland Falls put a stop to Ellenville's offense and defeated the visitors, 27-0, in a non-league Saturday morning game at the Orange County gridiron.

While limiting the visitors to only four first downs and 93 yards running and passing, the home gridders picked up a touchdown in every quarter to coast to the victory.

Four different players shared scoring honors for the winners. Ellenville, staggering through the toughest schedule in its history, has dropped four straight and is now 2-5 for the season.

Muskies and Knicks Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The five players the Minnesota finished the game with were the best the Muskies had. In fact, they were the only ones they had.

There was no help on the bench at the end of the Muskies' American Basketball Association game against Anaheim Sunday night because two players were injured and three had fouled out.

But by the end of three quarters, the Muskies really didn't need much help. They led 88-67 and eventually won 119-92.

Les Hunter, Ron Peery and Don Freeman each scored 19 points as the Muskies won their fourth straight. Ben Warley led Anaheim with 22.

The New York Knickerbockers of the National Basketball Association also won their fourth straight, 115-107 over the San Diego Rockets.

Dick Barnett scored 22, Willis Reed 21, Howie Komives 19 and Dick Van Arsdale 17 for the Knicks, who came back from a 52-50 halftime deficit to outscore the Rockets 38-29 in the third quarter. Jim Barnett and Art Williams paced San Diego with 16 each.

There were no other games in either league.

Pine Bush Decisions New Paltz

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PINE BUSH — HD 1-30
Pine Bush scored in the first and fourth periods and stopped visiting New Paltz, 14-6, in the final UCAL contest of the season for both clubs Saturday at Pine Bush.

The home side, which finished in sixth place with a 2-5 record, tallied in the opening session after putting the kickoff in play on the 40.

A 29-yard run by Gary Sisco aided the drive with Sisco scoring from the five and Steve Sudol circling end for the extra point.

New Paltz stormed back to move 69 yards in seven plays. Halfback Larry Kenny's 52 yard run was the payoff. An attempt for the PAT failed.

Just before halftime, the Huguenots marched to the two but failed to penetrate the tough PB defense.

The winners clinched matters in the final period when Rod Greaves swiped a pass and ran 45 yards to paydirt. Sudol again made the extra point.

New Paltz had a wide edge in the statistics but couldn't take advantage of their chances.

Nevele Pride Scores Victory at Yonkers
YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Maybe Nevele Pride will break the Hambletonian jinx in 1968, for Stanley Dancer, one of the country's top harness racing drivers who never has won the blue ribbon classic for 3-year-old trotters.

"I sure hope so," Dancer said after he had reined Nevele Pride to an easy 3 1/2-length victory in the $100,000 E. Roland Harriman Trot at Yonkers Raceway Saturday night.

The victory in the premier event for 2-year-old trotters was Nevele Pride's eighth in a row and virtually wrapped up the title of champion 2-year-old trotter for 1967.

It also made Charlie Slutsky, master of Nevele Acres of Ellenville, N.Y., the owner of the colt who has won the most money of any 2-year-old standardbred. Nevele Pride now has won $222,913 with 26 victories and two seconds in 29 starts.

What a Difference a Year Makes

Unitas Wins Foot Race to Defeat Packers, 13-10

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Green Bay turned back the clock on Johnny Unitas, but Unitas turned the tables on the Packers.

Unitas, who fumbled away Baltimore's last hope for the 1966 National Football League title when the Packers caught him on the run, won a frantic fourth-down footrace in Sunday's rematch and then pitched the unbeaten Colts to a 13-10 comeback triumph over the defending NFL champs.

With less than two minutes to play and the Colts behind 10-6, Unitas, forced out of his pocket by the Packer rush, scrambled through a patch of daylight and picked up six vital yards for a first down on the Green Bay 23-yard line.

On the next play, the magnificent quarterback fired a touch-

Averages Defeat

Unitas' second TD pass in the final 2½ minutes — after rookie Rich Volk recovered Lou Michaels' onside kick — avenged a 14-10 loss to the Packers at Baltimore last Dec. 10 — a loss that eliminated the Colts from the Western Conference race.

In Sunday's other games, Los Angeles remained one game behind the Colts in the Coastal race by triumphing San Francisco 17-7; Cleveland buried Pittsburgh 34-14; St. Louis outscored Washington 27-21; New Orleans whipped Philadelphia 31-24 for its first NFL victory; Minnesota overtook New York 27-24 and Chicago bounced Detroit 27-13. The Packers stymied Unitas through three quarters and built a 10-0 lead on Don Chandler's 49-yard field goal and Bart Starr's 31-yard TD pass to Donny Anderson.

Unitas got the Colts back in the game on a 10-yard payoff pass to Alex Hawkins with 2:19 to go in the final period. Michaels flubbed the extra point conversion, then sliced a short kickoff. Volk fell on the ball at the Green Bay 34 and the Colts put over the winning touchdown with 1:28 on the clock.

"That's a heck of a way to lose," said Packers' Coach Vince Lombardi. "Especially when you know it's coming. We were set up for the kick, but we couldn't get it."

The Rams, 5-1-2, spotted San Francisco a 7-0 first quarter lead, then shut out the 49ers while quarterback Roman Gabirel led the counter-attack. Gabriel set up one touchdown with a 54-yard pass to Jack Snow and flipped three yards to Les Josephson for another score.

Frank Ryan, playing despite injuries for the eighth straight week, fired first quarter TD passes to Gary Collins and Leroy Kelly and guided Cleveland to a 31-7 third-period bulge over the Steelers before bowing out.

Wilson Intercepts

Larry Wilson intercepted a pass on his one-yard line and raced 44 yards to set up the first of two St. Louis scores in the final 15 minutes. Jim Hart followed Wilson's runback with a 55-yard pass to Jackie Smith before diving the last yard to put the Cards in front for good.

Walter "The Flea" Roberts bolted 91 yards with the opening kickoff for one touchdown, zipped 27 yards for another after picking up teammate Jim Taylor's fumble and scored a third on a 49-yard pass from Gary Cuzzo, leading New Orleans' expansion Saints out of a seven-game skid.

Fred Cox' 13-yard field goal with 10 seconds to play capped Minnesota's second half comeback against New York. The Giants squandered a 24-7 lead and fumbled away a chance for a tie-breaking FG less than two minutes before Cox booted the winner.

Dallas' Dan Reeves scored four touchdowns — two on passes from Don Meredith, who returned to action after a three-week layoff — as the Capitol Division leaders flattened the Falcons.

Gale Sayers scored on a 97-yard kickoff return and sped 63 yards to set up another touchdown, pacing the Bears to their second victory of the season over Detroit.

Los Angeles Kings Again Jolt the Establishment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Los Angeles' young Kings have pulled off another swift coup against the National Hockey League's Establishment.

The Kings, relegated to the expansion division cellar by most pre-season oracles, struck for five goals in the final period Sunday night and stunned the Detroit Red Wings 6-4.

It was the second victory in six starts against established clubs for the Kings, who beat Chicago 5-3 two weeks ago with a third-period rally.

Bill Flett, a 24-year-old NHL newcomer, registered a hat trick as Los Angeles came off the floor to flatten the Wings and move into first place in the West Division — two points ahead of idle Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere, Boston and Toronto battled to a 2-2 draw in a wild bloodbath on the Bruins' ice; Philadelphia held Montreal to a 1-1 standoff and California tied Chicago 2-2.

After Flett's second goal, early in the third period, 39-year-old Gordie Howe scored his second goal of the night and 10th in 12 games, giving the Red Wings a 4-2 edge.

Six-Minute Romp

But the visitors poured in four tallies in a six-minute burst to hand Detroit its third straight setback. Bryan Campbell scored at the 9:39 mark, Bill Inglis at 11:05 and defenseman Bill White at 14:25. Flett drilled his sixth goal of the season at 15:43, climaxing the flurry.

A second-period free-for-all mired the Bruins-Maple Leafs contest before Pete Stemkowski scored with less than three minutes to play in the final period, earning Toronto a tie.

Toronto's Brian Conacher touched off the brawl with a stray elbow that caught the Bruins' Bobby Orr on the bridge of his nose opening a three-stitch gash. Boston's John McKenzie jumped Conacher and Leafs' defenseman Allan Stanley went to his teammate's aid. Orr and Ken Hodge also pummeled Conacher as both benches emptied.

Hawaiian Golf Won by Wysong

HONOLULU (AP) — Dudley Wysong addresses a golf ball as if afraid it was going to hit him back.

He started the $100,000 Hawaiian Open Tournament playing so badly he said he wasn't sure where the ball was going after he hit it.

But when it came down to the final holes, the quiet Texan refused to fold under the bird pressure of veteran Billy Casper, and Wysong won the $20,000 first prize in a sudden death playoff.

Wysong and Casper finished the 72-hole tournament, played over the 7,000-yard Waialae course in brisk trade winds that made the coconut trees dance vigorously, tied at 284.

That was four under par for the four rounds.

Only four other players broke par, Doug Sanders, Babe Hickey, Deane Beman and Tom Weiskopf, who tied for the third spot with 287, three strokes behind the leaders.

Defending champion Ted Malena finished an even par 288, after an opening round 78. Arnold Palmer never got going and scored 72-74-74-72 — 292 for a 16th-place tie and $1,150.

The first prize check was Wysong's largest, and the victory only his second. He won the Phoenix Open last year.

Super Chiefs Overwhelm Jets 42-18

Garrett Romps For 192 Yards And Touchdown

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Kansas City Chiefs, pulled by their might little engine, appear on the track again and picking up steam, looking more and more like the Super Chiefs of 1966.

Still hopeful of another shot at the Super Bowl, the once-faltering American Football League defending champions ran over the New York Jets 42-18 Sunday after crushing Denver last Sunday.

The victory enable the Chiefs, 5-3, to hold their ground against Oakland and gain some against San Diego, the teams ahead of them in the Western Division.

Oakland raised its record to 7-1, but did not resemble any express in huffing and puffing by Denver 21-17. San Diego was idle.

In the other AFL contests, Boston kept Houston off the Jets' back by slowing down the Oilers 18-7, while Buffalo got back on the track against Miami 35-13.

Garrett in Gear

Kansas City lay sidetracked with a 3-3 record two weeks ago after two straight losses before Mike Garrett, their 5-foot-9, 190-pound dynamo, moved it into high gear.

Garrett, slowed by injuries earlier, gained 101 yards and scored twice against Denver and then steamed for 192 yards, a club record, and a TD against the Jets.

Oakland had a much tougher time against Denver. Tony Daryle Lamonica to Bill Miller TD passes and two George Blanda field goals provided a 21-7 Oakland lead late in the third quarter before the Broncos came alive.

A fumbled punt led to Denver's second score in the fourth quarter and an 11-yard punt gave the Broncos another chance at the Raider 21 midway through the session. But all they could salvage was a field goal, their last good shot.

"This was a long way from one of our better games," Oakland coach John Rauch admitted. "Still, we had it on offense and defense when we needed it."

Houston Misses

Houston, 4-3-1, missed its chance to tie the Jets as its vaunted defense held Boston to three Gino Cappelletti field goals and a safety until late in the final period, but could set up only one Oiler TD. That came after recovering a Boston fumble that led to a 45-yard scoring march that closed the gap to 11-7.

Buffalo, winning only the third time in eight tries, ran up its biggest point total of the season as Wray Carlton ran 15 times for 97 yards and two touchdowns. Billie Masters also caught Jack Kemp's two scoring passes, and Tom Janik ran an intercepted pass back 19 yards for the fifth TD.

Second Half Rout

Kickers Trounce Blues To Take Over G-A Lead

Kingston Sport Club Kickers exploded for six second half goals to overwhelm a tired Poughkeepsie Blue and White squad, 7-1, and take over the German-American League Division soccer lead Sunday at Oehler's.

With six wins, two ties and no losses, Coach Bob Graves' team leads with 14 points, one more than the runners-up Bavarian and Yonkers clubs, who have played nine games each.

Lee Roberts' first goal of the season a long boot that was misjudged by the Poughkeepsie goalie, gave Kingston a 1-1 tie in the first half.

The second half was a rout as Kingston stunned the large Poughkeepsie delegation. Tony Reinhardt's goal at 55 minutes sent the locals ahead, 2-1 and Richie Lotze made it 3-1 five minutes later.

All-America Gene Ventriglia blasted home two goals in succession — at 70 and 75 minutes. Elliott-Obie Asare drilled the fifth goal of the half at 85 minutes and Tony Reinhardt closed out the rout one minute from the finish.

"They were all bombs," said a happy Coach Graves describing the Kickers' second half assault. "Ventriglia and Asare demoralized the Poughkeepsie defense with their speed and acuity."

Ventriglia notched his 10th and 11th goals as the Kickers sent their season's total soaring to 37 in games, 4-plus average per contest.

Two other goals by Lotze and Reiner Schwebel were nullified by the referee. The Kingston forward line was impressive Sunday, but Poughkeepsie, dangerous in the first half, tired badly in the second half.

Kingston hosts Schwaben next Sunday at 2:30. In other league division action, the Kickers will play the Yonkers club at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

TRACY, Calif. (AP) — Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., won the 30-lap main event of the U.S. Auto Club sprint car races Sunday at Altamont Speedway with a record average speed of 90.76 miles per hour on the half-mile asphalt track.

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The listed world record of 195 feet 10½ inches in the women's discus throw held by Russia's Tamara Press was broken Sunday by Liesel Westermann of West Germany, with a toss of 201-7.

Stickles Injured, Career May Be Over

By ED PALLADINO

Monty Stickles' professional football career may have been ended Sunday at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

The ex-Poughkeepsie High star and Notre Dame All-America had his left forearm splintered in the first quarter against the Los Angeles Rams in a game won by the visitors, 17-7.

Stickles is in St. Mary's Hospital, San Francisco, and will be operated on Tuesday. He will have a metal plate inserted in his arm.

Through seven seasons with the 49ers in the National Football League, Stickles had never suffered a serious injury. He had knee trouble on several occasions but had played in almost every game during that time.

Prior to this season the big boy was an outstanding tight end, known primarily for his blocking ability. His seven year statistics showed 200 receptions and 14 touchdowns.

Rookie Bob Windsor, who was battling Stickles for the starting position this season, will replace the 6-4, 235-pound veteran.

Arlington Drops Cardinal Farley

Scoring at least once in each quarter, Arlington High warmed up to its showdown clash with unbeaten Poughkeepsie by whitewashing hapless Cardinal Farley Military Academy, 25-0, in a non-league tilt Saturday at the Rhinecliff gridiron.

Smarting from their loss to Wappingers the previous week, coach Frank King's Admirals had it nice and easy against the Cadets, who have gone three straight games without a point.

Pullback Dan Hardisty capped a 50 yard drive in the first session when he went in from the seven. He carried seven straight times in the surge.

A short punt led to a second period TD. The payoff was an eight yard pass from quarterback Mark Hirsch to end Rich Miller. The AHS signal caller then made the point.

Bill Atkins returned an intercepted pass 63 yards for a third quarter score and halfback Bob Rathbun combined with a 52 yard scoring toss to Miller for the final touchdown.

The Cadets made a mild surge in the third quarter but the Admiral defense stiffened.

What a Difference a Year Makes

Unitas Wins Foot Race to Defeat Packers, 13-10

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Green Bay turned back the clock on Johnny Unitas, but Unitas turned the tables on the Packers.

Unitas, who fumbled away Baltimore's last hope for the 1966 National Football League title when the Packers caught him on the run, won a frantic fourth-down footrace in Sunday's rematch and then pitched the unbeaten Colts to a 13-10 comeback triumph over the defending NFL champions.

With less than two minutes to play and the Colts behind 10-6, Unitas, forced out of his pass-pocket by the Packer rush, scrambled through a patch of daylight and picked up six vital yards for a first down on the Green Bay 23-yard line.

On the next play, the magnificent quarterback fired a touch-

Avenges Defeat

Unitas' second TD pass in the final 2½ minutes — after rookie Rich Volk recovered Lou Michaels' onside kick — avenged a 14-10 loss to the Packers at Baltimore last Dec. 10 — a loss that eliminated the Colts from the Western Conference race.

In Sunday's other games, Los Angeles remained one game behind the Colts in the Coastal race by trimming San Francisco 17-7; Cleveland buried Pittsburgh 34-14; St. Louis outscored Washington 27-21; New Orleans whipped Philadelphia 31-24 for its first NFL victory; Minnesota overtook New York 27-24 and Chicago bounced Detroit 27-13.

The Packers stymied Unitas

through three quarters and built a 10-0 lead on Don Chandler's 49-yard field goal and Bart Starr's 31-yard TD pass to Donny Anderson.

Clacks at 2:19

Unitas got the Colts back in the game on a 10-yard payoff pass to Alex Hawkins with 2:19 to go in the final period. Michaels flubbed the extra point conversion, then sliced a short kickoff. Volk fell on the ball at the Green Bay 34 and the Colts put over the winning touchdown with 1:28 on the clock.

"That's a heck of a way to lose," said Packers' Coach Vince Lombardi. "Especially when you know it's coming. We were set up for the kick, but we couldn't get it."

The Rams, 5-1-2, spotted San Francisco a 7-0 first quarter lead, then shut out the 49ers while quarterback Roman Gabirel led the counter-attack. Gabriel set up one touchdown with a 54-yard pass to Jack Snow and flipped three yards to Les Josephson for another score.

Frank Ryan, playing despite injuries for the eighth straight week, fired first quarter TD passes to Gary Collins and Leroy Kelly and guided Cleveland to a 31-7 third-period bulge over the Steelers before bowing out.

Wilson Intercepts

Larry Wilson intercepted a pass on his one-yard line and raced 44 yards to set up the first of two St. Louis scores in the final 15 minutes. Jim Hart followed Wilson's runback with a 55-yard pass to Jackie Smith before diving the last yard to put the Cards in front for good.

Walter "The Flea" Roberts bolted 91 yards with the opening kickoff for one touchdown, zipped 27 yards for another after picking up teammate Jim Taylor's fumble and scored a third on a 49-yard pass from Gary Cuozzo, leading New Orleans' expansion Saints out of a seven-game skid.

Fred Cox' 13-yard field goal with 10 seconds to play capped Minnesota's second half comeback against New York. The Giants squandered a 24-7 lead and fumbled away a chance for a tie-breaking FG less than two minutes before Cox booted the winner.

Dallas' Dan Reeves scored four touchdowns — two on passes from Don Meredith, who returned to action after a three-week layoff — as the Capitol Division leaders flattened the Falcons.

Gale Sayers scored on a 97-yard kickoff return and sped 63 yards to set up another touchdown, pacing the Bears to their second victory of the season over Detroit.

Los Angeles Kings Again Jolt the Establishment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles' young Kings have pulled off another swift coup against the National Hockey League's Establishment.

The Kings, relegated to the expansion division cellar by most pre-season oracles, struck for five goals in the final period Sunday night and stunned the Detroit Red Wings 6-4.

It was the second victory in six starts against established clubs for the Kings, who beat Chicago 5-3 two weeks ago with a third-period rally.

Bill Flett, a 24-year-old NHL newcomer, registered a hat trick as Los Angeles came off the floor to flatten the Wings and move into first place in the West Division — two points ahead of idle Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere, Boston and Toronto battled to a 2-2 draw in a wild bloodbath on the Bruins' ice; Philadelphia held Montreal to a 1-1 standoff and California tied Chicago 2-2.

After Flett's second goal, early in the third period, 39-year-old Gordie Howe scored his second goal of the night and 10th in 12 games, giving the Red Wings a 4-2 edge.

Six-Minute Romp

But the visitors poured in four allies in a six-minute burst to hand Detroit its third straight setback. Bryan Campbell scored at the 9:39 mark, Bill Inglis at 11:05 and defenseman Bill White at 14:25. Flett drilled his sixth goal of the season at 15:43, climaxing the flurry.

A second-period free-for-all mangled the Bruins-Maple Leafs contest before Pete Stelmowski scored with less than three minutes to play in the final period, earning Toronto a tie.

Toronto's Brian Conacher touched off the brawl with a stray elbow that caught the Bruins' Bobby Orr on the bridge of his nose opening a three-stitch gash. Boston's John McKenzie jumped Conacher and Leafs' defenseman Allan Stanley went to his teammate's aid. Orr and Ken Hodge also pummeled Conacher as both benches emptied.

Hawaiian Golf Won by Wysong

HONOLULU (AP) — Dudley Wysong addresses a golf ball as if afraid it was going to hit him back.

He started the $100,000 Hawaiian Open Tournament playing so badly he said he wasn't sure where the ball was going after he hit it.

But when it came down to the final holes, the quiet Texan refused to fold under the bird pressure of veteran Billy Casper, and Wysong won the $20,000 first prize in a sudden death playoff.

Wysong and Casper finished the 72-hole tournament, played over the 7,000-yard Waialae course in brisk trade winds that made the coconut trees dance vigorously, tied at 284.

That was four under par for the four rounds.

Only four other players broke par, Doug Sanders, Babe Hickey, Deane Beman and Tom Weiskopf, who tied for the third spot with 287, three strokes behind the leaders.

Defending champion Ted Malakala finished an even par 288, after an opening round 78. Arnold Palmer never got going and scored 72-74-74-72 for a 15th-place tie and $1,150.

The first prize check was Wysong's largest, and the victory only his second. He won the Phoenix Open last year.

Chamber Corrects Candidate's Views

Two candidates for aldermanic positions in the City of Kingston today requested that the Chamber of Commerce adjust its appraisal of positions which it attributed to them in its release of last week.

First Ward candidate Florence Shea Ludlow asked that her position concerning the police pay scale issue be clarified. She stated in her response to the Chamber's questionnaire that she wished to reserve a decision on the issue, pending a full study of the matter. She said, "I feel that a study should be made of the existing pay scale for all enforcement of police. The wage scale should then be fixed to adequately compensate present members of the police force and to attract competent and efficient applicants for existing vacancies."

Second Ward candidate, Thomas F. Rieley, challenged the Chamber's summary of his position when it said that he "opposed a pay increase . . .". Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President, Peter O. Allen today said that his office had omitted the word "general" from the phrase. The statement should have read "opposed a general pay increase." Allen expressed his full apologies to both candidates for any misimpressions which may have resulted from these errors.

Crushing Art

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A sculptor and his friend, who were trying to move a big piece of abstract art, crushed part of their hands Sunday.

Doctors worked for three hours trying to sew the fingertips back but could not. The sculptor, Henry Burszypnourcz, 45, and his friend, Wendell Brucker, 38, were struggling with a six-foot-tall limestone column in the storage room of the Arts and Craft Center when the accident happened.

The artist's left hand and Brucker's right hand were injured.

More Nonwhites

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of nonwhites in office and supervisory jobs in certain firms in the Chicago area has increased in the past nine months, a study showed Sunday.

The survey showed an increase of 433 jobs—a 33 per cent jump in the number of nonwhites holding such positions.

Professional positions held by nonwhites climbed 27 per cent, or 316 jobs, during the same period.

The study was made by the Merit Employment Committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. It polled 1,023 member firms and found an over-all increase of 23,000 nonwhite employees.

Chamber Corrects Candidate's Views

Two candidates for aldermanic positions in the City of Kingston today requested that the Chamber of Commerce adjust its appraisal of positions which it attributed to them in its release of last week.

First Ward candidate Florence Shea Ludlow asked that her position concerning the police pay scale issue be clarified. She stated in her response to the Chamber's questionnaire that she wished to reserve a decision on the issue, pending a full study of the matter. She said, "I feel that a study should be made of the existing pay scale for all enforcement officers. The wage scale should then be fixed to adequately compensate present members of the police force and to attract competent and efficient applicants for existing vacancies." Second Ward candidate, Thomas F. Rieley, challenged the Chamber's summary of his position when it said that he "opposed a pay increase . . ." Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President, Peter O. Allen today said that his office had omitted the word "general" from the phrase. The statement should have read "opposed a general pay increase." Allen expressed his full apologies to both candidates for any misimpressions which may have resulted from these errors.

VOTERS OF THE FIRST WARD

Win or lose this election—I am more interested in keeping the record straight—particularly as concerns my opponent's claim that his action in the Common Council resulted in the present pedestrian traffic control lights at St. Joseph's School. Here are the facts:

UNDER N. Y. STATE VEHICLE AND TRAFFIC LAWS EVERY CITY IN THE STATE HAD TO CONVERT EXISTING PEDESTRIAN TRAFFIC LIGHTS TO CONFORM WITH STATE REGULATIONS. THIS HAD TO BE DONE BY DEC. 31, 1967 NO MATTER WHO WAS ALDERMAN OF THE FIRST WARD — OR ANY OTHER WARD. IT WAS SIMPLY STATE LAW — AND THE CITY HAD TO COMPLY. RECORDS ON FILE IN THE OFFICE OF THE CITY CLERK WILL SUBSTANTIATE THIS FACT.

OF THE FIRST WARD

P.S. The candidate for mayor—supported by my opponent—has just threatened to remove the buses from the city streets. This would be disastrous to the public, to store employees, and the businessmen who depend on the buses to bring customers into their First Ward stores and shops. I pledge my full effort to encourage the privately owned bus company, the public, and the businessman to create a mutually profitable, clean, and convenient operation of public transportation.

EsopusCandidate Freer Is Backed By Republicans

"Administering a budget of a quarter million dollars as supervisor of cable maintenance and repairs for the New York Telephone Company for Southern Ulster and Dutchess Counties, qualifies our candidate to ably manage the fiscal policies of the town," the Republicans for Freer Committee declared today.

The committee is working for the election of Democrat Conservative George Freer for Supervisor of the Town of Esopus.

The committee goes on to say that, "His (Freer's) flexible work schedule, plus the fact he is not encumbered by seasonal work, will enable him to devote much needed time to that high office."

"If elected, Freer advocates a citizens advisory board, a more detailed study of sewage and dumping problems, study of recreational facilities, and encouragement of new growth, both residential and commercial," the committee declares.

The committee further states: "Freer has demonstrated his interest and participation in government by attending board meetings on the Town and County level. He has been a committeeman for 20 years, active in founding the Democratic Club and served as president and treasurer of that organization."

Hollywood Losing As Film Capitol

BY GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From New York City to Monterey, Calif., towns are competing to lure film production away from Hollywood. Mayor John V. Lindsay's campaign has been so successful they're calling New York "Hollywood on the Hudson." With such inducements as streamlined issuance of permits, a recent tabulation showed 51 features filmed there wholly or partly in 20 months.

A Florida producers association hopes to subsidize Hollywood production there. Oregon sends producers brochures ballyhooing its scenic attractions. So does Sonora, Calif., reporting current costs of renting horses, cattle, sheep and railroads.

A Monterey, Calif., representative helps with hotel accommodations, hiring extras and finding locations. New Mexico has a movie-luring committee. Arizona eased its workmen's compensation law and Colorado its state tax to encourage movie-making. A Wimberley, Tex., ranch resort offered to build sets free.

Why? Money, mostly. Stimulation of the local economy and tourist-attracting publicity.

In Moab, Utah—population 5,100—where Paramount filmed "Blue" and "Fade-in" simultaneously this summer, the weekly Times-Independent reported, "Both bankers agree the monetary impact has upgraded the town's economy. Extra service has been established to facilitate check cashing. Markets note an increase in business over last year."

"Old bills are being paid, almost all businesses confirmed, and they are often paid direct with Paramount checks," Druggists, barbers, motels and restaurants profited from the 200 Hollywood visitors and daily hiring of 100 to 125 local extras. Fiddle players, square-dance callers and wranglers were recruited through the state employment department. Pay ranged from $15 a day for walk-through extras to $20 for horseback riders.

"I wrote checks totaling about $500,000, including $100,000 for the construction of sets," says Joe Kenny, production manager on the project. "We hired a lot of kids who were finishing high school. They made enough money to outfit themselves and have money for college."

Movie companies are required to remove sets built on location. But for $1 Kenny sold a Mexican street set on state land to a rancher, who planned to erect it on his own land and rent it to movie companies. "That saved us $10,000 to $15,000 in removal costs," said Kenny.

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Bonnie and Clyde" left more than $400,000 in and around Dallas. Locally hired extras got about $40,000. Townspeople are delighted to turn actors, but a studio official warns them not to start if they can't bear sitting around, waiting, sometimes in atrocious weather.

Three films are on location this week in New York and one each in Miami; Selma, Ala.; Bracketville, Tex., and Sedona, Ariz. But, says the Moab weekly: "Motion picture filming business doesn't come accidentally—a town must go after it."

A Moab committee visits Hollywood annually to extend invitations and distribute color brochures of the town's red-rock scenery.

Saugerties Peter Fogerty Accepted In Job Corps

The Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center announces that Peter Fogerty, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fogarty of Palenville, was accepted by the Job Corps and has started his training in air conditioning and refrigeration at the Job Corps Training Center at Camp Kilmer, N. J. Anyone between 16 and 21 who is not continuing in high school can get valuable training with the corps.

The center needs an additional neighborhood aide to work 20 hours a week in a paid position. Applicant must be from the lower income group, have a car, and be interested in the problems of the underprivileged. The center will train an applicant who is qualified.

More volunteers are also needed for office work and transportation.

This month the center distributed food surplus packages to 24 families. During the last week of voter registration, 150 families were contacted by our aides.

Discarded games and toys will be accepted at the center for senior citizens club members to repair for distribution to needy children at Christmas.

Nat'l Program Making, Topic For League

Mrs. William Peetoom, president of the League of Women Voters of Saugerties, announced today that at the league's November meeting, as the first round of national program making, members will be asked to submit ideas for study on the national level for the next two years.

In the second part of the program, Mrs. Louis Parisi, human resources study item chairman, will bring the local league up-to-date on the latest developments affecting the group's area of interest in human resources.

The Saugerties League extends an invitation to attend its November meeting to all local residents. The meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p. m., at the Saugerties Methodist Church.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization established to promote active participation of citizens in government. Membership is open to all women citizens of voting age.

Saugerties Seeks State OK on Land

State sanction and financial support for the acquisition and development of the Henry Schroeder property in Barclay Heights will be sought by the Saugerties Town Board.

Town attorney Louis Francello informed the board last night that he would seek action in the form of state evaluation of the land in order that it might be secured as an extra water supply for the Glasco Water District and for utilization as a recreation area.

Once the area was established for the project it would come under the jurisdiction of the planning board.

HURLEY VOTERS!

Why hasn't the Hurley Democratic party taken a position on the most important legislation recently considered by the Town Board? That is ZONING.

After careful study, the Republicans took the initiative and decided to support zoning as essential in providing long range benefits to Hurley.

Where were the Democrats on this issue? We still haven't heard!!! Does it mean silent agreement?

Our opponents admit Hurley is the best town in Ulster County.

WE AGREE! But it didn't happen by accident! It happened because of an active, dedicated Republican Administration.

Hurley has progressed! Let's continue!

EsopusCandidate Freer Is Backed By Republicans

"Administering a budget of a quarter million dollars as supervisor of cable maintenance and repairs for the New York Telephone Company for Southern Ulster and Dutchess Counties, qualifies our candidate to ably manage the fiscal policies of the town," the Republicans for Freer Committee declared today.

The committee is working for the election of Democrat Conservative George Freer for Supervisor of the Town of Esopus.

The committee goes on to say that, "His (Freer's) flexible work schedule, plus the fact he is not encumbered by seasonal work, will enable him to devote to be the oldest Protestant church in continuous use in the office.

"If elected, Freer advocates a citizens advisory board, a more detailed study of sewage and dumping problems, study of recreational facilities, and encouragement of new growth, both residential and commercial," the committee declares.

The committee further states: "Freer has demonstrated his interest and participation in government by attending board meetings on the Town and County level. He has been a committeeman for 20 years, active in founding the Democratic Club and served as president and treasurer of that organization.

Purchased Commissions

Commissions in the British army could be purchased as late as 1871. The commission of a lieutenant colonel in a first-class regiment could cost as much as $30,000.

"Much of his time has been given to firemanic affairs; he is a charter member and first secretary of Esopus Fire Company, past vice-president of the Town Firemen's Association. He has served on Boy Scout committees of Kingston Troop 9 and Esopus Troop 82. Service to his country includes three years in the Eighth Army Air Force as a non-commissioned officer during World War II."

The candidate is quoted as saying, "It is my duty as a resident and taxpayer to take part in Town Government, to question actions of the board, and to make constructive suggestions. More citizens should attend board meetings and make vocal their support or criticisms.

"I am a firm supporter of government by the people," Freer said.

Hollywood Losing As Film Capitol

BY GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From New York City to Monterey, Calif., towns are competing to lure film production away from Hollywood. Mayor John V. Lindsay's campaign has been so successful they're calling New York "Hollywood on the Hudson." With such inducements as streamlined issuance of permits, a recent tabulation showed 51 features filmed there wholly or partly in 20 months.

A Florida producers association hopes to subsidize Hollywood production there. Oregon sends producers brochures ballyhooing its scenic attractions. So does Sonora, Calif., reporting current costs of renting horses, cattle, sheep and railroads.

A Monterey, Calif., representative helps with hotel accommodations, hiring extras and finding locations. New Mexico has a movie-luring committee. Arizona eased its workmen's compensation law and Colorado its state tax to encourage moviemaking. A Wimberley, Tex., ranch resort offered to build sets free.

Saugerties
Peter Fogerty Accepted
In Job Corps

The Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center announces that Peter Fogerty, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fogarty of Palenville, was accepted by the Job Corps and has started his training in air conditioning and refrigeration at the Job Corps Training Center at Camp Kilmer, N. J. Anyone between 16 and 21 who is not continuing in high school can get valuable training with the corps.

The center needs an additional neighborhood aide to work 20 hours a week in a paid position. Applicant must be from the lower income group, have a car, and be interested in the problems of the underprivileged. The center will train an applicant who is qualified.

More volunteers are also needed for office work and transportation.

This month the center distributed food surplus packages to 24 families. During the last week of voter registration, 150 families were contacted by our aides.

Discarded games and toys will be accepted at the center for senior citizens club members to repair for distribution to needy children at Christmas.

Why? Money, mostly. Stimulation of the local economy and tourist-attracting publicity.

In Moab, Utah—population 5,100—where Paramount filmed "Blue" and "Faded-in" simultaneously this summer, the weekly Times Independent reported: "Both bankers agree the monetary impact has upgraded the town's economy. Extra service has been established to facilitate check cashing. Markets note an increase in business over last year.

"Old bills are being paid, almost all businesses confirmed, and they are often paid direct with Paramount checks."

Druggists, barbers, motels and restaurants profited from the 200 Hollywood visitors and daily hiring of 100 to 125 local extras. Fiddle players, square-dance callers and wranglers were recruited through the state employment department. Pay ranged from $15 a day for walk-through extras to $20 for horseback riders.

"I wrote checks totaling about $500,000, including $100,000 for the construction of sets," says Joe Kenny, production manager on the project. "We hired a lot of kids who were finishing high school. They made enough money to outfit themselves and have money for college."

Movie companies are required to remove sets built on location. But for $1 Kenny sold a Mexican street set on state land to a rancher, who planned to re-erect it on his own land and rent it to movie companies. "That saved us $10,000 to $15,000 in removal costs," said Kenny.

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Bonnie and Clyde" left more than $400,000 in and around Dallas. Locally hired extras got about $40,000. Townspeople are delighted to turn actors, but a studio official warns them not to start if they can't bear sitting around, waiting, sometimes in atrocious weather.

Three films are on location this week in New York and one each in Miami, Selma, Ala.; Bracketville, Tex., and Sedona, Ariz. But, says the Moab weekly: "Motion picture filming business doesn't come accidentally—a town must go after it."

tations and distribute color brochures of the town's red-rock scenery.

Why hasn't the Hurley Democratic party taken a position on the most important legislation recently considered by the Town Board? That is ZONING.

After careful study, the Republicans took the initiative and decided to support zoning as essential in providing long range benefits to Hurley.

Where were the Democrats on this issue?
We still haven't heard !!! Does it mean silent agreement?

Our opponents admit Hurley is the best town in Ulster County.

WE AGREE! But it didn't happen by accident!
It happened because of an active, dedicated Republican Administration.

Hurley has progressed! Let's continue!

Mrs. William Peetoom, president of the League of Women Voters of Saugerties, announced today that at the league's November meeting, as the first round of national program making, members will be asked to submit ideas for study on the national level for the next two years.

In the second part of the program, Mrs. Louis Parisi, human resources study item chairman, will bring the local league up-to-date on the latest developments affecting the group's area of interest in human resources.

The Saugerties League extends an invitation to attend its November meeting to all local residents. The meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p. m., at the Saugerties Methodist Church.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization established to promote active participation of citizens in government. Membership is open to all women citizens of voting age.

Saugerties
Seeks State
OK on Land

State sanction and financial support for the acquisition and development of the Henry Schroeder property in Barclay Heights will be sought by the Saugerties Town Board.

Town attorney Louis Francello informed the board last night that he would seek action in the form of state evaluation of the land in order that it might be secured as an extra water supply for the Glasco Water District and for utilization as a recreation area.

Once the area was established for the project it would come under the jurisdiction of the planning board.

Humphrey to Meet With Indonesia Head

JAKARTA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey left the holiday island of Bali today and prepared for more talks with Indonesia's acting President Suharto, whose mediation in the Vietnam war he reportedly has sought.

The vice president donned a sport shirt and relaxed on his overnight visit to Bali, an island of beautiful girls, colorful dances, smoking volcanoes, lush jungles and white sand beaches.

He was greeted by scores of lovely girls sprinkling him with flowers, and girls in colorful sarongs lined his route to the airport today.

Humphrey was to be host to night at a dinner for Suharto after a stop in Central Java to inspect an agriculture project sponsored by the American Food for Work Project.

A spokesman for Suharto said Humphrey had asked the Indonesian government to mediate in the Vietnam war and that Suharto replied the war could be solved only if all parties involved sincerely wanted an end to it.

Indonesia earlier had offered to mediate but stressed that the conflict should be resolved by the Vietnamese people themselves and, if necessary, with the help of African and Asian countries.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik, in Bonn for talks with West German officials, told newsmen Sunday that "we are ready to do our share for both sides if they wish it." "We have an ambassador in North Vietnam and we also have contact with the Viet Cong," he added.

Humphrey also told Suharto the U.S. government wants to help Indonesia overcome its economic difficulties and will join other creditor nations to help supply $325 million in foreign credits needed for economic development.

But in Singapore, Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew appealed to the United States to avoid starting a new arms race by supplying weapons to Indonesia.

Fabbie Cited as Natural for Alderman

The Republican candidate for alderman of the Fifth Ward is considered by the committee for his election as a natural for the position because he is a native of the Pcnckhockie section and has resided there for 48 years.

Frank Fabbie, colonel in the New York Army National Guard, began his education in old Number 4 Public School in the ward, and has been vitally interested in the area since childhood.

Fabbie pledges to devote the time and effort necessary to provide the representation which he says "has been lacking in our ward for the past two years."

He also pledges to take positive action to provide better police protection, increased benefits for city policemen and the paid fire department and volunteers.

"These dedicated public servants deserve more consideration than they are getting at present," Fabbie said.

Concerning the Fifth Ward, Fabbie said "I will take all steps necessary to restore the proud image of Pcnckhockie as an historical part of our city."

Completion of the Kingston Point Beach and the John F. Kennedy Park are two of his major concerns, he stressed in campaign literature furnished by the committee pressing for his election.

The career of Frank Fabbie, the committee points out, is enhanced by a record of public activity that shows 28 years of service in the New York Army National Guard, including a tour of duty overseas during World War II with the 104th Timberwolf Division.

The committee for his election contends that Fabbie's record of public service, and his accomplishments so far give promise for attracting more families to the Fifth Ward, expansion of the waterfront areas along the Hudson River and Rondout Creek, large sections of which are available for development as recreational areas for boating, fishing and other water sports.

Fabbie has served as president of the John F. Kennedy School Parent-Teacher Association and also held the same office for the PTA at the Myron J. Michael School.

Presently the Fifth Ward GOP alderman candidate is fire control coordinator for the 27th Division Artillery located in Albany. Prior to this assignment, Colonel Fabbie was commanding officer of 156th Artillery Battalion with headquarters at the State Armory on Manor Avenue. Fabbie started in the National Guard as a private and worked his way up to the office of colonel.

As commander of the 156th Battalion he was responsible for the training, welfare and military education of more than 200 officers and enlisted men. He has been responsible for coordinating matters for Civil Defense, disaster relief and evacuation with the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, Kingston Police Department and the Mayor's Office.

Because of Col. Fabbie's leadership he was selected to attend the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in 1963, arranged to coordinate activities involving the military and civilian production industries.

World-Wide Woes Mark Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disaster struck often and hard over the weekend and more than 350 persons were reported dead or missing in a typhoon, floods, a train wreck and three plane crashes from the Philippines to Britain. In the Philippines: About 300 were believed dead or missing as casualties poured into Manila after typhoon Emma rampaged across the island and sank an interisland passenger ship.

In England: 51 were dead and 111 injured when an express train careened off the tracks coming into London Sunday night. Another 37 died in the crash on Saturday of a Spanish airliner arriving in London from Malaga, Spain.

In Hong Kong: Only one person died as a huge Cathay Pacific Airlines Convair 880 tilted on takeoff and slid into Hong Kong harbor. The other 126 persons aboard escaped unhurt from the floating fuselage.

In New Guinea: All seven persons aboard a light plane died today when it crashed while taking off from Goroka Airport in the New Guinea highlands.

In Italy: At least 11 persons died in highway crashes during hard rains that pushed rivers in Venice and the Po River Delta over their banks to flood roads and highways.

Philippine national police official said 212 passengers were missing and feared drowned after the sinking of the 300-ton ship Mindoro in rough central Philippine seas churned up by typhoon Emma two days ago. But the Manila Daily Mirror quoted a congressman as saying 100 of the 230 passengers had survived.

The vessel sank at the height of Emma's fury. Her howling winds, up to 125 miles an hour, cut a swath of destruction across the Philippines. The Philippine News Service reported 106 others dead or missing in five provinces, and the Red Cross listed 16 dead in two other areas.

The Red Cross said at least 26,000 families or close to 140,000 persons were left homeless by the typhoon in 21 central and northern provinces.

Damage estimates ran upwards of $5 million.

In southeast London this morning firemen cut through a tangle of wrecked passenger cars with acetylene torches, freeing trapped passengers and recovering bodies from the derailment Sunday night of the crack express train from Hastings, on the south coast.

Many of the dead were believed to be children returning with their parents from the weekend in the country. Cars began jumping the track as the train whizzed across a bridge about 70 miles an hour. Four cars careened along on their sides and jackknifed into a giant letter "W" while another turned upside down and skidded along on its roof.

Busy Space Week

orbiting ships; improve satellite and distribute weather information; communications between traffic from remote data collecting control towers and airplanes, sites.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A multi-purpose "pinball" satellite soared around the globe today as a successful herald to one of America's busiest space weeks.

The new ATS 3, for applications technology satellite, rocketed into orbit from Cape Kennedy Sunday night to test systems that might eventually provide man with greater benefits from space.

Included are new experiments in communications, weather prediction and navigation.

ATS 3 is one of four U.S. space shots scheduled this week. Also on tap are:

—Surveyor 6, set to blast off from the Cape at 2:22 a.m. (EST) Tuesday on a planned 65-hour flight to the moon. The spacecraft is intended to land in a potential astronaut landing site near the center of the moon's surface to snap photographs and analyze the lunar soil.

—ESSA 6, another in a series of operational weather study satellites, to be launched Wednesday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

—A mammoth Saturn 5 rocket, like that which will one day propel astronauts to the moon, to undergo its first test launch Thursday from the Cape. The rocket, largest, most powerful ever built, is to boost an unmanned Apollo moonship 11,400 miles into space.

ATS 3 settled Sunday night into an initial transfer orbit ranging from 155 to about 23,000 miles above the earth.

About 10:45 a.m. today, a ground station planned to send a signal to fire a motor aboard the craft. The firing is to arrest the satellite in a stationary orbit 22,300 miles above Brazil.

Among equipment for the satellite's 18 experiments are three shiny, baseball-size steel balls which give it the "pinball" nickname.

At a future date, the three balls are to be ejected from the payload in a navigation test. Sensors aboard the satellite are to determine if the balls instead of stars can be used as navigation aids for far-out manned and unmanned space vehicles.

From its high outpost, ATS 3's color camera will be able to take weather pictures encompassing parts of five continents. Meteorologists believe the color photos will provide clearer photo data than that now available from black and white pictures from the ESSA satellites.

Communications experiments will test new concepts to help locate objects on the ground from space.

Humphrey to Meet With Indonesia Head

JAKARTA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey left the holiday island of Bali today and prepared for more talks with Indonesia's acting President Suharto, whose mediation in the Vietnam war he reported has sought.

The vice president donned a sport shirt and relaxed on the overnight visit to Bali, an island of beautiful girls, colorful dances, smoking volcanoes, lush jungles and white sand beaches. He was greeted by scores of lovely girls sprinkling him with flowers, and girls in colorful sarongs led his route to the airport today.

Humphrey was to be host to night at a dinner for Suharto after a stop in Central Java to inspect an agriculture project sponsored by the American Food for Work Project.

A spokesman for Suharto said Humphrey had asked the Indonesian government to mediate in the Vietnam war and that Suharto replied the war could be solved only if all parties involved sincerely wanted an end to it.

Indonesia earlier had offered to mediate but stressed that the conflict should be resolved by the Vietnamese people themselves and, if necessary, with the help of African and Asian countries.

Foreign Minister Adam Malik, in Bonn for talks with West German officials, told newsmen Sunday that "we are ready to do our share for both sides if they wish it."

"We have an ambassador in North Vietnam and we also have contact with the Viet Cong," he added.

Humphrey also told Suharto the U.S. government wants to help Indonesia overcome its economic difficulties and will join other creditor nations to help supply $325 million in foreign credits needed for economic development.

But in Singapore, Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew appealed to the United States to avoid starting a new arms race by supplying weapons to Indonesia.

Fabbie Cited as Natural for Alderman

The Republican candidate for alderman of the Fifth Ward is considered by the committee for his election as a natural for the position because he is a native of the Ponckhockie section and has resided there for 48 years.

Frank Fabbie, colonel in the New York Army National Guard, began his education in old Number 4 Public School in the ward, and has been vitally interested in the area since childhood.

Fabbie pledges to devote the time and effort necessary to provide the representation which he says "has been lacking in our ward for the past two years."

He also pledges to take positive action to provide better police protection, increased benefits for city policemen and the paid fire department and volunteers.

"These dedicated public servants deserve more consideration than they are getting at present," Fabbie said.

Concerning the Fifth Ward.

steps necessary to restore the proud image of Ponckhockie as an historical part of our city."

Completion of the Kingston Point Beach and the John F. Kennedy Park are two of his major concerns, he stressed in campaign literature furnished by the committee pressing for his election.

The career of Frank Fabbie, the committee points out, is enhanced by a record of public activity that shows 28 years of service in the New York Army National Guard, including a tour of duty overseas during World War II with the 104th Timberwolf Division.

The committee for his election contends that Fabbie's record of public service, and his accomplishments so far give promise for attracting more families to the Fifth Ward, expansion of the waterfront areas along the Hudson River and Rondout Creek, large sections of which are available for development as recreational areas for boating, fishing and other water sports.

Fabbie has served as president of the John F. Kennedy School Parent-Teacher Association and also held the same office for the PTA at the Myron J. Michael School.

Presently the Fifth Ward GOP alderman candidate is fire control coordinator for the 27th Division Artillery located in Albany. Prior to this assignment, Colonel Fabbie was commanding officer of 156th Artillery Battalion with headquarters at the State Armory on Manor Avenue.

Fabbie started in the National Guard as a private and worked

Plaza Assessment In Line: Alexander

G. Scott Alexander, vice president of Kingston Plaza Inc., in the wake of charges and counter charges over the assessment of the plaza, issued the following statement today to The Freeman:

"Over the past several days many charges and counter charges have been made with respect to the assessment of Kingston Plaza. This is unfortunate as Kingston Plaza has developed to its present stage of completion with the fair and progressive attitude of both the Schwenk and Garrahan administrations. This attitude is essential to the completion of the Plaza complex. Kingston Plaza has been a definite asset to the City of Kingston. Its various stores attract buyers from a large surrounding area to the City of Kingston who otherwise might, and probably would, shop elsewhere. There are very few shopping places within the corporate limits of cities and Kingston is most fortunate in this regard.

"The present Kingston Plaza assessment is in line with legal and acceptable principles of valuation and assessment used by real estate assessors on hundreds of shopping centers throughout the state and country. The fair market value of a shopping center for assessment purposes should be the same as the valuation put on the center by a buyer. A buyer looks at the income the center is producing. He does not attach any particular importance to amounts spent of acquiring the land or in constructing the buildings. No does he consider what the man across the street can get for his land now that the center is open. A regional shopping center is an investment property and as such should be valued on its capacity to produce income on the investment.

"One of the reasons behind the income method of taxation of shopping centers is that a shopping center is a unique and different type of investment property. Kingston Plaza, for example, is similar to a small city supplying for itself many services which other taxpayers receive from the municipality. The Plaza has built three roads (Plaza Road, Westbrook Lane and Converse Street), a 2,300 car parking lot, installed its own sewage, water, and drainage lines, fire hydrants, fire alarm and sprinkler systems, and road and parking lot lights. The Plaza also pays for its

Disaster struck often and hard over the weekend and more than 350 persons were reported dead or missing in a typhoon, floods, a train wreck and three plane crashes from the Philippines to Britain. In the Philippines: About 300 were believed dead or missing as casualty counts poured into Manila after typhoon Emma rampaged across the island and sank an interisland passenger ship.

In England: 51 were dead and 111 injured when an express train careened off the tracks coming into London Sunday night. Another 37 died in the crash on Saturday of a Spanish airliner arriving in London from Malaga, Spain.

In Hong Kong: Only one person died as a huge Cathay Pacific Airlines Convair 880 tilted on takeoff and slid into Hong Kong harbor. The other 126 persons aboard escaped unhurt from the floating fuselage.

In New Guinea: All seven persons aboard a light plane died today when it crashed while taking off from Goroka Airport in the New Guinea highlands.

In Italy: At least 11 persons died in highway crashes during hard rains that pushed rivers in Venice and the Po River Delta over their banks to flood roads and highways.

A Philippine national police official said 212 passengers were missing and feared drowned after the sinking of the 300-ton ship Mindoro in rough central Philippine seas churned up by typhoon Emma two days ago. But the Manila Daily Mirror quoted a congressman as saying 100 of the 230 passengers had survived.

The vessel sank at the height of Emma's fury. Her howling winds, up to 125 miles an hour, cut a swath of destruction across the Philippines. The Philippine News Service reported 106 others dead or missing in five provinces, and the Red Cross listed 16 dead in two other areas.

The Red Cross said at least 26,000 families or close to 140,000 persons were left homeless by the typhoon in 21 central and northern provinces.

Damage estimates ran upwards of $5 million.

In southeast London this morning firemen cut through a tangle of wrecked passenger cars with acetylene torches, freeing trapped passengers and recovering bodies from the derailment Sunday night of the crack express train from Hastings, on the south coast.

Many of the dead were believed to be children returning with their parents from the weekend in the country. Cars began jumping the track as the train jumped across a bridge at about 70 miles an hour. Four cars careened along on their sides and jackknifed into a giant letter "W" while another turned upside down and skidded along on its roof.

Cranes mounted on railroad cars arrived to lift the overturned coaches while rescuers toiled in the rain by the flare of arc lamps.

Dear Abby

GIs' Christmas 'Wants'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

Dear Abby: What do I want for Christmas? There are at least 100,000 South Vietnamese orphans who need help. Infants wear, children's wear, toys, shoes. Anything. They are naked and hungry. Anyone desiring to send anything collected from friends and neighbors can address it to: Sgt. Bill Thompson, AF 10611072, CORDS-Refugees, Orphans APO, San Francisco, Cal. 96243. That's all I want for Christmas. Abby, and God Bless you for asking. Sgt. Billy Thompson

Dear Abby: What would we like for Christmas from you people back home? A promise clean pillowcase (we use our T-shirts), and a couple of pairs of heavy athletic socks. Doug from Dallas

Dear Abby: Here is what the security guards of the 71st transport battalion want for Christmas: Sgt. Burge: To be alive for next Christmas. Sgt. Author: To be home with my new car. Spec. 4 Hoppenjans: More mail. Spec. 4 Tomazzoli: Assigned to an airborne unit. Pfc. Keading: A fifth of good Scotch. Pfc. Barnes, 8x10 picture of my girl. Pfc. McSorely: More mail. Pfc. Phillips: Phone call to my girl. Pfc. Crowther: The war in Vietnam to end. Pfc. Gonzales: A car waiting for me when I get home. Pfc. Rosario: My girl waiting for me when I get home. Pfc. Allison: A civilian suit. Pfc. Godfrey: More mail. Pfc. Kilkenny: A discharge. Pfc. Monroe: Electric guitar. Pfc. Cooper: Money. Pfc. Sexton: My girl waiting for me when I get home. The S. G.'s of the 71st

Horoscope By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars—

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY November 7, 1967 By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Dialog with friends could bring hopes, wishes closer to fulfillment. Be sure you are correctly quoted. Don't take for granted that others understand Be specific.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Suggestions do not necessarily constitute criticism. Know this today. Be receptive. Don't be resentful if one in authority attempts to aid. Streamline methods. Be modern.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): By getting started on work project today you help insure future security. Key is ability to handle responsibility under pressure. Accent on health, relation, with co-workers.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You can settle delicate problem by talking frankly in area of finance. Finish tasks. Don't hang on to impractical situation. Be strong enough to be realistic.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Creative point of view is a necessity. Make changes. Shake off any tendency toward lethargy. Some oppose you. But this acts as spur. You can accept challenge and succeed. Be vital.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Conflict may exist between going and remaining. Key is to be up-to-date without rejecting proven methods. Romance shown, but foolish quarrel could upset plans. Be wise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Emphasis on home, security, property. Be versatile but heed advice of older individual. Might be fine day for house hunting. Get proper perspective where values are concerned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You could change your mind about possible journey. Relatives, family members appear to be involved in decision. Check details. Be sure of directions, instructions. Have facts at hand.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You appear to get instructions from behind the curtain. Means there are those who coach you, chide and impel. Key is to maintain balance, humor. Take stock. Wait and see.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Cycle moving up. You can successfully take initiative. Meet people. Go places. Do things. Friends could prove helpful. You can gain through entertainment at home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Surprise due in form of assignment reward, appreciation from unusual source. Cycle high. Time moves. Avoid tendency to throw away things of value.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): A look at past could prove worthwhile today. Means there are lessons to be reviewed. Avoid being overconfident. Know that you succeed if caution is exercised.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you tend to be introspective—your feelings run deep. There is nothing superficial about you. Your sense of awareness is great. Many consult you with their problems.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: CYCLES high for AQUARIUS, PISCES. Special word to LIBRA: one who talks about how much he is going to give you may have nothing but conversation.

Dear Abby: Maybe I can be of some help by telling you what we don't want for Christmas over here.

Anything big, like heavy appliances, books, or things that are hard to store. We don't have room for them. Nothing expensive that would break our hearts if we lost it, like expensive jewelry, cameras, record players, etc.

No lima beans and ham, please. We get that in our C rations. Nothing in glass or aerosol cans. Unless chocolate is properly wrapped, forget it. It's sirup by the time it gets here. You wouldn't believe the heat and humidity here. If anything perishable is sent, please send it "SAM" under 5 pounds. It goes air mail and gets to us within a week or 10 days. Those big packages (unless sent air-mail) can stand around on a dock for 3 months. A Leatherneck

Dear Abby: The men in Vietnam are always glad to get some little trinkets for Christmas that can be given to Vietnamese kids. Yo-yos, balloons, plastic harmonicas, whistles and dolls. As a gag, we once gave an ugly doll with wild white hair to a child. It really was hideous, but it ended up being a "baby doll" for that little native girl who had never had a doll before. She thought it was beautiful. Paratrooper, Vietnam

Dear Abby: Next to goodies, like canned meats, salami, tuna, chicken, canned fruits, cookies, fruitcake, instant soups, Kool-aid, instant coffee, tea and cocoa, pretzels, popcorn, hard candies, etc., something to read or do is best. A subscription to the hometown newspaper always makes a big hit. Also paperback magazines, playing cards and games like checkers, chess, jigsaw puzzles are great. Also, Abby, a real luxury is a clean pillowcase (we use our T-shirts), and a couple of pairs of heavy athletic socks. Doug from Dallas

Dear Abby: We read you in Stars and Stripes and love you over here. What would you like for Christmas, Abby? Pfc. Michael Greene

Dear Abby: Peace! Peace this very moment. Over there. Right here. And peace for all people on the face of the earth.

Dear Abby: For Christmas I'd like to see some smiles on the faces of lots of my buddies over here. They don't get any mail. If any of your readers (from 15 to 80) have a 5-cent stamp and time on their hands, please have them write to "Any Lonely Soldier" in care of me, and I'll see that he gets it. Thanks a million, Abby. Landy Convention Is Useful Bid

Oswald: "Alvin was every bridge player's friend. In 1947 when he came from Cleveland to run the American Contract Bridge League, he took over the thankless job of getting the league going again after the troubles of World War II. The 200,000 members today reflect how well Alvin did his job. We will all miss him, and tournaments just aren't going to be the same. Alvin was also a great player, although his duties kept him from playing in more than one event every two or three years. The Landy convention will be one monument to him but his real monument is the ACBL."

Jim: "The Landy convention was the first of several artificial conventions designed to make it easier and safer to compete against an opening no-trump. The theory is that, since the no-trump is a good, balanced hand, there is little point trying to bid clubs against it unless you can afford to try an immediate club jump. Hence, when a player writes 'Landy' on his convention card, he says that if he bids two clubs against an opening no-trump he wants his partner to bid a major suit."

Oswald: "North wouldn't know which suit to bid or whether he should bid at all without the Landy convention. With that convention, he is able to bid two clubs and show both his suits at once. East's two no-trump is an effort to shut South out of the bidding, but South likes his hand and jumps right to four spades."

Jim: "South's four-spade bid is a trifle optimistic. The more conservative call of three spades probably would be better, but this four-spade bid works like a charm. Spades break, hearts break, the queen of spades is right and all South loses are two clubs and the ace of trumps." (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

PBL Opener, Touchy Item

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "PBL," the experimental series underwritten by a Ford Foundation grant and broadcast Sunday night on a special network of educational stations across the nation, devoted all of its time to a "black-white dialogue." It was touchy, controversial and undoubtedly stepped on toes, but it succeeded in shedding some light as well as heat.

The program set the stage by a recapitulation of political campaigns where race is an issue—in Gary, Ind., Cleveland, Ohio, and Boston, Mass. Then it moved into the high point of the program: a filmed "confrontation" of Chicago Negroes and whites. There opinion, emotion-charged, ranged from hostile threats by Black Power exponents to one angry white woman who exploded in exasperation with, "I want white power."

A vocal, tough-talking Negro, Russ Meek, earlier had done the narration of a film made in the Chicago slums under his direction.

His fury and hatred spewed out then and even more during the "confrontation." One Negro woman who had started with calm reason was so stung by a white woman's talk of integration that she retorted, "I've been integrating too long. I've got these freckles and red hair as a result of the rape of my great grandmother."

While the talk, often jumbled as many spoke at one time, was more emotional than reasoned, the confrontation was exciting television.

Actually, neither Negroes nor whites made good cases for their causes. Immediately afterward, Harvard research psychiatrist Robert Coles presented his "analysis" of the session. He found the present Negro movement "not so different from the Irish 50 or 75 years ago," and compared the Negro revolt to "the breaking away as a child does when it grows up and goes away from his family."

The final portion of the program was devoted to a play, "Day of Absence," performed by a company of Negroes in white face—a minstrel show in reverse. This told in bitter, broad satire, the calamity that befell a Southern town when suddenly all its Negroes disappeared. No menial jobs were performed, and it painted an ugly picture of incompetent, foolish whites. Although it made its point very quickly, the play went on and on.

There were occasional breaks in the program for local station identification, and twice there was a break called "a word for the consumer." These breaks were in the form of commercials, but one told viewers that the least expensive pain killer was as effective as the expensive kind and the other that long cigarettes contain harmful ingredients. They were the sole glimmers of humor in the

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "PBL,"

the experimental series underwritten by a Ford Foundation grant and broadcast Sunday night on a special network of educational stations across the nation, devoted all of its time to a

"black-white dialogue." It was touchy, controversial and undoubtedly stepped on toes, but it succeeded in shedding some light as well as heat.

The program set the stage by a recapitulation of political campaigns where race is an issue—in Gary, Ind., Cleveland,

Ohio, and Boston, Mass. Then it moved into the high point of the program: a filmed "confrontation" of Chicago Negroes and whites. There opinion, and emotion-charged, ranged from hostile threats by Black Power exponents to angry white woman who exploded in exas-peration with, "I want white power."

A vocal, tough-talking Negro,

Russ Meek, earlier had done the narration of a film made in the Chicago slums under his direction. His fury and hatred spewed out then and even more during the "confrontation." One

Negro woman who had started with calm reason was so stung

by a white woman's talk of integration that she retorted, "I've been integrating too long. I've got these freckles and red hair

as a result of the rape of my great grandmother..."

While the talk, often jumbled

as many spoke at one time, was more emotional than reasoned,

the confrontation was exciting television.

Actually, neither Negroes nor whites made good cases for their causes. Immediately afterward, Harvard research psychiatrist Robert Coles presented his "analysis" of the session. He

ment "not so different from the Irish 50 or 75 years ago," and compared the Negro revolt to

"the breaking away as a child does when it grows up and goes away from his family."

The final portion of the program was devoted to a play,

"Day of Absence," performed by a company of Negroes in white face—a minstrel show in reverse. This told in bitter, broad satire, the calamity that befell a Southern town when suddenly all its Negroes disappeared. No mental jobs were performed, and it painted an ugly picture of incompetent, foolish whites. Although it made its point very quickly, the play went on and on.

There were occasional breaks in the program for local station identification, and twice there was a break called "a word for

were in the form of commercials, but one told viewers that the least expensive pain killer was as effective as the expensive kind and the other that long cigarettes contain harmful ingredients. They were the sole glimmerings of humor in the two and one-half hours, and the humor in them was certainly on the skimpier side.

The program was too long—the play could have been cut sharply — and tended to be heavy handed. But it was an interesting ambitious beginning.

And it certainly was not bland.

NBC will cancel "Maya," the Stanwyck in a story that gives child-oriented action series her some elbow room for acting.

Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson said today he will personally vote in favor of the proposed $2.5 billion dollar Transportation Bond Issue to morrow, but that he will not support the "package" constitution which will appear on Tuesday's ballot as Question No. 1. According to the Assemblyman, he has carefully considered both measures, and while he feels that the Transportation Bond Issue is vital to the future growth of the State, he sincerely believes that there are serious defects in the proposed Constitution which could add over $20 billion dollars to the State's tax bill, with very little benefit to upstate areas like Ulster County.

Assemblyman Wilson pointed to the fact that the major share of the Transportation Bond Issue, $1.25 billion dollars, will be devoted to highway construction, and of that amount, some $414 million dollars will be allocated to District 8, which includes Ulster County. Wilson said that unless these funds are made available for highway construction many badly needed local projects, such as the Route 209 Bypass, the Kingston Arterial, and the reconstruction of existing highways like Routes 44 and 214, could be delayed for many years. The Assemblyman added that the bond issue will also provide $250 million dollars for local airport construction, including the proposed Ulster County Airport. "Even if the voters of Ulster County wanted to consider the Transportation Bond Issue for strictly selfish reasons," Wilson said, "they should vote overwhelmingly in favor of the measure."

Turning to the proposed Constitution, the Assemblyman said that he felt it was morally wrong for the Democrat-controlled Constitutional Convention to ram through a "single package" type of document which left the voters with no alternative but to express themselves on a "take-it-or-leave-it" basis. Wilson believed that there were some items of merit in the new Constitution, but that there were also many items, such as the State's take over of all welfare costs, free tuition to State Universities, changes in the State Aid formula for education, and taking away the public's right to vote on State bond issues and the loan of State funds, which would be highly detrimental to the State, and extremely costly to the taxpayers, particularly those in the up-state areas.

Assemblyman Wilson added, "the proposed Constitution, in my opinion, is a document largely conceived by New York City Democrats for the benefit of the New York City area, and no matter how local voters might feel about any single provision, the over-all effect of the new Constitution could well bring our State to the brink of financial ruin. Therefore, I definitely feel that it would be in the best interests of the voters of Ulster County if the proposed Constitution were to be rejected."

Pope's Recovery Progresses Well

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI discussed church business today for the first time since his operation Saturday and was visited by his two brothers.

The Pope conferred for 45 minutes with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the Vatican secretary of state. He also was visited by his brothers, Sen. Ludovico Montini and Dr. Francesco Montini, a heart specialist.

The Pope's progress since his operation aroused belief that he may be able to resume some of his usual activities sooner than expected.

There is talk in Vatican circles that the 70-year-old pontiff, whose prostate gland was removed Saturday, might be allowed to appear at his window briefly next Sunday or the one after to bless the noonday crowd in St. Peter's Square.

Immediately after the operation, Vatican sources said they did not expect the pontiff to give a Sunday blessing until Dec. 3, the first Sunday of Advent.

The new prediction was an indication of the optimism and relief over the outcome of the Pope's operation. "Thank God," the Christian Democratic party newspaper El Popolo wrote after a medical bulletin Sunday said the Pope's condition was "truly satisfactory."

The general tone of the communiqué as well as a television interview Saturday night by Dr. Pietro Valdoni, who headed the surgical team, was considered an indication that laboratory analysis had shown the condition of the Pope's prostate gland was not cancerous.

However, it was felt that the results of the laboratory tests may never be announced in line with Vatican custom since the death of Pope Pius XII.

The pontiff resumed taking food by mouth Sunday morning and was expected to be able to leave his bed for a few steps soon.

His temperature went down two-tenths of a point to normal, and the area operated on was said to be healing according to "the best expectations."

It was reported that his doctors may soon stop issuing daily communiqués as a sign that everything was going well. The Pope wants to avoid excessive publicity of what he feels is a private matter.

LBJ's Lady Bird Reviews 4 Years in White House

Editor's note: Nearing the completion of four years' residency in the White House, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson talks in the following interview about her husband, her children and her own life as the nation's First Lady.

BY FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson says the President has a reasoned, searching reaction to mounting criticism and "keeps his head high, his feet on the ground and goes on working the best he can."

"He doesn't want to be rigidly bound into one set of thinking," the First Lady said. "He's always trying to learn and explore."

Approaching the anniversary of four years in the White House, Mrs. Johnson said she has never lived so intensely. "Awareness of this house is like a shot of adrenalin—intensifying the desire to do the best you can to live up to what this country wants its first family to be."

The President's hair is whiter, he has more lines in his face. "It has taken a lot—it's been worth everything it takes," his wife said.

The family has "drawn closer together than we ever have been in our lives—there's just four of us in the same boat."

Asked whether she wants President Johnson to run again, Mrs. Johnson said: "I want him to do everything of useful work that he can for his country."

Mrs. Johnson is urging the President to relax at golf, and says she hopes someday he'll retire to Texas and teach young people about "the years of government that he has lived."

In the historic second-floor White House treaty room, Mrs. Johnson thoughtfully discussed the White House and her family. She recalled "a lot of things I've loved," like dining by candlelight on the Truman balcony with the President and their oldest daughter Lynda; running the family's dogs and wheeling her grandson's carriage on the south lawn; "spine-tingling moments" like seeing youngest daughter Luci's wedding gown stretched out across President Abraham Lincoln's massive bed; and "earnestly dramatic things" like the signing of the civil rights bill "with the lifetimes of hope and striving that went into it."

Here are Mrs. Johnson's responses to other questions:
Q. How do you feel about the forthcoming White House wedding of Lynda to Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb?
A. A heightened sense of excitement...and mostly a warm, happy expectancy that it will be just one of those great days to remember. Luci's was and it will always be one of the benchmarks, the great days in our life together. I hope this wedding will take its place as a dignified and well-loved occasion in this house.

Q. How do you feel about your future son-in-law going to Vietnam?
A. Like any mother or mother-in-law, I feel concerned and I'll be praying. But I'll always be very proud. I like that young man and I'm glad there are folks like him fighting for us.

Q. What did you think about the recent antiwar march on the Pentagon?
A. (Mrs. Johnson revealed she and the President drove around Washington after church on the weekend of the Pentagon march.) I was thinking, by gosh, what a big cleanup bill this city was going to face. It must be ankle deep in the trash they left...to some extent that demonstration was the fruits of affluence and permissive ness...It was about as unconstructive a work as I can remember seeing.

"I feel boiling up in me the feeling I think is shared by millions of Americans—that we've got to start having more respect for the law—that we must start more firmly enforcing the law."

"We will not knowingly be undersold."
